New York Bucks Through Ice

[illegible] at Little America in Five Days Unless Pack Solidifies

[illegible] Party Advised to be Ready for Departure; Cold Feared

BY RUSSELL OWEN

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—The City of New York is apparently through the main [illegible] pack, lying in the lee of the pack [illegible] a heavy gale. She is expected [illegible] Little America in five or six days if the weather improves and to [illegible] that everyone here is delighted [illegible] put it mildly. A blizzard is [illegible] here today and the temperature fell last night to 14 below [illegible].

[illegible] news that the New York was through the ice pack came unexpectedly this morning. It was [illegible] that she was coasting along [illegible] edge of the ice looking for an [illegible] but evidently the recent [illegible] storms had smashed the [illegible] much quicker than had been [illegible] possible by those who have [illegible] it this year. The first message to Admiral Byrd from the [illegible] said:

MESSAGE TO BYRD

"[illegible] are in the Ross Sea. Estimated position 8 a.m., latitude 69 [illegible] south, longitude 178 east. [illegible] in clear water. Severe south[illegible] gale of hurricane force heavy [illegible] and then passed latterly through [illegible] of new pancake ice varying [illegible] thickness up to six inches. [illegible] low thermometer and calm, [illegible] pack will become impassable. [illegible] strongly urge that base [illegible] prepared to leave on our [illegible] as any delay might prove [illegible]. With more favorable conditions [illegible] should arrive at Bay of [illegible] in five or six days."

[illegible] message said later: "We [illegible] pack in thirty-seven [illegible] and twenty minutes including [illegible] hove-to in pack. [illegible] was first twenty miles [illegible] where there was [illegible]. On leaving it we [illegible] leads where possible and [illegible] ice to push except lots [illegible], which looks dangerous, [illegible] if we get a cold snap [illegible] this hurricane. Glass now [illegible]. We went as far south as [illegible], but were forced to [illegible] because of tremendous [illegible] back in lee of [illegible]

[illegible] OBSTACLE

[illegible] messages indicate that the [illegible] of the last two weeks broke [illegible] heavy ice in the northern [illegible] of the pack so that the New [illegible] able to work her way [illegible], which she otherwise [illegible] been unable to buck. Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Remember in one dispatch I told you I had a red-hot tip that Mr. MacDonald might propose something pretty sweeping. Today he did it. He proposed to sink all our battleships and all France's submarines. Of course, he would sink theirs, too, now here is the BUT: they don't need the big ships; they don't have to go as far for their wars as we do. We have no naval bases. We have to go away off and fight all afternoon and then have enough sandwiches and gasoline to get back to Newport News on, while England's naval bases are as monotonous as speakeasies. He didn't offer to abolish light, fast cruisers, and France's submarines are her ace in the hole. But our delegation know all these things and we are still in safe hands.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Eaton's Acquisition of Tire Concern Sets Wall Street to Speculating

Cleveland Financier Only Recently Effected Giant Merger in Metal

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7. (AP)—Cyrus S. Eaton, Ohio's newest wizard of finance, dipped his hands into another of the country's greatest industries today, and with his associates in Otis & Co. took control of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. Less than a month ago he announced a $350,000,000 steel merger, forming the third largest steel group in the United States.

Now Wall street is asking, "What is Eaton's next move?" Reports said an important merger in the rubber industry is under consideration, but they were unconfirmed.

Cyrus S. Eaton is a soft-voiced, unostentatious worker in finance, and is just past 46 years of age. He was born in Nova Scotia and came to the United States in 1900. The next seven years of his life were

RIVER GROUP TO RECESS

Donovan to Go East Tomorrow

California Assured of Fair Deal on Boulder Power in Arizona Statement

Bullock and Heffner Strive to Maintain Negotiations on "Trading" Basis

PHOENIX, Feb. 7. (AP)—After having been in executive session for more than four hours, the California Colorado River Commission adjourned shortly before midnight tonight. During the last two hours of the session the Los Angeles Metropolitan Water District and Imperial Valley Irrigation District representatives were present. Col. William J. Donovan, chairman of the tri-State conference was called in during the last few minutes.

No one attending the meeting would disclose the subject under discussion.

The general tri-State conference, Chairman Donovan said, will be resumed tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when announcement will be made as to whether the conference will be adjourned, recessed or continued.

BY CHESTER G. HANSON
"Times" Staff Correspondent

PHOENIX, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Assurance that when the time comes she will deal fairly with California on the question of Boulder Dam power was given by Arizona today as the tri-State Colorado River conference appeared to be on the verge of taking another recess.

Although there has been no official announcement of a contemplated recess, it is known that Col. W. J. Donovan, chairman of the conference and government mediator between the States, must leave for Boston Sunday morning. There is also a realization that the present session of the conference has brought about a feeling of willingness and desire on the part of California and Arizona to "trade" further.

CALIFORNIA'S MOVE

Just what the next step is, each State having rejected a proposal of the other, is a matter of some conjecture. The general feeling is that it is California's move. The situation might be described as "delicate" with all parties anxious to do the right thing.

It also is certain that from the California point of view the presence of such men as John G. Bullock and H. E. Heffner with Chairman Whitsett of the Metropolitan Water District is calculated to prevent a breaking off of negotiations if it can possibly be done. Mr. Bullock has been active in urging the exertion of every effort before the conference be permitted to fail. He has the viewpoint of the big business man who sees the urgency of the water question for Los Angeles and other cities of Southern California. There is the thought that rather than crowd things to a crisis more might be gained by moving cautiously. Hence, a recess now might be desirable.

CONTROVERSY EXPECTED

The Arizona commission's act today in expressing herself on power is expected to stir up again something of a controversy within the ranks of the California delegation. The statement from Arizona that she believes that any agreement between the States shall be binding upon the Secretary of the Interior when approved by Congress is not be seized upon by the Imperial Valley interests as an opportunity to crowd the Metropolitan Water District on its power demands, according to some observers here. In other words, the farmers are going to ask the city to say what its position is going to be on power.

The power question got its first inning today at the conference when it was discussed by Commissioners Ray of Utah and Wilson of New Mexico. Both men addressed an open session this morning and in prepared statements set forth the views of their States on the power matter. In sum and substance they want their States to get their share of the power of

TAFT SHOWS MARKED GAIN

Possibility of His Being Able to Get Up Again Later Discerned by Doctors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—A marked and continuing improvement in the condition of William Howard Taft was noted this evening by his physicians.

"He had a very comfortable day, and is showing encouraging improvement," said a bulletin signed by Drs. Francis Hagner and Thomas A. Claytor, issued at 7 p.m.

"It begins to look as though he might get up and about again after a while," Dr. Claytor added informally.

Dr. Hagner said the former Chief Justice is "very much better tonight, and in fact, much better than at any time since he returned."

He advised, however, against placing too optimistic a construction on Mr. Taft's progress toward recovery, noting that his ailment is extremely serious.

Mr. Taft was cheered today by the arrival of his brother, Horace D. Taft of Watertown, Ct., with whom he was able to exchange a few words.

Almost simultaneously with the encouraging reports of the physicians, the House expressed a "hope and a prayer" that the distinguished jurist soon will be restored to health. Offered by Representative Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, the resolution expressed regret over the illness.

Meanwhile official and unofficial Washington, along with the remainder of the country, continued to await anxiously reports from the bedside. President Hoover has been among the few callers admitted to see the patient and is keeping in close touch with Mr. Taft's condition.

The number of visitors to the Taft household, who were many for the first few days after his return from the South, had dwindled today to a casual few. Several of the older friends of the household went by, however, to pay their respects; a few took flowers.

Mrs. Taft, as she has done every day since her return, left the house for a drive during the morning.

AVIATION GOES COLOR MAD

Brilliant Hues Mark Second New York Show, With All Kinds of Craft Shown

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The aviation business has gone color crazy. That is the outstanding impression to be gained from a view of the forty-two planes ranged in Grand Central Palace for the Second Annual New York Aviation Show which opened today.

Green and black, orange and black, scarlet and gray, colors that even a psittacosis-free parrot would envy, have been splashed on the wings and fuselage of the modern commercial airplane, from one-seater sport planes to giant transport craft.

The popularity of gliders also is reflected in the show with four of the strange-appearing all wooden ships on exhibit. Among them is a replica of the one which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is using in his experiments in the California mountains.

The smallest ship in the show is a low-wing monoplane made by the Szekely Aircraft Company of Holland, Mich., and named the Flying Dutchman. It weighs only 835 pounds and carries only one passenger.

The largest plane is a giant all-metal monoplane, powered with two 600-horsepower motors and built to carry twenty-four passengers. It is an Uppercu-Burnelli, manufactured by the company of that name at Keyport, N. J., and holds the premier position in the show in the center of the first floor.

The most striking plane in the show is one on the second floor, a "twentieth-century" monoplane, painted scarlet and black. From above it gives all the appearance of being a giant scarlet tanager in full flight.

The show is under the auspices of Aviators' Post, No. 743, American Legion, an organization of World War flyers numbering among its members most of the famous aviators of a decade ago. The show will continue until next Thursday night.

BRAZILIAN OFFICIAL WOUNDED

Vice-President Vianna Shot and Three Killed in Election Riot

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Vice-President Mello Vianna of Brazil was wounded three times and several persons were killed today in the course of a political dispute arising from the Presidential election campaign in the State of Minas Geraes.

The Vice-President was shot in the neck and in the head, but his three wounds were considered not to be serious. It was reported that five persons had been killed and fifteen wounded in the fight, which occurred at Montes Claros, where the Vice-President had just arrived at the head of a Conservative delegation to launch the Presidential campaign of the Conservative candidate, Juliu Prestes.

Minas Geraes is the stronghold of the opposition party, whose candidate is Getulio Vargas, and there has been frequent talk of Federal intervention in the State's administration during the past few weeks.

Rafael Flery, the Vice-President's secretary, was reported to be among the dead, and Moafyr Bolabella, a well-known engineer and sportsman of Rio Janeiro, seriously wounded.

FOX FACES ACTIONS ON CONTRACTS

Breach of Agreement to Use Film Device Laid to Picture Magnate

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Two more law suits charging breach of contract have been brought against William Fox, president of the Fox Film Corporation, it was revealed today.

Plaintiffs in the actions, which are pending in the State Supreme Court, are the Sentry Safety Control Corporation of Philadelphia, which claims $1,200,000, and Joseph E. Cohen, head of that company, who asks $300,000.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs said the corporation's suit was based on an asserted agreement which Fox made personally to install in the 900 or more theaters of the Fox Corporation a safety device to keep film from igniting or exploding in the projector. In return Fox was to receive a substantial block of stock in the safety device company and an option on additional shares.

The attorneys said Fox received the stock, exercised the option, sold all of it and then repudiated his agreement to install the apparatus. They asserted it had been placed in only thirty of the Fox theaters.

The second suit is for losses assertedly suffered by Cohen through Fox's sale of stock. The suits came to light when Fox's attorneys filed motions to force the plaintiffs, as nonresidents, to post bonds to cover the costs of the actions.

SWEEPING NAVAL SLASHES DEMANDED BY BRITISH

MacDonald's Statement Advocates Abolition of Submarine and Longer Battleship Holiday

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald of England today laid his cards on the London naval conference table beside the spectacular hand that Secretary Stimson of the United States delegation uncovered last night.

Their similarity shows that Great Britain and the United States, the world's greatest naval powers, are in closer accord on the age-old question of sea armaments than ever before.

Mr. MacDonald's full statement, with facts and figures on Britain's policy at the London conference, backed by full authority of the dominion delegations and approved by the British Cabinet, was as unexpected as was Mr. Stimson's outline of American policy last night.

ABOLISH SUBMARINE

It definitely proposes the abolition of the submarine; a battleship holiday until 1936, with the ultimate hope that battleships may be ruled off the seas like submarines; tonnage limitation for small cruisers; combination global and category limitation to maintain equilibrium between the fleets of the various nations, also further limitation of tonnage and gun caliber for aircraft carriers of the United States and Great Britain from 135,000 tons to 100,000 tons, with the maximum size of these ships reduced to 25,000 tons each.

The proposals regarding aircraft carriers provide the only clash of British and American policy except for very minor matters which spokesmen say can be easily adjusted.

END COMPETITION

Mr. MacDonald's statement combined cold facts with the emotional appeal that the London conference "ought not only reduce existing fleets and building programs, but put an end finally to competition in naval armaments and thus constitute an important step for ultimate elimination of the causes of war and the establishment of peace on an unassailable foundation."

While the Stimson and MacDonald declarations have clarified the atmosphere of the London conference, one outstanding point of difference in the two national viewpoints—that is, on the question of aircraft carriers—is attracting considerable attention, the American delegation said tonight.

The difference of opinion exists between Mr. Stimson's diplomatic advisers and his technical naval advisers, the latter objecting to the reduction from the 135,000 tons allowed the United States by the Washington treaty.

ALLOTMENT CONSUMED

The naval experts have laid before the American delegates an extensive and complete case for the maintenance of an aircraft tonnage of 135,000, declaring this category of ships largely experimental and saying that a large percentage of the American allotment had been consumed by the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga.

The experts argued for retention of the present level by citing that Great Britain has fifty merchant ships suitable for conversion into aircraft carriers, while the United States has fourteen and Japan the same number.

Hence it is their view that the British proposal would give Great Britain a material advantage over the United States if reduction were made to 100,000 tons. The experts declare that Britain has used only 45,000 tons of her allotment, leaving 55,000 tons.

BRITISH SUPERIORITY

The American experts figure that Britain thus would have superiority of 32 per cent in the aircraft carrier category, since the United States, possessing the Lexington and the Saratoga, would have only 34,000 tons for new construction under the reduction proposal.

While Britain and the United States held the conference stage with their declarations of policy, other conference work proceeded today along routine lines with the third week-end lull at hand. The Japanese withheld official comment on both British and American statements. The Italians expressed satisfaction with both declarations as hastening the work of the conference and getting down to figures. Only the French seemed dissatisfied, with Premier Tardieu reported displeased both as to contents and method of the British and American announcement.

Premier Tardieu left for Paris today to attend accumulating governmental tasks. Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Stimson will spend the week-end at Chequers and Stanmore, respectively, with Hugh Gib-

GOLD STRIKE CONFIRMED

Rush to Alaska Town Begins

Fairbanks Gets Authentic Word on Rich Find Via Airplane

Ruby Area Converted Into Booming Mining Community

FAIRBANKS (Alaska) Feb. 7. (AP)—Confirmation of a rich gold strike in the Ruby district between Fairbanks and Nome reached here today by airplane.

The strike was made on the Poorman, Wolfe and Beaver Creek watersheds and is reported especially rich on Beaver Creek, where it is said the ground runs as high as $6 a foot and $1.20 to the pan.

Preliminary surveys indicate that the pay streak on Beaver Creek is at least sixty feet wide, it is said, and that it extends for a mile. Quiet prospecting has been going on in the area since last December and the more favorable locations on Beaver, Wolfe and adjacent creeks were staked by the discoverers before the news penetrated to the outside. Ten of those first on the ground staked out claims of forty acres each before the general influx of miners began from adjacent territory.

The discovery on Wolfe Creek was made by a miner of that name, while Tom Gallagher, another prospector, made the discovery on Beaver Creek.

Beaver Creek, which is about eight miles long, empties into Diamond Creek, which in turn flows into Poorman Creek about eight miles below the town of Poorman and four miles above the mouth of Wolfe Creek, which is also a tributary of Poorman.

Rumors of the Ruby gold strike have been current for several days but authentic reports did not reach here until today. The town of Ruby has been converted into a booming mining center by the strike.

Fascist League Declared to be Reorganizing

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune tomorrow will say the Fascist League of North America, Mussolini's organization of black shirts in this country, which was formally disbanded on December 31, last, is being reorganized.

The new Fascist group is called Grande Federazione del Littorio—Great Federation of the Lictor. Its organization is under the direction of Domenico Trombetta, a former member of the central council of the Fascist League of North America. Most of his followers are said to be in the densely populated New England and Middle-western States.

The Herald-Tribune will quote Trombetta as denying that the reorganization was undertaken under direction of Mussolini.

LIQUOR BUYER INDICTED

Massachusetts Federal Grand Jury Opens Test Case to Define Purchaser's Rights Under Law

BOSTON, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—The Federal grand jury sitting in Boston today indicted a man for purchasing a pint of liquor.

It was the first indictment of a purchaser to be returned in Massachusetts in ten years of prohibition. The United States Attorney's office regards it as a test case and if it is successfully prosecuted other buyers of small quantities and patrons of bootleggers and speakeasies will be prosecuted as the evidence warrants.

James E. Farrar, 31 years of age, of Cross street, Watertown, is the victim of the zeal of the enforcement officers. He was indicted for "unlawfully and knowingly purchasing" from Frank Rotenda of Medford two pints of liquor for beverage purposes "in violation of Sec. 6, Title 2, of the national prohibition act."

This section, according to United States Attorney Stone, who is in charge of prosecution of liquor violations and who submitted the evidence in the Farrar case to the grand jury, provides as follows:

"No one shall manufacture, sell, purchase, transport or prescribe any liquor without first obtaining a permit from the commissioner so to do except that a person may, without a permit, purchase and use liquor for medicinal purposes when prescribed by a physician as herein provided."

The local Federal office believes that the responsibility of the purchaser is clearly set forth in the above section and will test its be-

NAVY PARITY PLANS HIT

Stimson Project Rapped by Hale

Maine Senator Asserts Needs of America on Cruisers Not Provided For

He Predicts Any Pact Along Secretary's Line Will be Hard to Ratify

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The administration's proposal for naval parity with Great Britain as set forth in a statement at London by Secretary Stimson was vigorously assailed today by Chairman Hale of the Senate Naval Committee.

This was the first public statement here on the merits of the Stimson proposal. Coming as it did from the head of the big navy group in the Senate, which put through the fifteen-cruiser bill a year ago, it resounded around the capital.

CRUISER SECTION HIT

The Maine Senator confined his attack to the cruiser section of the Stimson suggestions, asserting that this "manifestly does not provide for our American naval needs." He predicted that should a treaty be negotiated along the lines set forth by the American Secretary of State, "the whole matter will be thoroughly threshed out on the floor of the Senate and its committees before final action is taken on ratification."

The Senator's statement follows:

"The Stimson offer involves very radical changes in the position heretofore taken by the Navy Department and the United States government that our further cruiser demands call for vessels of the maximum tonnage and armament allowed under the Washington treaty.

NEEDS NOT FILLED

"If our policy has been the correct one in the past, and if nothing has occurred to change the wisdom of that policy, then the Stimson offer, which contemplates the building of at least eleven six-inch-gun cruisers at an additional cost over the fifteen-cruiser program of at least $58,000,000, while giving us substantial parity in the types of ships allowed manifestly does not provide for our American naval needs.

"Should a treaty be negotiated along the lines of the Stimson offer, or indeed should any treaty be negotiated the whole matter will be fully threshed out on the floor of the Senate and its committees before final action is taken on ratification.

HOPES FOR PARITY

"I realize fully the difficulties that confront the American delegation in London. I have hoped and still hope that an agreement may be reached that will give us the parity that our country demands and at the same time will recognize our American needs."

The Stimson statement coupled with that today by Prime Minister MacDonald was regarded in official circles here as having pointed the way to acceleration of the work of the London conference. In some high quarters it was said the statements clearly showed that the United States and Great Britain are in agreement on the main questions with which the conference is dealing. Opinions were expressed that this of itself would spur the other delegations to renewed effort in reaching an accord.

GREAT SAVING

Reduction of the American and British battleship fleets to fifteen ships each within eighteen months after the ratification of the London treaty would mean a great saving for both nations during the next six years as Great Britain would decommission five ships and the United States three.

Immediate parity between the navies of the two countries, however, is impossible, as the American cruiser fleet is much inferior in numbers to that of the British. Under the arrangement suggested by Secretary Stimson, the United States would have to build a total of twenty cruisers—ten of 10,000 tons each and ten of 7000 tons each.

METHODS IMPROVED

It now has ten 7000-ton ships and one 10,000-ton ship in commission, with seven other 10,000-ton craft nearing completion.

American naval experts are not inclined to look with favor at this time on a 25,000-ton battleship in place of the present 35,000-ton craft, but advances made in electric welding processes and in other arts connected with the construction of capital ships might well make it possible for the United States to turn to the smaller craft after five years, in the event that there ever is any replacement of battleships.

Young Slayer Resentenced

PLACERVILLE, Feb. 7. (AP)—Superior Judge Thompson today resentenced Joseph Troche, 23 years of age, to die on the gallows April 18 for the murder of his sweetheart, Mae Lorenz, on a lonely El Dorado county road Thanksgiving Eve of 1927. He will be hanged at San Quentin.

Troche was the first to be tried under the new California insanity law. All appeals failed, the United States Supreme Court recently having upheld Judge Thompson's decision.

The court today denied a motion by Troche's attorney for a new trial.

sop and Senator Reed being the Secretary's guests.

Mr. MacDonald will entertain thirty naval experts from all delegations at Chequers tomorrow.

A two-hour session of subcommittee experts this morning produced agreement to recommend to the conference a definite method of limiting fleet tonnage.

It is described as a compromise between the original French proposal, which suggested that each power should be free to apportion tonnage to each category, and the British proposal, which suggested that category tonnage should be apportioned on an agreed basis.

Italy maintains her usual reservation as to the need for predetermination of tonnage ratios and total tonnage figures for each country.

LID CLAMPED ON NEWS

The lid was clamped on news sources temporarily at the headquarters of the American delegation this afternoon.

Col. Stimson issued a general order pointing out that he had indicated in his statement yesterday that he had said all he had to say at the moment. He urged his advisers to a similar course and as a result silence reigned in the press headquarters at the Ritz Hotel.

The British, following Prime Minister MacDonald's statement, canceled their usual afternoon press conference, thus giving the impression the British are not inclined to talk.

It seemed that the Americans and British, having made concise and comprehensive proposals, intend to sit tight for a bit and see what the reaction is.

AMERICAN PROPOSAL SPURS INTEREST OF TOKIO

TOKIO, Feb. 7. (AP)—American proposals, characterized authoritatively here as "drastic and far reaching" and proposing definite limitations in all naval categories, electrified today Tokio's hitherto lagging interest in the London naval conference.

While officials refused to divulge details of the American proposals which it was known that Senator Reed handed personally to Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation Wednesday, or to comment upon them. The belief was general in authoritative circles that the conference has definitely emerged from earlier confusions and entered a new phase in grips with realities.

REPORT CONSIDERED

The Cabinet meeting today was understood to have been given over largely to Foreign Minister Shidehara's report of London developments, especially the American proposals. Simultaneously the highest naval officers remaining in Tokio went into a session with the Navy Ministry and discussed the proposals.

Official spokesmen refused to state whether the government's first reactions were favorable or unfavorable, but admittedly the proposals represent progress as furnishing a definite basis for discussion. Furthermore, it was stated, they represent American concessions from the position taken during the Japanese-American conversations in Washington in December. Although upon what points was not indicated.

SCRAPPING PROPOSED

The Associated Press learned from unimpeachable sources that the American proposal respecting capital ships suggested the immediate scrapping of those due for replacement in 1934. These are one Japanese battle cruiser, the Kongo; three American ships, the Utah, Florida and Arkansas, and five British vessels, the Iron Duke, Tiger, Marlborough, Benbow and Emperor of India. The numbers of capital ships then would be nine, fifteen and fifteen.

Naval spokesmen in talking to newspaper men, stressed the Kongo's superiority over the others which it was proposed to scrap. While admitting that the plan would raise Japan's ratio of capital ships two points as compared with America, emphasized that Japan would lose a fast battle cruiser carrying fourteen-inch guns, while America would lose only older battleships with twelve-inch guns and Great Britain only ships carrying thirteen-and-a-half-inch guns.

Authoritative civilian opinion, however, discounts naval contentions, and the general disposition favors acceptance of the American proposals.

new ice, however, would form a real obstacle if it consolidated, something which the New York could not get through and it is hoped that the recent low temperatures which are the cause of it are abnormal for this time of year and will not continue.

There is also the possibility that there is some pack south of the New York, which she has not yet encountered although this does not seem probable in view of her position. The fact that the ship seems to be through the ice is sufficient for us today.

TEXT OF BRITISH PLANS FOR NAVAL REDUCTIONS

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The officially declared policy of the British government for the London conference as agreed to by the British dominions and the government of the United Kingdom was issued by Prime Minister MacDonald this afternoon. It features the ultimate abolition of battleships and submarines and the limitation of cruisers and other categories.

The text of the statement, which presents the British viewpoint, just as Secretary Stimson's statement yesterday presented the American, follows:

"His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom considers the naval conference of supreme importance. It believes the conference ought not only to reduce existing fleets and building programs but put an end finally to competition in naval armaments and thus constitute an important step toward the ultimate elimination of the causes of war and toward establishment of peace on an unassailable foundation.

POLICY STATED

"The policy of His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom is to keep the highway of the seas open for trade and communication and, in relation to the political state of the world, to take what steps are necessary to secure this. In estimating its naval needs the government has also to take into account its obligations under the covenant of the League of Nations; partly offset though they are by the security afforded under the covenant by its provision of mutual support.

"There are also other commitments which have to be fulfilled in relation to the present state of the world. In deciding what these commitments amount to in terms of naval strength the government has to estimate the chances of war breaking out, because, unless this is done, fleets will be built which will never be of any use; will threaten rather than protect, and will at best be a waste of national resource.

AGREEMENT NEEDED

"The government feels that if naval establishments are not to be a menace an equilibrium must be maintained between them by means of international agreement. It feels, moreover, that this equilibrium will not be secured by mere numerical equality in ships and tonnage, but only by adoption of agreed programs based on considerations of requirements affecting dispersions, et cetera, and in which the menace will be reduced as much as possible.

"This cannot be done by any general formula or ratio. It must be the subject of conferences such as this and of agreements made for periods at the end of which they should be reviewed and during which governments should be engaged in strengthening the foundations of peace.

"It is therefore proposed that the general agreement resulting from this conference should run until 1936 and that in 1935 a further conference should be called to review the situation in relation to world relations.

DEFINITE PROPOSALS

"In view of these considerations, His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom suggests the following proposals for the conference:

"The agreement should not be upon global tonnage but upon the size of individual ships in the various categories and upon the tonnage used by each nation in each of these categories.

"The categories should be capital ships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

"An agreement by categories is necessary in order to obtain elimination of competitive building and the maintenance of equilibrium between fleet and fleet. These two points are essential if security is to be obtained. It is not only the total tonnage of a fleet which counts, but the use to which these tons are put, and an agreement on the latter point is called for.

PERCENTAGE FACTOR

"At some time it might be convenient to allow a percentage of tonnage assigned to different categories to be transferred to other categories. The British government, however, does not favor a general transfer. It is opposed to transfer in regards to capital ships, aircraft and submarines. In regards to cruisers, it would permit the transfer out of the 8-inch class into the 6-inch class on a percentage which remains to be arranged. The object of this arrangement would be to take into account the special needs of countries which require a large proportion of small cruisers.

"The government proposes that the number of capital ships for each signatory affixed by the Washington treaty should be reached within eighteen months of ratification of the treaty resulting from this conference instead of by 1936. It proposes that no replacement of existing ships should take place before the next conference in 1935 and that in the meantime the whole question of capital ships should be the subject of negotiation between the powers concerned.

WHAT IT FAVORS

"The government will press for reduction though, of course, without disturbing the Washington equilibrium. Its experts favor a reduction in size from 35,000 tons to 25,000 tons and of guns from sixteen inches to twelve inches. The government also favors a lengthening of age from 20 to 26 years.

"The government hopes that there will be an exchange of views on this subject during the conference. Indeed, it would wish to see an agreement by which battleships will in due time disappear altogether as it considers them a very doubtful proposition in view of their size and cost and of the development of efficacy of air and submarine attack.

"The government would further limit the tonnage and gun caliber of aircraft carriers and suggests that ships of 10,000 tons and under should be included in the total tonnage of this category if used as aircraft carriers.

"It proposes a reduction of total aircraft tonnage for the British and United States navies from 135,000 tons under the Washington treaty to (say) 100,000 tons and an adjustment of that assigned to other nations in the Washington treaties ratios. It further proposes that the maximum size of aircraft carriers should be reduced to 25,000 tons and that their age should be 26 years instead of 20.

CRUISER QUESTION

"It was assumed during the recent conversation between the governments of the United States and Great Britain that cruisers should be grouped in one category, which in turn should be divided into cruisers carrying eight-inch guns and cruisers carrying six-inch guns and under. It was also assumed during the negotiations that the requirements of the British commonwealth would consist of a total tonnage of 339,000 tons divided into fifty cruisers.

"A final arrangement will be governed by the decision of the conference regarding limitation in the size of units. The British government proposes that the tonnage limit of eight-inch cruisers should remain at 10,000 tons as provided for in the Washington treaty and that there should be a tonnage limit for smaller vessels at about 6000 or 7000 tons. It suggests that only a fixed proportion in the latter class should be built up to that limit and that the life of cruisers should be twenty years.

"In regard to destroyers it is proposed that the limit assigned should be, for leaders 1850 tons, and for destroyers 1500 tons. The maximum size of guns for both classes of destroyers should be five inches. The present British building program of destroyers is for 2000 tons ultimately, but this can be reduced if the submarine programs of other powers are reduced, for it is obvious that the size and total tonnage of destroyers must largely depend upon the size and total tonnage of submarines.

SUBMARINE BAN URGED

"The government proposes the abolition of submarines. Its experts feel that the argument that the submarine is an arm solely of defense was destroyed by the experience of the late war, and that in war conditions it is an arm of attack. If abolition cannot be agreed upon, the British government will put forward proposals limiting submarines rigidly to defense requirements.

"In any case, it will press for limitation of the submarine to the lowest possible limit, and it proposes to urge revival of the agreement signed at Washington in 1922, but not ratified by all the signatory powers, which would regulate in the interests of humanity the use of submarines against merchant ships.

"In regard to auxiliary vessels not strictly entering into fleet strength the government proposes that they should be specified and that each government should publish yearly lists of vessels of this class in commission as laid down."

NEAR-PANIC AS COTTON TAKES DROP

Prices of Futures Fall to Season's Lowest Levels on New York Exchange

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Near-demoralization reigned on the New York Cotton Exchange today as the price of cotton futures tumbled $3 to $3.50 a bale, sinking to the lowest levels of the season. Since mid-January, when the present depression period began, cotton has declined about $12 a bale.

There was a slight show of stability at the start of the market today, attributed to steady foreign markets, but this did not last long.

There were no new bearish developments to account for the outburst of selling, and the prevailing impression was that the market was feeling the effects of factors which had been apparent since last fall, but which had not dislodged any great quantities of cotton, as holders evidently felt that the market would be sustained by the Federal Farm Board.

Recent developments, however, apparently had completely undermined confidence and cotton came out in large volume. The demand from spinners was less active, indicating they had sufficient supplies for some time.

Cotton for March delivery sold down to 15.05 cents a pound, compared with 15.65 cents yesterday.

Col. NINE SUSPECTS HELD IN MEXICO

Wound Healing, He Thanks World for Sympathy

New and Outgoing Mayors Killed by Assassin

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 7. (AP)—Nine persons, including Daniel Flores and two brothers, are under arrest in connection with the attempted assassination of President Ortiz Rubio Wednesday.

Earlier reports weer that nearly a score were held, and it is not known whether some were released when found not implicated. Flores, who fired the shots that wounded Ortiz Rubio and grazed his wife and niece, is in prison here, while his brothers are held in San Luis Potosi.

PUBLIC STATEMENT

Police say that Flores remains somewhat of an enigma. Little information can be obtained from him except that he insists he acted independently in the shooting. Agents now are at Charcas, his home, endeavoring to learn his affiliations.

A public statement from Senor Ortiz Rubio today said he hopes to take up his duties soon. Talking through Gen. Augustin Mora, the President said the wound in his jaw is healing. He asked newspaper men to express his deep appreciation for the sympathy shown him from over the world.

WOUNDS HEALING

The two brothers of Flores and several other persons arrested in San Luis Potosi are being brought to Mexico City under heavy guard for questioning.

Besides Flores, Senorita Guillermina Ruiz, former secretary of the Vasconcelist women's committee, has been held here.

The condition of President Ortiz Rubio is reported to be good tonight.

President Ortiz Rubio in his statement announced today he hopes to take up his duties within a short time.

NEW AND OUTGOING MAYORS SHOT TO DEATH

TAMPICO (Mex.) Feb. 7. (AP)—Both the incoming and outgoing Mayors of the town of Villa Altamira, near here, were assassinated Wednesday night as they celebrated inauguration of the new municipal government.

The two men were at a party given in their honor and in honor of the newly elected beauty queen for a forthcoming carnival when an unidentified man in the party opened fire with a pistol, shooting both.

The assassin escaped and the Mayors were brought toward Tampico in an automobile, the outgoing Mayor, Martin Martinez, dying en route. The incoming Mayor, Ciro Rodriguez, died soon after reaching this city.

Troops were held in their barracks here throughout yesterday as a precautionary measure consequent to public excitement after the attempt against the life of President Ortiz Rubio. There were no disturbances.

Women adherents of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated Presidential candidate, stood as a guard of honor, all Wednesday, the day of President Ortiz Rubio's inauguration, at the tomb of Aurelio Celis, Vasconcelista, who was assassinated in Tampico during the last Presidential campaign.

STEEL WIZARD DIPS IN RUBBER

somewhat obscure, but in 1907 he arrived here and plunged at once into the field of public utilities. Within a short time he built up holdings in the Middle West representing $2,000,000,000 capital.

In 1925 Eaton stepped into the steel industry and astonished many of its leaders by the calm announcement that he had $18,000,000 at his command to aid the Trumbull Steel Company, then in difficulty. The deal for its relief was consummated quickly.

MERGER WORKED OUT

Soon afterward the Clevelander acquired control of United Alloy Steel at Canton, and Central Alloy at Massillon. Then he bought quietly into the Republic Iron and Steel Company at Youngstown, and cautiously worked out his plans for merger. When announced last month his gigantic deal included the Republic, Central, Donner, Interstate, Witherow and Bourne-Fuller companies.

Eaton, a fair-complexioned, blue-eyed man, who smiles his friendliness and speaks softly, has been a prominent figure in Cleveland's development, and has been generous in several philanthropies. His wife formerly was Margaret House of Cleveland. They were married in 1907 and have eight children.

SPECULATION CAUSED

The entrance of the Eaton interests in the rubber industry through acquisition of the largest manufacturer in the world caused wide speculation in Wall street as to their plans. That an important merger is under consideration is rumored but this lacks confirmation. Otis & Co. as yet has no direct representative on the board of directors of Goodyear, but it is expected that changes in the directorate may be suggested at the directors' meeting in Akron, O., Monday and be taken up by the stockholders at their annual meeting in March.

In addition to the Eaton group, other large stockholders in Goodyear are Edgar B. Davis and F. A. Seiberling. Mr. Seiberling was formerly president of Goodyear. Dillon, Read & Co., New York investment bankers, were dominant factors in Goodyear from the time of reorganization in 1921 to dissolution of the voting trust in 1927. Since 1927 Dillon, Read has been withdrawing from active interest in the management.

Wall street understands that the new interests in Goodyear will seek to amalgamate with it several of the smaller rubber manufacturing companies. As they have consolidated smaller steel companies with republic. The Seiberling Rubber Company is mentioned among the smaller companies believed to be involved.

GAMALIEL BRADFORD thus characterizes the work of Charles Darwin. Certainly he has affected the thinking of the world more profoundly than any other man of modern times. The theory of evolution is a permanent part of our mental equipment. Dr. Osborn's announcement that man does not trace his ancestry through the apes leaves the theory of evolution unscathed.

Darwin was born February 12th. You are invited to attend a service in celebration of his great contribution to the advancement of man, at the First Unitarian Church, West 8th Street, just east of Vermont, Sunday at 10:30 A.M. E. Burdette Backus will speak on "Charles Darwin." Music by double quartet from the A Cappella Choir of U.C.L.A.

COAL MINE DEAD BROUGHT TO TOP

Twenty Bodies Recovered in Utah Explosion

Five Miners Rescued Alive Walled Off Gas

Four Escape Death Trap at Time of Blast

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 7. (AP)—Twenty identified dead is the definitely established toll tonight of the mine gas explosion which swept the workings of the Standard Coal Company's mine at Standardville, Utah, in the heart of Carbon county's mining district.

Nine others of the twenty-nine men who were at work when the unexplained explosion occurred last night fled for their lives or else were rescued by the crews which swarmed to the scene early today from a number of near-by mining communities.

SKILL SAVES LIVES

Of the latter, five were rescued alive today and the other four escaped last night. The five taken out today had bratticed themselves from the deadly gas fumes far back in the workings and had left notes directing their rescuers where to find them. Two of the rescued, M. H. Clelland and B. A. Johnson, are in a hospital suffering from the effects of the gas but are expected to recover.

The explanation of the explosion advanced by members of mine rescue crews is that a pocket of carbon monoxide gas became ignited by spontaneous combustion. The mine was considered one of the safest in the district and last night's disaster was the first major accident it had suffered. Inspected last night by the fire boss and only recently by the State mine inspector, nothing to indicate any danger to its workers was found on either trip.

FORMER TRAGEDY

The bodies of the dead were removed today to the undertaking establishment in Price, Utah, where in 1924 a similar tragic company was assembled after the explosion in the Castle Gate mine. On that occasion there were 123 of them, constituting the heaviest toll of a mine accident in the State since 1900.

Many of the dead in last night's disaster were married men with large families. With the stoicism characteristic of the womenfolk of men who go down into the earth to win their livelihood they exhibited few signs of hysteria today. They received from the mining company all available information concerning their loved ones and bore their bereavement heroically for the most part.

BROTHER GIVES LIFE

One feature of the pitiable tragedy stood out today with peculiar vividness. That was the realization, with the discovery of Frank Pritchett among the little company who erected a barricade against the deadly mine gas, that his brother, T. E. Pritchett, had sacrificed his own life in a useless effort to find him among the menacing fumes. T. E. Pritchett was among the fortunate few who escaped last night from the workings. He turned his back on life for himself that he might seek his brother. He was among the dead discovered in the mine today.

A. Doherty, pump boss, might also have been in that number had it not been for a friendly pool of water. Rescuers came across Doherty, who, overcome by the fumes, had fallen face downward, but they were prevented by the gas from approaching him. When they reached him later they found the water had protected his life from the fumes.

TOLL OF DEAD

The identified dead recovered from the mine are:

Grover B. Duke, A. Duke, son of Grover; E. F. Reichert, William Watson, Angus Barney, C. Smith, R. E. Springer, J. L. Jensen, Roy Briggs, T. E. Pritchett, Udell Fowles, John Frederico, G. Frederico, M. Bruno, W. Ishizue, Santiago Barra.

Identified dead not removed from the mine:

C. H. Brady, Frank James, Tobe Wimber.

Escaped or rescued from mine alive:

B. A. Johnson, V. E. Olsen, Clawson Elliott, J. F. Pritchett, William McGuire, Leon Yamus, M. H. Clelland, Andy Doherty, Gerald Menatchie and Rudy Monol.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 7. Miss Moran was discovered lying across street-car tracks on Santa Clara street, her clothing badly torn and her shoes and vanity case scattered about her. At the hospital it was found she has a fractured skull, lacerations, and possible internal injuries.

Daughter of Senator Hawes Said to Have Been Offered Opportunity in Hollywood

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Miss Eppes Hawes, debutante daughter of Senator and Mrs. Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, and one of the leaders of the younger social set in official Washington, may soon be in Hollywood to try her luck in motion pictures.

It was learned today that Louis B. Mayer, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, met Miss Hawes at a social function here a few nights ago and was so struck with her beauty and personality that he offered her a contract with his company.

Miss Hawes admitted tonight she had "talked the matter over" with the noted producer, but indicated she took the whole thing rather lightly. "I am not at all sure I would make good in the films," she said, "but first of all I am quite certain that daddy would not let me make a try at it."

Her Senator "daddy" is now in New York.

She said, however, that she is "interested"—very—and "just loves Southern California."

Miss Hawes "came out" a season or two ago and since then has spent much of her time roaming over Europe. Her engagement to a titled foreigner was rumored last summer but apparently nothing has come of it. When she is in Washington, as she is at present for the winter season, she is at the front in all affairs for the junior social crowd that whirls about the fashionable hotels, the embassies and the salons of the political and social prominents. She is especially popular in the diplomatic set.

PILGRIMAGE INVITATIONS LIST DRAWN

Gold Star Mothers from Nebraska Will be First to Receive Official Bids

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Gold-star mothers from Nebraska will receive the first invitations from the government to make a pilgrimage to the grave of their loved ones in France as a result of that State's name being the first drawn today by Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

In order that the invitations should be extended without favor, the War Department asked Mrs. Hoover to draw the names of the States from a container.

The ceremony took place in the Red Room of the White House this afternoon in the presence of Gen. Pershing, Maj.-Gen. Wells, representing Gen. Summerall, chief of staff; Maj.-Gen. B. F. Cheatham, who will be in charge of the trip, and Lieut.-Col. O. B. Hodges, military aide to the President.

The States were drawn in the following order:

BOOTLEG LIQUOR BUYER INDICTED

AGENTS WITNESSES

In reply to a question why the buyer at retail had never been prosecuted in Massachusetts it was unofficially stated that the reason was difficulty in obtaining direct evidence and the further complication of dry-law enforcement machinery already sadly overtaxed by larger cases.

A second indictment charging possession and transportation was returned against Farrar and Rotenda was indicted for the sale. The sale is asserted to have been made in Rotenda's store in Western avenue, Cambridge, in the presence of Federal Agents William J. Tobin and Otis Vaughan.

Farrar is asserted to have passed over money, accepted two bottles of liquor and walked with them to his automobile parked outside the store.

The prohibition agents then apprehended him.

BELIEVE CASE GOOD

The trio returned to Rotendo's store, it is asserted, where Rotendo was acquainted with the facts. The agents reported the unusual incident to their superiors and it was relayed in turn to Asst. Dist.-Atty. Stone, Federal liquor-law prosecutor here.

Stone agreed to ask the Federal grand jury for an indictment charging Farrar with purchasing liquor. He presented his evidence and got the indictment. Stone stuck to his opinion that the indictment is sound, and that he can convict Farrar on it, provided the supporting evidence is sound.

"This is a test case," he said. "We will prosecute this man for purchase and we will let the courts decide whether or not a man can be convicted of a criminal offense for purchasing liquor, under Section 6, Title 2, of the National Prohibition Act."

He refused to say whether he intends to prosecute purchasers as a matter of policy here, but he said that he will continue to present evidence such as that in the Farrar case to the grand jury if agents can find it, until the courts tell him he cannot do so.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Tarr expressed the belief tonight that the indictment is the first of its kind in the history of national prohibition, but pointed out that the only reason for it is the first conclusive evidence of purchase that ever has been presented to a grand jury here.

INCOME TAX FOR SCHOOL FUND URGED

Junior College Presidents Adopt Other Resolutions at Sacramento Meeting

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Presidents of junior colleges of Northern and Central California and the bay district, meeting here today, adopted resolutions urging the substitution of a personal income tax for the present method of raising funds for the support of the public school system. The officials were called together by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Kersey, who presided.

The college officials believe that personal incomes rather than real property should be made to bear the burden of financing education. The presidents favor a severance tax on all products taken from the soil, except agricultural products, as supplemental to the income levy. A. C. Olney, president of the Marin Junior College and head of the California Association of Junior Colleges, moved adoption of the resolution.

RIVER PARLEY PLANS RECESS

Boulder Dam in one form or another. Both outlined with figures the great possibilities of developing power markets within their States, Utah for refining ores and New Mexico for electro-chemical and nitrate developments.

Ray feared that the government might put unfair competition in the hands of California by selling the power too cheaply. But if it was to be cheap, as low as the contemplated 1.63 mills, he wanted a large share of it for Utah.

Wilson, too, saw a great empire building within his own State if Boulder Dam power were turned over to New Mexico at a reasonable price. He asked for fair play to Utah, New Mexico, Nevada and Arizona, on the allocation of Boulder Dam power.

The Imperial Valley delegation was augmented by the arrival today of Mark Rose, president of the Imperial Valley Irrigation District. At the same time the Nevada delegation welcomed Senator Pittman.

Arizona's statement handed the conference this afternoon is as follows:

"Arizona is not at this time making any statement in regard to the allocations of power and the revenue-producing features of the act for the reason that we deem it necessary for the ultimate success of this conference that water division be disposed of first. We have been much interested in the addresses made this morning by Messrs. Wilson and Ray and in the main we concur in the substance of these addresses. It might, however, be helpful if we again restate Arizona's position with reference to the power allocations and revenue features. We believe that the purpose and intent of the Boulder Canyon project act contemplate a compact between Arizona, Nevada and California with reference to the benefits to be derived by Arizona and other States.

"We believe, also, that it is within the contemplation of the act that an agreement between the States shall be binding upon the Secretary when it is approved by Congress and shall control him in the administration of the act. We want at this time to state that when we come to the discussion of these questions in their due order, Arizona's plan of solution will be fair, reasonable and we hope will appeal to the business judgment of those to be financially interested in the project, to the end that it may be a financial success."

PALO VERDE GROUP AWAITS PARLEY CALL

BLYTHE, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Representatives of the Palo Verde Irrigation District stand ready to attend at a moment's notice the Colorado River conference now in session at Phoenix. Meanwhile this valley of 90,000 acres is waiting complacently secure in the knowledge that the Palo Verde Valley is the only district which is sure of all the river water it ever will need.

The valley's water rights date back to 1877 and are the oldest on the Colorado River. The maximum of first-class water allowed Palo Verde is estimated at 400,000 second feet.

L. A. Hauser, member of the district board, and Ed F. Williams, for years president of the Mutual Water Company, expect to attend the Phoenix meeting if needed.

FOREIGN TRADE VOLUME GROWS

Report Shows Increase in American Exports

Europe Buys $1,000,000,000 More Than it Sells

Canada Best Customer of United States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—European countries during 1929 purchased nearly $1,000,000,000 more of foods from the United States than they sold to the United States in the same year. The relationship of American exports and imports to the principal geographical divisions of the world for 1929 was disclosed today by Commerce Department statistics on foreign trade.

Canada was the best customer among nations for the United States during 1929, and in addition was the largest single source of imports which the United States received during the year. Total exports from the United States to Canada for 1929 were $948,501,227, against $814,713,215 the previous year, while imports from Canada in 1929 amounted to $504,276,826, against $489,303,211 the previous year.

The United Kingdom, which ranks next to Canada in purchase of American commodities, received exports of $847,979,856 from this country last year, which was practically identical with the exports for 1928. In furnishing imports to the United States, however, Great Britain was pushed from second place by Japan, which during 1929 supplied imports to a total of $431,872,664, while imports from England were $329,766,636.

Figures for the totals of exports and imports by the important geographical divisions follow:

CHICAGO TANGLE MORE SNARLED

Governor Again Urged to Call Legislature

Teachers Enjoy Another Payless Pay Day

Citizens Demand Showdown on Crime Problem

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—The city's financial tangle went right on tangling today with everybody pulling at it—in diverse directions.

The president of the school board is in New York trying to peddle school tax anticipation warrants.

The county commissioners are getting worried and threatening to pay employees in script unless the Strawn rescue committee rushed relief.

The City Comptroller is paying bills in city script and trying to talk local bankers into buying large blocks of warrants.

The City Council still is planning to have the Mayor co-operate with the Strawn committee. The Mayor still is ignoring the suggestion.

The forest preserve finance committee is trying to get bids on $500,000 worth of bonds. They got one bid of $90.54 on the $100.

Chairman John S. Clark of the City Council Finance Committee is taking Silas Strawn to task for saying the city has spent more than $25,000,000 in excess of cash receipts for the years 1923 to 1928.

COMMITTEE STANDS PAT

School teachers are "enjoying" another payless pay day.

Bankers are making no offers to buy the warrants of any of the embarrassed governmental agencies, and the Strawn committee, with money ready to aid, is standing by the ultimatum given a week ago—that all officials must co-operate before a cent of relief is furnished.

Herbert C. Heller of New York, who aided in the sale of $40,000,000 worth of Chicago's tax-anticipation warrants last summer, was in the city today to confer with the City Comptroller, the Corporation Counsel and members of the City Council Finance Committee.

The Governor was again urged to call a special session of the Legislature. Edward J. Glacken, member of the Board of Local Improvements, stated in an open letter to the State executive that it would take the Legislature only two weeks to pass relief legislation in this tax crisis.

ANTICRIME DRIVE

Meanwhile, Chicago business men stacked $5000 and a new committee against crime.

Listening to the story of the crime situation as told behind closed doors by State's Attorney John A. Swanson and William E. Russell, police commissioner, the executive committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce resolved that "the time has come," and took the first two steps of its own campaign to end shooting, bombing and racketeering.

A reward of $5000 was posted for the arrest and conviction of the attackers of Philip H. Meagher, a construction superintendent, who was critically wounded by gun fire while at work Wednesday.

Appointment of a "committee of citizens of known courage and action," was authorized to study the situation and prepare a definite plan of action to be submitted to the executive body of the association by the 21st inst.

SHOWDOWN CALLED

With its program the executive committee issued a statement observing that Chicago, on a per-capita basis, still reposes far down the roster of large American cities in number of serious felonies, but adding:

"Hundreds of indictments without subsequent convictions, countless felonies where no arrests have followed, the almost total failure of the responsible agencies to halt bombings and other criminal attacks upon legitimate business, and the attempt during the past few days of paid killers to murder Philip H. Meagher, a Chicago builder of unquestioned reputation and long service to the community, indicate conclusively that the time has arrived when the legally responsible authorities must be called upon either to show why they cannot carry out their oath of office, or for the citizens of the city to take steps to assure the maintenance of justice and definite curtailment of crime."

BROOKHART PUTS ONUS ON MELLON

Senator in Dry Debate Says Secretary Does Not Want Prohibition Enforcement

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7. (AP)—Senator Brookhart of Iowa, in his prohibition debate here tonight with Representative Laguardia of New York, said Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, did not want to enforce the prohibition law. The debate was held under the auspices of the Cleveland Advertising Club.

"The reason prohibition is not enforced perfectly," Senator Brookhart said, "is that somebody does not want it enforced. That man is Andrew W. Mellon."

Laguardia opened his argument on the negative side of the question: "Can prohibition be enforced?" by saying there is no more drinking per capita in New York than in Iowa.

"Let's take prohibition down South," he said. "The entire southern bloc in the House votes dry, but any southern gentleman can have his liquor in his home if he wants it. But if any negro is found with a half-pint in his pocket he is sent to the chain gang.

"No law can be enforced unless the people are back of the law or unless you are willing to adopt military methods. Fifty-six thousand persons were sent to jail in one year for violation of the prohibition law. Do you call that progress?"

Senator Brookhart said he conceded that "you cannot completely enforce any law until public sentiment sustains it."

"But it will come," he asserted, "for the dethroning of King Alcohol is the most valuable asset that human civilization has ever acquired in the history of this world."

PIG WOMAN CALLED BEFORE FINAL JUDGE

WITNESS IN HALL-MILLS CASE DIES

Mrs. Jane Gibson, Who Won Fame in Noted Trial Victim of Cancer

JERSEY CITY (N. J.) Feb. 7. (AP)—Mrs. Jane Gibson, known as the "pig woman," who attained publicity as a prosecution witness in the Hall-Mills murder case in 1926, died here today of cancer.

Mrs. Gibson owned a farm adjacent to De Russey's lane, in which the bodies of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, were found September 14, 1922. Mrs. Gibson testified at the trial of Mrs. Hall and her two brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, who were tried for the murders, that while riding astride a mule down the lane the night before, she saw a gray-haired woman and two men bending above two prostrate bodies. She identified Mrs. Hall as the woman she saw. Mrs. Hall and the Stevens brothers were acquitted.

KIP WOULD PAY EX-WIFE FOR NAME

Dusky Former Mate Must Relinquish All Claims and Quit Being Rhinelander

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Leonard Kip Rhinelander delivered an ultimatum today to Alice Beatrice Jones, his dusky ex-wife.

Kip emerged from his mountain retreat near Las Vegas where he procured a divorce two month ago and informed Alice through his Nevada lawyers:

"I am willing to settle a third of my income upon you for the rest of our natural lives if you will sign a quit claim on me and relinquish your legal right to the use of my family name."

Kip also indicated he is willing to pay Alice's legal expenses in the negotiations that probably will follow his offer. But, on the other hand, if Alice declines his proposition Kip declared he wil cease paying her the $220 monthly she has been receiving since they parted.

NEW ROCHELLE (N. Y.) Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Alice Jones Rhinelander and her legal advisers tonight indicated they will accept the terms of Kip Rhinelander's post-divorce settlement offer. A meeting will be held probably next week between advisers in the West and counsel for his ex-wife.

Anderson was intrusted with the care of parrots sent to the laboratory for diagnosis and experimental purposes, and was taken suddenly and violently sick nine days after his first contact with the birds.

DON LEE PATENT SUIT SUBMITTED ON BRIEFS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—The patent infringement suit of Clinton L. Walker, Piedmont, against Don Lee and the Don Lee Corporation was submitted on briefs after a technical hearing before Federal Judge St. Sure today. In the suit, filed two years ago, Walker asserts he obtained a patent in March, 1926, on a "counter-balancing engine main shaft," and that an infringing device was being used in automobiles distributed by the defendants. He asks for an injunction and damages to be determined after an accounting. The defendants assert the device used in the cars is based upon a different principle and is not an infringement on the Walker patent.

BECK FINDS NEW WET ARGUMENT

Declares Dry Amendment Not Self-Enforcing

Says Discretionary Power Rests in Congress

House Speech Warns G.O.P. Against Whigs' Fate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Arraigning prohibition before a crowded house, Representative Beck of Pennsylvania today predicted destruction of the Republican party if it continued to lend itself to the dry cause. He also declared the Constitution does not compel enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Mr. Beck, former Solicitor-General of the United States, is a recognized authority on Constitutional law. The galleries were thronged and nearly every member of the House was on the floor as he spoke.

Beck discussed phases of the Law Enforcement Commission's recommendations to strengthen dry enforcement, and the speech made a week ago by Representative Fort, Republican, New Jersey, in which home brew for home consumption was advocated.

HOME DESTRUCTION

Referring to the commission's report, he said that the collective experience of the past and the time-honored traditions of the English-speaking people "constitute a damning indictment of the Eighteenth Amendment."

He contended Representative Fort would have every householder a vintner, and every cellar a brewery, and added: "I believe that the greatest evil of our age has been the destruction of the home!"

The Pennsylvanian declared that prohibition had organized the country upon a vast scale of collective hypocrisy, which is destroying the moral fiber of the American people like a cancer.

"The Republican party," he said, "cannot longer afford to sell its soul to the fanatical drys."

If it does, he added, it will die as the Whig party expired over the fugitive slave law in 1860.

NOT SELF-ENFORCING

Although asserting that he does not expect to live to see the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Beck said: "Fortunately, the American people are not so impotent that they cannot undo this gigantic folly."

The amendment, he said, is not self-enforcing. The means of enforcing the statute, he continued, and the duty of enforcing it rest in the political discretion of Congress. He added that fleeting majorities should not deprive each generation of its right to govern itself.

"When the American people thus recognize that the nonexercise of a power is not necessarily a challenge to the Constitution," he explained, "they will in due time wholly sweep away that monstrous compound of iniquity and folly, the Volstead law, and upon its ruins build afresh."

PROTECTIVE CLAUSE IN JONES LAW SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—A suggestion that it might be wise to rewrite the Volstead and Jones laws to prevent district attorneys from threatening dry violators with more severe punishment unless they plead guilty, was made today by Roscoe Pound of the Law Enforcement Commission before a House judiciary subcommittee.

Pound and Chairman Wickersham, of the National Law Enforcement Commission, were before the committee at final hearings on the Christopherson bills to give United States Commissioners the power to try minor violators of the dry laws. Wickersham did not testify but listened closely to the proceedings.

QUIZ CALLED ON HEFLIN'S NEGRO NOTE

Senate Committee to Pass on Letter Deploring Mixed Marriages in New York

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The Senate today agreed to the appointment of a committee of three to examine into a letter placed in the Congressional Record by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, and written by him about intermarriage of whites and negroes in New York State, with a view to determining whether his action violated the Senate rules.

Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, demanded that the letter be expunged from the record on the ground that it is "offensive to the people of New York." After two hours of argument during which Heflin had the letter read, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, suggested the appointment of a committee.

Both Heflin and Copeland agreed to this procedure. The selection of the committee is left to Vice-President Curtis.

The Heflin letter said: "My knowledge of this open and notorious social equality policy, this terrible system in New York State permitted and approved by Gov. Smith, was one of the things that made it impossible for me to support him in 1928." Heflin failed to support Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee, in the last Presidential election.

SENATE TARIFF MAKERS CLASH

Stormy Scenes Enacted as Independents Raid Bill

Paint Lead Schedules Cut by Coalition Group

Republicans Protest Slash Without Hearings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—In one of the stormiest scenes yet witnessed in the long tariff struggle, leaders of the Republicans and the Democratic-Republican-Independent coalition fought out in the Senate today the right of the opposition coalition to slash existing import rates.

With nerves on edge from the long months of wrangling, Republicans made a determined stand against further attempts by the coalition Senators to cut present rates on which no testimony has been taken in committees.

Leaders of the Democrats and western Republicans retorted with equal vehemence against what they termed the writing of tariff bills in secret. They declared every Senator has a right to offer an amendment, whether it affects an existing levy or a higher or lower rate named in the Hawley-Smoot bill.

SENATE IN CONFUSION

At times two or three Senators were shouting at once. Vice-President Curtis was kept busy pounding the gavel. Crowded galleries frequently had to be warned against emotional outbursts resulting from high-pitched colloquies and personal exchanges.

Out of it all came a tally of three to two on rate changes in favor of the coalitionists. They succeeded in cutting the duty on red lead, used in the manufacture of preservative paints, from 2 3-4 to 2 1-8 cents a pound; in cutting the duty on litharge, a lead pigment used in glass and pottery manufacture, from 2 1-2 to 2 1-8 cents, and in reducing the levy on carbon black from 20 to 5 per cent ad valorem. One was decided by only one vote and another by two.

COVER RETREAT

Republicans rallied their forces, however, and defeated, 38 to 37, an attempt to reduce the rate on white lead, used for exterior paint making, from 2½ to 2 cents a pound. By 38 to 34 they also rejected an amendment to slash from 30 to 25 per cent the existing tariff on all lead pigments not specially provided for in the bill.

Senator Couzens, Michigan, a Republican member of the Finance Committee, started the day off by protesting against attempts to cut import duties left undisturbed in the pending bill on the ground that interested industries had not been heard and no advance notice had been given of the opposition program.

Saying he was neither a "sky-high tariff protectionist nor a free trader," Couzens objected to cutting rates, regardless of their merit, that were not even discussed before the Congressional committees.

"This is unfair, unusual and not the proper way to legislate," he said.

One by one members of the coalition replied. Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, author of several of the rate-cutting amendments, said every consumer and producer had an opportunity to be heard before the Finance Committee. He contended the Democrats had no voice in preparing the bill and consequently their program could not be heard.

LA FOLLETTE REPLIES

Senator La Follette, Republican, Independent, Wisconsin, asserted it was "indefensible" to "write tariff bills in secret," and if the Senate were to proceed on the theory advanced by the Michigan Senator the consumer would not have a chance in the conference between the two houses to settle differences over the measure.

Charging the Finance Committee was "packed" with high-tariff Senators, Senator Norris, Republican-Independent, Nebraska, asked if it was fair that the tariff "should be made by men who agree that the tariff should be raised to the sky."

REPORT HITS OFFICIALS OF INDIAN TRIBE

Retention of Klamaths' Superintendent Scored by Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Retention of present government officials at the Klamath Indian reservation in Oregon was declared "indefensible" in a report submitted to the Senate today by the Indian Affairs Committee.

The sharply worded report cited a long list of complaints against the superintendent, I. D. Arnold, and the financial clerk, R. W. Wheat, and asserted: "Their retention in the Indian service in any capacity appears to the subcommittee as a highly doubtful proposition but their continuance at the Klamath reservation appears to the subcommittee indefensible."

Arnold and Wheat were the only ones mentioned in the report transmitted to the Senate by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, a member of the investigating subcommittee of the Indian Affairs Committee.

"From the evidence taken," the report said, "the subcommittee is convinced that there has been decided lack of co-operation on the part of Superintendent Arnold and Financial Clerk Wheat with the Indians; that they have been extravagant with the money and careless of the property intrusted to their supervision; that the great majority of the Klamath Indians have lost all confidence in their officials, thus making it impossible to have anything like a satisfactory administration."

"The attempted justification by the Indian Bureau witnesses of the retention of Superintendent Arnold and Finance Clerk Wheat at the Klamath reservation is, in the opinion of the subcommittee, wholly unconvincing," the report

STANDARD CHIEF HITS OIL TARIFF

Kingsbury Says it Will Do More Harm Than Good

Drop in Foreign Trade Seen as Result of Tax

Lower Prices Held No Cure for Industry's Evils

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (Exclusive) Declaring that California oil operators have made satisfactory progress in handling their oil conservation campaign, K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, today said that, in his opinion, the price of oil is too low and intimated that lower price levels are not what the oil industry needs to cure its ills.

Neither does Mr. Kingsbury favor the proposal of mid-continent independent oil operators for an import duty on foreign oil as an aid to the conservation movement.

TRADE DROP FEARED

"A tariff on foreign oil will do more harm than good to the American petroleum industry," said Mr. Kingrbury, "because it will have the effect of hurting our foreign oil trade. We export more oil from this country than we import into it.

"If we should levy an import tariff on Venezuela crude oil, that oil which now comes into the United States will be diverted to foreign countries where it will displace American-exported oil.

"Moreover, it will be refined abroad, whereas now it is shipped to the United States in the crude state and refined here, giving employment to American labor and building up the refining industry in this country."

CONSERVATION SITUATION

Regarding conservation in the California fields, Mr. Kingsbury said:

"The original agreements to curtail production in the flush fields of California were made for three months dating from November 1. They expired the 1st inst. and are now being renewed for another period of three months.

"The oil operators of the State are co-operating wholeheartedly in the movement as indicated by the fact that production has been cut down about 35 per cent.

"The oil operators of the State have shut in about 300,000 barrels a day out of a potential production of around 1,000,000 barrels daily, with the result that actual output is only about 700,000 barrels a day. Further curtailment is planned.

DOING MORE THAN SHARE

"We feel in California that we are doing more than our share in the conservation movement," continued Mr. Kingsbury, commenting on complaints heard here that California gasoline is flooding the Atlantic seaboard market.

"California gasoline can be shipped east by water more cheaply than it can be transported here from the midcontinent field. The trouble with the gasoline market is that too much gasoline is being refined."

Mr. Kingsbury, who has been spending several days in New York, will leave for California tomorrow. He will take the water route through the Panama Canal.

ADVANCE IN PRICE SEEN IN BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Complete co-operation of all oil-producing companies in the matter of conservation is essential if the market is to remain stable, but that element of a conference now under way at Los Angeles does not mean a prospective drop in the retail price of gasoline, it was declared here today.

Dispatches indicating such a possibility brought the assertion that it is much more likely the retail price will be stabilized at 1 cent higher than it now is.

In a statement regarding the conference in general, issued by the Standard Oil Company but said to reflect the position of all the major producing organizations, it was said:

"The Standard Oil Company concurs in the conclusions reached by the Los Angeles conference regarding the serious character of the over-production situation, and unless there is immediate curtailment by the complete co-operation of producers the situation will lead to demoralization.

"We are hopeful the meetings in Los Angeles will find the remedy for the situation."

Charles Jacobs, secretary-manager for an organization of service-station operators, said it is much more logical to have the conservation program result in a boost in the retail price. In this city and vicinity he estimates gasoline will go to 21 cents.

House Seat for Wurzbach Voted by Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—A house elections committee reported today it is unanimously in favor of giving Harry M. Wursbach, Republican, the seat now held by Representative McCloskey, Democrat, from the Fourteenth Texas District.

The chairman, Representative Sears (Rep.) Nebraska, announced the stand of the committee after an executive session. The report has not yet been made to the House, since it is not in final form, but the statement by Sears is taken to mean the controversy is virtually at an end.

The committee verdict came as no surprise, since McCloskey already had conceded the election of Wurzbach after a recount of ballots.

Here Are Homes You've Read About ... Dreamed About ... 35 Little Masterpieces to See Today

Annual Small Homes Exposition

Already a week of the Exposition has slipped by. Plan at once to enjoy your trip through this wonderland of homes. For years you've read about model dwellings for the small family. Magazines and newspapers have stirred your imagination—pictures have set you dreaming of a home of your own—now come out and see THIRTY-FIVE such homes as you have longed to see. If you act immediately, perhaps you can have one of the models themselves for your own.

Noted architects, accustomed to designing costly mansions in Beverly Hills and other exclusive sections, have devoted their talents to producing the most attractive, most modern and comfortable homes that a small sum of money could ever hope to buy. Here is the last word in luxury, in beauty and in convenience.

FURNISHINGS BY BARKER BROS.

See, too, what interior decorators from Barker Bros. have done to enhance the charm of several of these homes. Drapes, floor coverings and furnishings of matchless beauty—yet always suitable in cost to the small dwelling.

Learn new ideas in construction—Stucco, Stone-Tile, Steel-Concrete. Marvel at the latest features in fixtures, bathrooms; floor-plans, interior finishes, landscaping. Make preparations to come out this afternoon or tomorrow—the first afternoon or evening you're free—and enjoy a sight such as you've never seen before.

Yes ... The Model Homes Are For Sale

Their Low Prices and Terms Are One of the Features of the Exposition

Since last Saturday, when this giant exhibition was thrown open to the public, more than two hundred people have asked if these homes are for sale. Many of these people had their first taste of Leimert Park's restful charm last week.

You could read in their faces utter amazement that a place such as this could exist just twenty minutes from downtown—such sweet, clean air—such bewitchingly beautiful homes—such velvety lawns and tree-lined boulevards and gaily flowering plazas.

The model homes took every eye, of course—these homes were created to capture attention, to amaze with the possibilities of small house construction. But even more astonishing was the discovery that one could buy, and live, in this unique residential park for so little.

The model homes ARE for sale—it's simply a question of who gets them first.

WORD DUEL FOUGHT BY SHORTRIDGE AND GLASS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Senators Shortridge of California and Glass of Virginia staged an impromptu verbal combat on the floor of the Senate today when the Virginia Senator took one of the Californian's sweeping impersonal gestures in a personal way.

Senator Shortridge used one of his famed gestures to emphasize a point during debate. Senator Glass interpreted the gesture as directed at him in a personal way and wrathfully said: "The Senator prefers to talk with his hands rather than his voice."

"That is a fine thing for a southern gentleman to say," Shortridge retorted, and the battle was on.

It is uncertain what verbal barbs flew since both Senators were talking at once while Vice-President Curtis added machine-gun "sound effects" with his gavel. The press gallery, while interested, was unable to separate the verbal barrage of the westerner from the raking oral fire of the southerner. Even the official reporter was out of action during the Senatorial interchange of epithets.

At the end of hostilities both Senators apologized, the remarks were stricken from the record and the Senate went peacefully on its way to tariff discussion.

ZONING ORDER LOSES IN COURT

Superior Judge in Montecito Case Holds Adversely

Criminal Action Against Oil Company Official Fails

"Unwarranted Restraint on Use of Property," Ruling

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 7.—The Montecito zoning ordinance was given an almost death-dealing blow today in Superior Court when Judge Edward Henderson of Ventura filed his opinion in a criminal action brought against C. M. Wright, superintendent of the Lincoln Drilling Company, freeing him of charges of operating a nuisance in building an oil derrick within the confines of the exclusive residential district lying just east of this city.

Judge Henderson also ruled that the Montecito zoning ordinance exercised an unwarranted restraint of use of the property of Mrs. Ellena Myer, where the oil derrick was built. The Myer property is just inside of the confines of the district covered by the ordinance. It is located at the foot of Ortega Hill, less than half a mile west of the old Summerland tideland oil field.

DERRICK IN RESIDENCE ZONE

Several months ago, the Lincoln Drilling Company erected an oil derrick on the property, just north of the Coast Highway and some 150 feet within the residential zone.

A temporary injunction was granted to prevent the drilling of the well. A new zoning ordinance, conforming to the newly enacted State law authorizing county zoning, was passed after the commencement of the suit against Wright. An additional ordinance was enacted by the County Board of Supervisors specifically forbidding the drilling of an oil well in Montecito in a desperate attempt to keep the oil operators out of the fine residential community.

"NO GOOD REASON" SHOWN

Judge Henderson found in his opinion that "no good reason appearing for such drastic regulation with respect to circumstances and conditions surrounding this case, the ordinance is, therefore, void by reason of restraining in an unreasonable manner the use of Mrs. Myer's property and an unwarranted restraint of defendant's right to carry on a lawful business on the premises."

He cited decisions in the case of the Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company vs. the City of Los Angeles and the Pacific Palisades Association vs. the City of Huntington Beach.

Phone Company Jobs Near End

MONTEBELLO, Feb. 7.—Two telephone construction jobs in Montebello are reaching completion this week, according to E. C. McNary, district manager of the company.

A $9620 project which has provided two miles of telephone cable on Telegraph Road from Atlantic Boulevard to Garfield Boulevard is practically finished. Additional telephone facilities in the rapidly expanding industrial area adjacent to Atlantic and Garfield boulevards are being provided. The new telephone cable also made possible the removal of a half-mile of overhead telephone cable on Telegraph Road.

The second project reaching completion is the $4860 cable-laying job that provides increased telephone facilities in the Whittier Boulevard-Poplar-avenue district. More than a mile and one-half of cable has been placed on Whittier between First and Fifth streets, and on Poplar avenue between Beverly and Whittier boulevards. This work was made necessary in advance of the Poplar avenue improvement, and in response to the growing demands for telephone service in this area.

TELESCOPE NEST PLANNED

Ground Broken at Pasadena for Machine Shop, One of Three Units for Building Giant Star-Gazer

PASADENA, Feb. 7.—Ground has been broken for the machine shop, first of three building units to be erected on the California Institute of Technology campus in connection with the institute's 200-inch telescope project, it was announced today. The machine shop, optical shop and astrophysical laboratory, in which mountings and other parts of the giant telescope will be constructed, will involve an expenditure of more than $600,000.

Although known simply as the "machine shop" the structure now rising on the south side of the Guggenheim Aeronautics Laboratory will be 200 feet in length and be equipped for mechanical research. In it models of the telescope mountings and later the mountings and other parts of the telescope will be made. The machine shop will have a main and a mezzanine floor and will cost $150,000. It will be ready for occupancy next summer.

Funds for the astrophysics group of three buildings, as well as for the telescope, are provided for by the Rockefeller Foundation.

The delicate and highly technical work of figuring the 200-inch fused quartz lens of the instrument will be done in the optical shop, which will be erected east of the machine shop, with which it will be connected by an ornamental gateway.

The third unit of the 200-inch observatory building, the astrophysical laboratory, will face California street, opposite Tournament Park, and just west of the Norman Bridge Laboratory.

Completion of the three-unit astrophysics group and the four-dormitory group east of Arden Road, virtually will fill in all present gaps in the campus along California street.

Ornamental gardens and lawns will continue the landscaping already completed between the Norman Bridge and high tension laboratories and on the north side of the campus.

WOMAN'S BODY WASHED IN

Corpse Found at Huntington Beach Identified as Miss Alice Eagle of Long Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 7.—Mystery surrounding the disappearance ten days ago of Miss Alice Eagle, 50 years of age, from the home of Long Beach friends with whom she had been staying, was cleared today with the finding of the woman's body on the beach here. The missing woman is believed to have been in the water since shortly after her disappearance.

Identification was established by Miss Eagle's friends who viewed the body at the Dixon funeral parlors here, where an inquest will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow. An effort was being made last night to communicate with the dead woman's relatives, said to live in St. Louis.

A close watch was being kept on the beach here following a report that a man had leaped from a pier and resulted in the finding of the woman's body on the sand at the foot of Eighth street by William Ellerman.

Possibility of foul play was given considerable credence by police at first as there was no identification marks on the body and her shoes were on the wrong feet, hinting that the body might have been hurriedly dressed by other persons and consigned to the ocean.

TWO CHILDREN KILLED BY TRAIN

Little Boy and Baby Girl Meet Instant Death

Pacific Electric Limited Hits Auto at Crossing

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 7.—With her two children, Earl, 4 years of age, and Ruth, 2, playing in the rear seat of her car, Mrs. Ernest Gordine, wife of a Rialto rancher, early today drove in front of a Pacific Electric limited train near Bloomington. The two children were instantly killed, their little bodies hurled nearly 200 feet by the force of the heavy steel train hitting the car.

Mrs. Gordine was dragged 150 feet in the wreckage of the car. Late today she was feared dying at the Ramona Hospital here.

Frank Hawkins, the motorman, who said he had operated a street car for twenty-five years without a serious accident, told Coroner Al W. Uren, that Mrs. Gordine was driving on the diagonal highway between Rialto and Bloomington paralleling the tracks. Suddenly she turned at the Lilac-avenue crossing directly on to the tracks. Mrs. Gordine, an expectant mother, was unconscious at the hospital and physicians stated that her condition is extremely critical. The bodies of her two children were removed to this city, where an inquest will be held tomorrow.

AGED RESIDENT OF LOMA LINDA KILLED BY AUTO

LOMA LINDA, Feb. 7.—Struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. H. P. D. Kingsbury of Redlands as he attempted to cross Colton avenue just east of Anderson street here last night, Manuel E. George, 75 years of age, suffered injuries from which he died a few minutes later.

George had just come out of his house on the south side of Colton avenue east of Anderson street when the accident occurred. He apparently did not see the approaching car and stepped in front of it. The aged man was in the habit of carrying a lantern when he walked along the road but was without one last night.

The impact crushed his skull and he died in a near-by house before medical aid could reach him. He had been a resident here for about sixteen years and was widely acquainted among residents of the community. He leaves his widow here, a daughter in Los Angeles and a daughter in India.

Woman Pleads to Liquor in Home

COMPTON, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Margaret McKeon, 1906 East Main street, mother of three small children, whom she supports, pleaded guilty to possession of liquor before Justice of the Peace Irving P. Austin. Her hearing followed a raid on her place by deputy constables, who confiscated a large quantity of beer, whisky and wine. Judge Austin set tomorrow morning as the time for sentence.

Deputy Constables John Allen and Jack Lyles used a search warrant in the raid on the East Main-street residence. It was secured after they had caught W. E. Brown, 5523 Long Beach Boulevard, Long Beach, coming away from the place with liquor. Brown later paid a $50 fine on possession charges. At the McKeon home the deputies found eighty-seven quarts and twenty-nine pints of beer, a jug of whisky, a twelve-gallon crock of material being made into beer, and a quantity of wine working.

Before Judge Austin today Mrs. McKeon admitted engaging in the liquor, asserting she could find no other means of support.

GILLETT TO RUN AGAIN FOR SHERIFF

Peace Officer of Imperial County, Cleared of Fraud Charges, Announces Plans

EL CENTRO, Feb. 7.—Charles L. Gillett, Sheriff of Imperial county, who was indicted by the last two county grand juries on accusations involving fraud and theft in connection with the feeding of prisoners, upon which one jury failed to agree and a second one returned a verdict of not guilty, has announced his candidacy for re-election at the polls this year. Gillett is now serving his second term.

The charges against him were first filed two years ago following an audit of the jail records. According to the accusations the Sheriff was making a profit amounting to as much as $1200 a month on the serving of meals to county and Federal prisoners. He refused to turn the profits over to the county and introduced evidence in court to show that he had operated the prison boarding house in accordance with a plan approved by the Supervisors and confirmed by a former District Attorney.

Three other candidates, George Campbell of Seeley, Tom Potts of Holtville, and F. H. Fargo of Brawley, have announced that they are in the race opposing Gillett.

Car of Bandit Victims Found

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 7.—Chula Vista officers and San Diego police today were co-operating in a search for the two armed bandits who held H. F. and Mrs. Mitchel prisoners in their Chula Vista home for five hours early yesterday morning during a thorough looting of the house.

The Mitchel automobile, used by the bandits in their escape from the home, was discovered by Jerry Lightner, local detective-sergeant, at Thirty-sixth and Market streets, where it had been abandoned by the robbers. The car was being checked carefully today for possible finger prints.

The Mitchels were awakened in their home shortly after 1 a.m. by two men who flashed on the lights and pointed revolvers at them as they lay in bed.

The bandits tied their prisoners and began a systematic search of the large dwelling, which lasted until shortly before dawn. Then Mrs. Mitchel was untied and forced at the point of a gun to cook breakfast for each of the bandits.

Police believed the bandits stole the Mitchel car as a blind to throw officers off their trail. The authorities expressed the opinion that the men drove to the estate in their own car and that one of them drove away in the Mitchel car, followed by the other.

RESTORING OF ADOBE PROPOSED

Move Made to Preserve Office of Imperial Water Engineers for Museum Use

CALEXICO, Feb. 7.—Restoration of the old adobe building used as an office by C. R. Rockwood and the engineers who installed Imperial Valley's first water system a quarter of a century ago, may be undertaken, if plans discussed by the Imperial County Board of Trade are approved by the Supervisors and other valley agencies.

President R. Y. Watson, accompanied by members of the board, yesterday visited the old structure which has been vacant for the past four years, and estimated that $5000 would be required to restore the property for use as a county museum where relics of the pioneer reclamation period would be housed.

Success, it was said, will depend largely upon the co-operation given by city authorities in Calexico, where the structure is located. The Calexico Kiwanis Club has named a committee to investigate the project.

SUITS FILED IN MOUNTAIN FIRE MOUNT

Edison Faced With Total of $600,000; Insurance Companies to Fight Them

VENTURA, Feb. 7.—Complaint was filed today in Superior Court by Arthur J. Koeningstein, acting for himself and twenty-four others as assignors, against the Southern California Edison Company, seeking $182,788.02 asserted damages in the Sulphur Mountain fire of September 16.

Koeningstein represents himself and Fred J. Smith, James W. Freer, Oliver R. Connell, William Hanson, Thomas J. Henry, Margaret D. Bay, Albert C. Romp, Wesley W. Vance, S. Alfred Freer, Fred T. Jumper, Iva E. Davies, Rachel J. Vance, William Q. Palmer, Edna Henningan, Mrs. Cora Johnson, Eldridge Freer, Leslie A. Ballue, Mary F. McKnight, S. J. Butler, Edward R. Farguhar, Ora B. McConnell, M. C. Harvey, Charles S. Cullison and Lowell B. De Groot.

Many of the claimants indicate in the eighty-page complaint that they lost their entire holdings, including houses, furniture and personal effects. Some of the claimants apparently did not have a vestige of property left.

There have now been filed suits aggregating more than $600,000, and covering the area burned from the Doheny ranch, known as the Ferndale ranch, in Santa Paula Canyon, over to Ventura avenue, including practically all of the ranches in the Upper Ojai Valley.

It is understood that the defense of the claims is now in the hands of the insurance companies, which have not as yet admitted liability and which have appraisers and adjusters in the field. The force of men working under the supervision of County Engineer Charles Petit is surveying and mapping the area burned over and the cases are being rapidly prepared for trial. The first case is set for March 25.

No actions have been filed on behalf of the Ventura County Fire Commission for its expenses in fighting the fire or by the United States Forest Service for pay of its fire fighters. These claims were paid last October by the Edison Company before the litigation was taken over by the insurance companies.

Stolen Wheel in Shop Brings Fine

COMPTON, Feb. 7.—Police Judge Nelson Ward today fined J. R. Hamilton, local second-hand dealer, $25 for violation of the city ordinance requiring business men buying used merchandise to report their purchases to the police department. Hamilton's arrest followed the discovery of a bicycle in his place of business that had been stolen in a recent burglary. Police at the same time reported the arrest of two boys, 10 and 14 years of age, and a girl, aged 12, whom they assert, committed a series of burglaries.

One residence at 122 Holly avenue, was robbed three times within ten days, twice in two successive days, police report. They trapped the youths through use of a fingerprint camera. Hamilton was taken into custody when a youth from whom the trio had stolen the bicycle found his wheel in the man's store where he went to buy another. He reported his find to police.

TEACHER'S ARREST SOUGHT

Warrant Issued on Morals Charge for Charles Stickle of Junior High School in Pasadena

PASADENA, Feb. 7.—A warrant for the arrest of Charles Stickle, suspended social science teacher at John Marshall Junior High School, was issued this afternoon by Justice of the Peace Elliot Gibbs and is in the hands of Detective Lieutenants W. G. Cropsey and Henry Collins, who assert they plan to arrest the teacher on charges of misconduct toward a 14-year-old boy pupil as soon as they can apprehend him.

Stickle is accused in the warrant of violating Section 288 of the Penal Code, one of the offenses upon which Fred J. Becker, former principal of John Muir Technical High School, was convicted last week.

The social science teacher was suspended this morning by John A. Sexson, school superintendent, after refusing to resign.

Stickle maintained his innocence and asserted he will fight the charges against him. Before detectives arrived to place him under arrest, he disappeared and was reported to have left hurriedly to confer with an attorney.

The John Marshall Junior High School instructor formerly was associated with Becker at the Franklin Opportunity School, having taught a special attention class in that institution in 1928 and 1929.

Stickle came to this city in 1926 from La Verne High School. He is married and lives in Altadena.

SMUGGLING RING IN WIDE CIRCLES

Information Discloses Its Ramifications in Spain

Three Asserted Smugglers, Five Spaniards, Held

Aliens Caught at Indio With Mexicans as Escort

CALEXICO, Feb. 7.—With the arrest this week of three asserted smugglers and five alien Spaniards, Capt. Herbert Hadley, inspector in charge of the United States Immigration Office here, has obtained information disclosing the existence of a smuggling ring whose organization extends from this border to the coast of Spain.

The man who is believed to be the head of the local organization is Antonio Moran Garcia, alias Antonio Lopez, a convicted smuggler residing in San Diego. The names of the men taken into custody were not disclosed but, according to statements they are said to have made, Garcia left this country following his release from American custody eighteen months ago and went to Spain, where he contracted to get 100 Spaniards into the United States for $1000 each.

The aliens were taken to Guatemala by boat. At that point Garcia obtained permits to take eight of the men into Mexico on tourist visas. They were brought overland to the west coast and thence up the Gulf to Mexicali.

American officers broke into the plot two days ago when five of the Spaniards were caught at Indio with three Mexicans acting as escort. Garcia is still at large, but information given by the prisoners identified him as head of the western end of the smuggling chain.

Officers on both sides of the border here are keeping close watch for other members of the party, who are expected to make an effort to get into the United States.

Heavy Fines for Four Imposed For Possession

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 7.—Four of the heaviest liquor law fines meted out in months were assessed to a quartet of offenders appearing yesterday before Justices of the Peace Allen of Indio and Childers of Banning as a result of the Sheriff's dry raids this week on Indio and Palm Springs.

Three men arrested at Indio after they had sold liquor to undercover operatives were meted out fines of $500 each with alternative jail terms of 500 days. The fourth prisoner, who appeared before Justice Childers of Banning because he was arrested in Palm Springs, was fined $150 or seventy-five days. All four are back in the County Jail unable to produce the heavy fines and facing the prospect of serving out their respective sentences per diem.

Those drawing stiff fines in Justice Allen's court were Eddie Sm, 30 years of age; Herman Ball, and Jesus Alarcon, 28. They were charged with bootlegging, sale of liquor under the Wright Act tion, but when they indicated that they would demand trials on the charge but would plead guilty to possession of liquor the officers changed the charge to possession.

Justice Allen then imposed the maximum penalty on the charge with the result that the trio will serve virtually as long as they would have had they been prosecuted for sale.

County Jailer Bailey and Deputy Sheriff Graham arrested the three men at Indio early this week as one of the largest clean-up drives in months was inaugurated by the Sheriff's and District-Attorney's offices.

The fourth man, who drew the $150 fine, was George Williams, Palm Springs poultry expert, from whom investigators were said to have bought liquor at the desert resort. With five other men, four of whom were held on morals charges, Williams was taken into custody by Sheriff Sweeters and Undersheriff Rayburn Wednesday and lodged in the County Jail.

Victim of Gas Blast Interred

SOUTH GATE, Feb. 7.—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Lannon, one of the three victims in the explosion of gas at the home of George Warnecke, early Sunday morning, were held at the Pyle mortuary in this city today at 10 a.m. Rev. Walter A. Pegg, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Huntington Park, officiated. Interment was at Angelus Abbey. Mrs. Lannon leaves the widower and three children.

The funeral services for George Warnecke and Mrs. Dugan, the two other victims, who died a few hours following the explosion, their deaths being due to burns and inhalation of gas, were held Tuesday morning at the same place.

The three women and Mr. Lannon and Mr. Dugan were at the Warnecke home early Sunday morning, after having taken Mr. Warnecke to his place of employment about midnight. One of the men, after the five had entered the residence, lighted a match and immediately there was an explosion caused by gas which had accumulated in the house. The three women died as a result of their injuries, while the two men were badly burned.

Sandberg Game Ducats on Sale

The sale of tickets for the Gus Sandberg benefit game, which will be played between the Chicago Cubs and Angels at Wrigley Field Saturday, March 8, officially opened yesterday. Charles Webb Murphy, former owner of the Cubs, started the sale by purchasing four tickets for $50. Lou Anger, Roosevelt Hotel official, sent in a $25 check for another quartet of ducats. Reservations for the game are now being taken at Wrigley Field. William Wrigley, Jr., owner of both clubs, has generously donated the entire gate of the game, which will open the local spring exhibition series, to the widow and two young sons of Sandberg, the veteran Angel catcher who recently died from burns received in a gasoline explosion.

TROJANS PLAY CARDS TONIGHT

Barry's Charges Out to Win Stanford Contest

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 7.—Riding the crest of the conference wave, Coach Sam Barry's Southern California cage artists slide into Palo Alto tomorrow to do battle on the hardwood with the prize in-and-outers of the basketball season—Stanford University's redshirts.

Forecasting the outcome of tomorrow night's encounter was rendered precarious last Tuesday when Stanford rose up in all its fury to rout the St. Ignatius quintet, which, up to that time, had been generally acknowledged the cream of college hoop squads in this vicinity. The Trojans and Cards have already divided a brace of contests in the Southland, and the deciding game looks to be anybody's, although Stanford's best brand of basketball may be superior to the Trojan's best.

SHELLY SIGNS 1930 CONTRACT

Ace of Hollywood Twirlers Comes to Terms

Spitball Specialist Topped Circuit in 1929

Veteran Pitcher Hopes for Another Big Year

BY BOB RAY

Frank Shellenback, pitching and batting hero of many a Hollywood victory last season, caused a lot of joy in the Stars' Wrigley Field offices yesterday, when he visited Owner Bill Lane, agreed to terms for the coming campaign and signed his 1930 contract.

FRANK SHELLENBACK

The signing of Shellenback took a big load off the chest of the Hollywood prexy for Frank is again expected to play a stellar role in the Coast League antics of Oscar Vitt's scrappy Sheiks. Shelly had a lot to do with Hollywood's winning the pennant in 1929 for he personally pitched the Stars to twenty-six triupmhs, more than other Coast League hurler could register during the regular Coast League season, and then topped off his brilliant season by twirling the Sheiks to another pair of victories in the championship play-off with the Missions.

Aside from pitching so brilliantly, though, Shellenback won his way into favor of Hollywood fans by accounting for several other wins with his deadly pinch-hitting. Skipper Vitt sent Shelly in to pinch hit during many tight games last year and the big spitball specialist generally responded with a winning wallop. In fact, several of Shellenback's clouts were good for home runs. Frank has a habit of clouting 'em out of the lot in the clinches and rates as one of the most dangerous pinch-hitters in this circuit.

COACHING AT LOYOLA

Shellenbach is stealing a march on the rest of the Hollywood hurlers for he is gradually working himself in shape while acting as baseball coach at Loyola University.

Shelly, who is now one of the three remaining active spitball pitchers in the Coast League, confidently expects to have another great year for the Stars. "It looks to me as though the Stars are going to have just as good if not a wee bit better team this season than they had last year, so I figure I ought to be able to come through with more than twenty victories," says Shellenback.

The only other active spitball hurlers in the league now are Ray Keating and Pudgy Gould, both with Sacramento. Harry Krause, Mission veteran, and Doc Crandall, who finished up the 1929 campaign with the Angels, have retired. Buzz Arlett is still permitted to act as a spitball twirler but the big Oakland slugger spends most of his time in the outfield and on first base and rarely performs on the mound any more.

HAVE STAR MOUND STAFF

Manager Oscar Vitt is counting on Shellenback to be one of the aces of the Hollywood chucking corps, which figures to be formidable. The other Sheik slabsters are

ARGENTINE HORSEMEN WIN AGAIN

Pampas Riders Warm Up for Finals of Coast Polo by Tipping Local Four

BY FRANK ROCHE

By way of warming up for the finals of the Pacific Coast open championship game, which takes place tomorrow afternoon on the Purple Field, near Alhambra, Argentina's Four Horsemen of the Pampas rode roughshod over a picked Midwick four for a 15-to-4 mallet win yesterday afternoon. The Pampas riders are scheduled to lock horns with Midwick's big four in the championship game tomorrow and from all accounts the South Americans will ride on the field heavy favorites to capture the title trophy.

JUAN REYNAL

Midwick officials announced yesterday that Louis Stoddard, chairman of the United States Polo Association, will referee tomorrow's polo contest. The largest crowd that has ever witnessed a mallet championship in Southern California is expected to be on hand at Midwick tomorrow when the two squads ride on the field.

Yesterday's game was nothing more than a romp for the Argentine team. They rode hither and yon scoring goals almost at will. Midwick had a team on the field that did not measure up in any way with the South Americans, who

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Like Alexander, who sobbed for new worlds to conquer, San Gabriel's brilliant stylist, Mrs. Leona Pressler, today is undisputed queen of California's women golfers.

Not even the unquenchable spirit of Mrs. Gregg Lifur, who staged one of the greatest comebacks ever seen on any golf course, could match Mrs. Pressler's magnificent golf yesterday, when the San Gabriel star added the annual midwinter invitation championship to her string of titles, 3 and 2, in the 36-hole finals played over the north course of the Los Angeles Country Club.

MRS GREGG LIFUR

In a period of less than a year, Mrs. Pressler has won the California State women's championship, the Southern California women's crown for the second consecutive year, the Del Monte women's championship, and now the midwinter championship, California's four major women's tournaments. She has won the midwinter tournament three times.

GAME CLICKS

Mrs. Pressler's game has clicked in every department during the past week. Her woods have been unusually long, her irons have split the pin, and her putting, possibly the one weak spot in her game, has been consistently good.

The fight last night was one of the fastest and hardest-fought contests staged at the Legion Stadium this year.

Each scored a knockdown, Payne putting the Mexican on the floor in the sixth round for a one count, with Lamar having the Ken-

YANKEES SIGN SECOND SON OF "BIG ED" WALSH

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The New York Yankees today announced the signing of Robert E. Walsh, son of "Big Ed" Walsh, former ace of the White Sox pitching staff. Young Walsh, who is 22 years of age, 6ft. 4in. in height, and weighs 205 pounds, will report to manager Shawkey with the first Yankee squad.

Since his brother, Ed Walsh, Jr., left the University of Notre Dame, to join the White Sox, young Robert has been a Notre Dame pitching star. Taught many of the tricks of the iptching trade by their accomplished father before they entered college, the two boys have been stars in intercollegiate baseball.

Robert Walsh is said to combine ability to hit with his pitching skill and some scouts have suggested that he would be a success as major league outfielder, if his pitching should fail to meet the exacting requirements of the big time.

Ed Walsh, Sr., is now a scout for the White Sox.

The Yankees also announced that Henry Johnson, a pitcher, who suffered last season from an injury to his spine, had advised the club that he had fully recovered and would leave tomorow for Hot Springs, Ark., to take the baths preparatory to reporting at St. Petersburgh February 23.

"Bubbles" Hargrave, veteran catcher, was reported taking the baths a tDawson Springs, Ky., and getting in shape for active service.

BASS LOSES ON FOUL

BOSTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Sammy Fuller, featherweight champion of New England, stepped into the junior lightweight class here tonight and defeated Benny Bass of Philadelphia, junior lightweight champion, on a foul in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round bout.

Bass consistently offended in the opening rounds against the hard-hitting local man. He was warned in the third round after hitting Fuller two low punches, and in the fifth dropped Fuller dead in his tracks with a terrific left hook below the belt. Fuller was carried from the ring several minutes later.

Because of a big margin in the third round Fuller had a clear lead when the bout ended.

DOEG BEATEN BY BARNES IN TEXAS NET TOURNEY

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Feb. 7. (AP)—Young Bruce Barnes, University of Texas tennis star, eliminated John Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., today, in straight sets in the quarterfinals of the San Antonio Country Club's first annual invitation tournament.

The youthful Barnes placed his shots and handled Doeg's serve in nice style to win, 9-7, in the first set. With the count in games, 4-2, against him in the second set, Barnes in a great rally won the next four games, the set and the match.

Doeg, the national third ranking netter, was handicapped by a severely cut foot. While he showed no limp, the injury slowed him down.

Ben Gorchakoff, Occidental College netter, lost the first set to Jimmy Quick of Dallas, 3-6, but came back to win the next two sets, 6-3, 6-2.

Berkeley Bell, University of Texas and intercollegiate singles champion, won in easy style from Joe Kauffman, San Antonio, 6-1, 6-1.

In the fourth match of the day Wilmer Allison, Davis Cup player, won from Sidney Wood, Jr., of New York, 6-1, 6-4.

In the doubles, Bell and Barnes, Southwest Conference champions, second ranking intercollegiate doubles team, and holders of various other championships, advanced to the finals by defeating Allison and Will Caswell of Austin, 6-1, 6-1.

Doeg and Gorchakoff, who drew a bye in the first round, had little difficulty in beating Jimmy Quick and Jess Sanders of Dallas, 6-1, 6-3.

In another second-round doubles match, Arthur Seeligson, San Antonio, and Col. W. C. Johnson, Fort Sam Houston, United States Army champions, defeated Leon Walthall, San Antonio, and Maj. Balsam, Fort Sam Houston, 6-3, 6-3.

THOMPSON, STEVENSON MEET FOR COAST TITLE

DEL MONTE (Cal.) Feb. 7. (AP)—Russell Thompson of the University of Southern California, and Richard Stevenson of Stanford University, entered the finals of the Pacific Coast intercollegiate golf championship on the Pebble Beach links here today, by scoring semi-final round victories.

Thompson eliminated Warner Edmonds, Stanford captain, by a 5-and-4 margin, while Stevenson disposed of Allen Moser of Southern California, on the twenty-first hole.

The defeat of Moser, defending titlist, did not come entirely as a surprise to those who have watched Stevenson's development during the last two years. He finished the first nine holes, three down, but won the eleventh, twelfth and fifteenth holes to square the match.

Moser recovered to take the sixteenth hole, but Stevenson came back to square the match by taking the seventeenth. The eighteenth hole was halved in par 5's. On the first extra hole, Moser three-putted for a 5 and a half, while Stevenson three-putted the twentieth for a 6 and a half. A par 4 on the twenty-first to Moser's 5, gave Stevenson the match.

Russell Thompson staged a brilliant comeback to win his match from Edmonds, medalist of the tournament. He almost duplicated Bobby Jones's famous eagle on the long fourteenth, getting on the green in two strokes, but missing his putt by less than an inch. He sank his next attempt for a birdie 4 and the match.

International Cinder Stars Will Battle Tonight in Annual Millrose A. C. Ga

ELDER, LELAND WILL HOOK UP

Speedy College Sprinters Tangle in Feature

Martin Will Ramble Again in Half-Mile Race

University Relay Outfits Renew Old Rivalry

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Picked track-and-field stars of the United States, Canada and two European countries assembled here today for the classic Millrose A.A. games at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Two of the fastest sprinters that ever churned a gridiron or a track will meet when Jack Elder of Notre Dame and Cy Leland of Texas Christian University clash in a sixty-yard sprint with a fifty-yard final to race it out for recognition as "the fastest football player."

Both made great names for themselves last fall by flashy runs for touchdowns. So that nothing will prevent them from having it out, Elder and Leland have been placed in the same heat at sixty yards. They must finish one two to meet again in the fifty-yard final.

In the same event will be Jimmy Daley of Holy Cross; Chet Bowman, Newark A. A.; Howard Kriss, Cleveland A. C.; John Fitzpatrick of the Canadian Olympic team, and Leigh Miller, another crack Canadian.

In the famous "Millrose 600," middle-distance feature annually since 1915, Bernie McCafferty, winner last year, matches strides with Pete Bowen of the University of Pittsburgh, national quarter-mile champion; Eddie Roll, Newark A. C., and Phil Edwards, New York University flyer.

The Rodman Wanamaker mile which in 1929 saw Ray Conger beat Paavo Nurmi will bring together Conger, Joe Sivak of Butler University, Orval Martin of Purdue, and J. L. Montgomery, University of Pennsylvania.

A foreign flavor is added by the entry of Dr. Paul Martin of Switzerland in the half-mile special and Stanislaw Petkiewicz of Poland in the two-mile.

Bob King, the Olympic champion, has a fine field in the high jump and Fred Sturdy, former Yale performer, will attempt to raise the "ceiling" in the pole vault.

Fifty college teams are listed in mile relay races with the University of North Carolina running Rutgers, Lafayette and City College of New York in an intersectional affair; Yale renewing its rivalry with Princeton, and Syracuse, Holy Cross, Georgetown and Boston College fighting it out in another interesting event.

Pilots Out to Break Records

With the track declared to be in the best shape this season and some thirty automobile racing pilots out to shatter all existing speed records, a wild afternoon of racing is predicted for the American Legion Speedway tomorrow when Dr. Fred Loring and officials of the veterans' organization will present a program headlined by a 100-lap feature grind.

Several owners of "big-time" racing stables, who are selecting pilots to drive in the annual 500-mile classic at Indianapolis this year, will be on the grounds it is announced. Which means that many promising dirt-track pilots, including Francis Quinn, Johnny Krieger, Charley Gelston, "Stubby" Stubblefield, "Swede" Smith, and Ernie Triplett will be out to show what they have on the throttle.

Legion speed moguls have undertaken a mammoth and ambitious program by scheduling six events, it is claimed. Tommy Milton, who will referee, is expected to have considerable of a task cut out for him in cramming everything into the one afternoon. In addition to the 100-lap automobile affair, there will be the usual popular Italian Helmet dash, and a twenty-four-lap consolation race.

Cup Team to Sail April 30

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Bobby Jones and his Walker golf cup team will sail for England on Wednesday, April 30, next. Passage was booked today for that date on the Mauretania.

The party will include Jones, George Von Elm, Harrison R. Johnston, amateur champion; Francis Ouimet, Dr. O. F. Willing, George Voigt, Jess Sweetser and Don Moe, the regular playing members of the team, and two alternates, Roland Mackenzie and Maurice McCarthy.

NO ACTION TAKEN IN WALKER BOUT

DETROIT, Feb. 7. (AP)—James Brown, chairman of the State Boxing Commission, took no action today to call off the scheduled bout at Olympia between Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., and Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, but planned an investigation of the suspension of Walker in Illinois, of which, Brown said, he first heard yesterday in a telephone call.

ROBERTS, JONES IN DRAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Eddie Roberts, 151, from Tacoma, Wash., and Gorilla Jones, 154, negro battler of Akron, O., fought ten rounds to a draw here tonight before one of the largest crowds attracted to Dreamland Auditorium.

WOODBURY FIVE COPS

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

THE DEMPSEY CASE

THE OLD Manassa Mauler returned to the home precinct yesterday and immediately put himself on record regarding several interesting matters.

First of all, says Mr. Jack Dempsey, he didn't come back to associate himself in the building of a new $7,000,000 sports palace here.

Secondly, he doesn't know anything about a proposed plan to team up with Jack Doyle.

Thirdly, he admits losing some money in the Chicago Coliseum, but declares he never expected to make any—that the lease on the inside arena is merely to bind the privilege of staging big outdoor fights this summer.

Fourthly, he says, the Jack Sharkey-Phil Scott scrap at Miami will be the bunk—that Scott is anything but a legitimate contender for the heavyweight championship. Dempsey refereed the Scott-Von Porat bout and said he was forced to give the decision to Scott on a foul, but said it was his private opinion Scott would have been knocked out had the bout continued.

The ex-champion has put on considerable weight since he was last here, and his face has a fat, aldermanic cast to it.

However, Dempsey says he only weighs about fifteen pounds more than his ordinary fighting weight, and intimates that during his two weeks' visit he may do a little training.

"Just to keep in shape. Of course, if some foreigner should win the title I might come out of retirement."

HE MADE SOPER'S

SPEAKING of Mr. Dempsey brings up the matter of Soper's ranch, where the ex-champ prepared himself for the wars again after he dropped the crown to Gene Tunney in a rain-soaked ring back in 1926.

The following spring Mr. Dempsey undertook a come-back and it was the spot in the Ojai hills that caught his fancy.

Previous to Mr. Dempsey's decision Pa Soper's ranch was about as well known to Angelenos as Pigeon Point out in the Mojave Desert.

Now it's the haven for all the pugilists in this sector, who want to get away from city snares and buckle down to real work.

George Godfrey conditioned himself there for the Paulino Uzcudun battle.

Mr. Mickey Walker got into such excellent shape at the ranch that he made a chopping-block out of the Wildcat, Mr. Ace Hudkins.

Mr. Fidel La Barba, the former flyweight king, recently inaugurated his featherweight campaign by training at Soper's and his victory over Ignacio Fernandez was a revelation.

I'm not sure just what it is that rejuvenates the boys. Maybe it's the oranges. Pa grows the best in the world.

At any rate, Mr. Frank Churchill, the shrewd and canny manager of Armand Santiago, the knockout Cuban, has his protege training there for the Billy Townsend bout next week.

Santiago has been away from the ring for about two months and was a little short of wind when he opened maneuvers at Soper's.

But so was Mickey Walker. And Mr. Churchill can't help but remember what Walker did to Hudkins. And he seems to be having visions of what Santiago will do to Townsend.

SANTIAGO HEADLINES

THE camp is full of other fighters besides Santiago at the current writing. But with Santiago's bout coming up this week, plus the fact that he has never fought here before, he is the headliner.

Fidel La Barba is there with a pair of overalls and a full set of whiskers.

So is Speedy Dado, the little brown doll of the Philippines.

And Maurice Holtzer, the Frenchman.

And Wirt Ross has some of his stable there.

Santiago is fast on his feet, and hits well with either hand.

He scorns headguards when he spars with his training partners, and Churchill says he is the only topnotch fighter beside Sammy Mandell who does not wear one.

The Cuban is easy on his partners and although a terrific hitter never knocks them down.

Dempsey Seeks Victor of Bout Tuesday Night

Jack Doyle may have to bid against Promoter Jack Dempsey for the services of the winner between Armando Santiago and Billy Townsend. Townsend and Santiago headline the Olympic Tuesday night.

Dempsey, who arrived here yesterday, is on the prowl for fighting material for his Chicago Coliseum and will likely be a ringside guest next week. Santiago is already well known in Chicago. It was there he knocked out Joey Sangor about a year ago.

Townsend has never been East and it is the second time he has been South as far as Los Angeles. He has been a campaigner in the Northwest, fighting out of Vancouver.

Townsend, a pink cheeked kid with hands like a heavyweight, has about an equal chance of stoping Santiago or being tagged himself.

Both Santiago and Townsend have been knocked out. They are both punchers and punchers have to leave openings in their defense in order to get their potshots for kayos.

Townsend looks like a strong fellow in the gymnasium. Some of his sparring partners have had to be picked up. The gymnasium touts give him a fifty-fifty chance against the hard-hitting Cuban.

The first look, fans will get of Santiago will be Tuesday night when he steps into the ring. Frank Churchill took him to Soper's ranch right from the train.

Ebbetts Loses Chastain Bout

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Clyde Chastain, promising young middleweight of Dallas, Tex., scored a surprising victory over Harry Ebbetts of Brooklyn, rated as the hardest-hitting 160-pounder in the country, in ten smashing rounds headlining Promoter Jack Dempsey's show at the Coliseum tonight.

Floored for a count of nine in the first round, Chastain picked himself out of the resin, and outboxed and outgeneraled the slugging Brooklyn fighter in six of the ten rounds. He stepped aside of Ebbetts's left hooks and right crosses, nailing him with short rights to the head and left hooks to the body. Chastain turned on all his speed, and frequently made Ebbetts miss.

George Trafton, the one and only conqueror of Charles Arthur Shires, avenged the fair name of "the great man" by knocking out Battling Criss, Detroit heavyweight, in the third round.

Joey Medill, Chicago, 140-pounder, won a ten-round victory over Spug Myers, Pocatello, Idaho, in the semi-wind-up, by his superior speed. Myers was fouled four times, but the punches were not hard enough to warrant Medill's disqualification.

Jaysee Title is at Stake

Playing for the leadership of the Southern California Junior College Conference, the Los Angeles and Chaffey Jaysees' fives will meet tonight in the Hollywood High School gym. Both of these squads have been undefeated in league competition to date and have won from their rivals by lopsided scores. Coach Harry Campbell's Angel squad is slightly favored, although a Chaffey victory would not be considered a great upset.

Other games that are drawing the attention of jaysee fans are Compton at Long Beach, Pasadena at Santa Monica, Fullerton at San Bernardino, Pomona at Glendale, and Citrus at Santa Ana. Riverside Jaysee draws a bye.

Klein Fails to Sign Contract

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Chuck Klein, home-run champion of the National League last season, has returned his contract unsigned to the Philadelphia club of the National League, it was learned today.

Klein, whose home is in Indianapolis, said he made no counter-proposition, but simply returned the document without his signature. He made forty-three home runs last year, his first full season in a major-league loop. His batting average was .359.

Klein said he did not classify himself as a hold-out, and fully expected to be back in the outfield for the Phillies next summer.

MOOSE JOHNSON WILL PLAY FOR HOLLYWOOD

Moose Johnson, veteran big-league ice-hockey star, was bought by Mel Malwick of Hollywood last night from the Minneapolis club in the American League. Johnson won considerable fame with the Millers for a number of years and should greatly strengthen the Millionaires. He is a giant defense man weighing 200 pounds. The newcomer will make his first appearance, Monday night, when the Hollywood and Los Angeles hockey sextets clash at the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

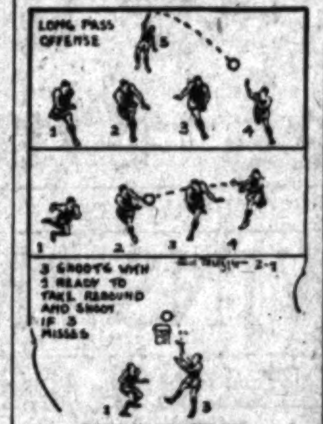
WHITTIER FIVE WINS

With Arrambeide taking high-point honors with 21 points, Whittier defeated Muir Tech last night, 42-22, in a Foothill League game played on the Whittier court. The Whittier Class C team won the preliminary game, 21-19, in an extra-period contest.

HOLLYWOOD CLUB WINS

Coach Bill Paiges's Hollywood Athletic Club cagers drubbed the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. five, 68-17, last night in an A.A.U. game played on the Movie City Club's court. McCormick of Hollywood led the scoring.

Triple Pass Nets Results



BY SOL METZGER

When you get a gang of tall lads on a basketball floor who have dazzling speed of foot, as many of Michigan's teams have, look for a different type of attack than the cut back. When these fellows recover a ball from the backboard you'll see four of them running like mad down four imaginary aisles for their basket, each glancing back for the ball.

Teams of this order play them over the heads of the opposition, a sort of high ball game with no cause for worry on the part of parents or government. Down they come, 1-2-3-4, at breakneck speed.

Suddenly the ball is shot to No. 4 on a long fast overhead hook pass. Attention centers on him. But he no sooner gets it than he short passes to No. 2. Handling the ball slows up the men doing it. That lets Nos. 1 and 3 drive unmolested for the basket. No. 2 passes to No. 3 and the latter steps in and shoots for the basket with No. 1 on the opposite side to heave it back again and in, if No. 3 misses.

Snow Sports on Tap Today

Final plans for the snow sports carnival at Big Bear Lake are now complete with fourteen of the best ski jumpers in Southern California, keen for two days competition, today and tomorrow.

Winter sports, including tobogganing on a 2800-foot slide, amateur skiing, snowshoe races, ice boating, dog sledding, together with exhibition ski jumping will be featured on the program. It is planned that all guests at the carnival will have an opportunity to indulge in some form of winter sports activity, so people of Los Angeles may have an opportunity never before experienced.

Final weather reports indicate that the roads are in excellent condition by way of City Creek and that the snow at the lake is in good shape. Recent freezes have formed safe ice on the lake for ice boating.

A loud speaker hook-up will be maintained in the valley so that all contests may be broadcast.

TROJAN ICE SEXTET FACES UNION OILERS

Coach Charles Hartley's Trojan ice hockey team, Southern California champions for the past two years, makes its first bow of the season in a local rink this afternoon when it tangles with the strong Union Oil sextet in a practice game at the Winter Garden Ice Palace at 2 o'clock.

While the Union Oilers will enter the contest outstanding favorites to win from their less experienced collegiate opponents, a nip-and-tuck battle is expected in view of the fact that the S.C. boys will be working for a trip to Yosemite Valley next week to compete in the annual winter sports carnival for the President Hoover trophy.

The probable line-ups will be as follows:

Southern California.		Union Oil.
Thomsen	Goalie	Claman
Nisbet	Wing	Wells
Fesler	Wing	Simington
Chambers	Center	H. Heyden
Funal	Defense	Pulloch
Apsit	Defense	Henry

COUNTRY BOYS MAY BE STARS

Out-of-Town Youths May Steal Honors

Junior Olympic Games to Test Youngsters

Many Great Athletes Come Out of "Sticks"

BY BRAVEN DYER

This ought to be a big year for the out-of-town boys in the Southern California Junior Olympic Games program. Last season youngsters of Los Angeles and adjacent territory rather hogged the limelight in the Southern California finals, but it looks like a new deal this time for most of these leaders of 1929 are now ineligible for further competition.

Some of the greatest football and track athletes in this region's history were developed in small towns of Southern California. The Oxnard-Ventura region produced that eminent tooth puller, Dr. "Bud" Houser, great shot and discus man of Troy. Cliff Argue, who used to compete in five events during one afternoon and perform well in each, came from that locality.

The town of Santa Ana has turned out countless great athletes. Years ago most of Pomona College's track and football stars hailed from this village. There were Spud Morrison and Ed Covington of football fame and Ray Adkinson on the track. Jeff Cravath and Don Williams, Trojan grid stars, had their early training in Santa Ana.

Whittier's football luminaries of years ago included names which will live for decades. There were such stellar performers as Bull Finch, Joe Buckmaster, the Johns brothers and many others. Verle Murray accounted for scores of points on the track.

Morley Drury, Southern California's great quarterback, hailed from Long Beach, while Nathan Barragar, 1929 captain, played on a team at San Fernando.

Long before these boys were performing there were some great athletes at Citrus Union High School, coached by Boyd Comstock, now directing the Junior Olympic Games in Southern California. Herb Whitted was one of these.

Two years ago Johnny Falcon of Azusa, a small town out on the Foothill Boulevard, brought national recognition to Southern California by winning the senior championship at Atlantic City. The same season saw Rex Heap and Mike Pina, two San Bernardino boys, annexing honors in the same meet.

Last year the four leading Southern California athletes were residents of Los Angeles neighboring cities. Robert San Jose, senior champion, hailed from San Pedro, while Fernando Ramos, runner-up, was a Los Angeles boy. Vane Baker, crowned junior title winner, called Huntington Park his home, while Jerry Deal, his closest competitor, resided in Los Angeles.

Announcement of the free trip by ocean liner from New York via the Panama Canal to Los Angeles has aroused terrific interest among boys who plan to enter the 1930 Junior Olympic Games program. This reward will be given the four leading athletes in the Southern California finals slated to be held about June 1.

SHELLY SIGNS STAR CONTRACT

ED BAECHT ON WAY HERE FOR ANGEL TRAINING

Big Ed Baecht, the cast-off Philly right-hander, who was picked up by the Angels last summer and responded with a great showing, has signed his 1930 Angel contract and is now driving here to be on hand when the Seraph batterymen go into training at Wrigley Field on the 24th inst.

Baecht, although he didn't join the Cherubs until late in June, won fourteen games and ranked second to Vernon Gomez, Seal southpaw, in allowing the least earned runs. Baecht has a world of stuff and last year finally learned to control it. Manager Jack Lelivelt is counting on the big fellow to win more than twenty ball games for the Angels this season, for Baecht now has confidence in his ability.

The husky Seraph right-hander is still a youngster, and Angel officials believe that major-league clubs will be bidding for his services after the 1930 campaign is over.

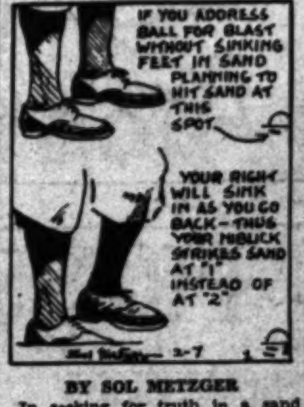
Firm Footing is Needed



IF YOU ADDRESS BALL FOR BLAST WITHOUT SINKING FEET IN SAND PLANNING TO HIT SAND AT THIS SPOT
YOUR RIGHT WILL SINK IN AS YOU GO BACK—THUS YOUR NIBLICK STRIKES SAND AT "1" INSTEAD OF AT "2"

In seeking for truth in a sand trap the golfer must study the sand itself. It is not a firm substance as all who read the Good Book learned in infancy. Thus, one must study its consistency and condition in each sand trap encountered.

As every golf shot needs a firm footing for balance be sure to grind your feet as deeply into the sand as you can when addressing the ball. All have seen players enter a trap of sand that seems firm. They did everything they should in taking their stance but they dubbed the shot. Why?

The reason is that when addressing the ball they did not sink in because the weight was distributed between both feet. But as they made their backswings, the weight transferring mostly to the right leg, that foot sunk in. Result, the blade of their niblick did not enter the sand as they figured. It struck this surface an inch or so farther back. Dig into sand with both feet. And when you get the ball out rake over the holes you have made.

Why waste the years trying to lower your score by disregarding instructions? Sol Metzger has prepared a free leaflet on "The Pivot," which he will send to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Trailing on the short end of a 14-to-7 score at the end of the first half, the Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball team staged one of the most sensational comebacks ever witnessed in these parts to score twenty-eight points in the last half while holding the Pacific Coast Club five to eight markers, and ultimately ring up a 35-to-22 victory. Trojan Track Team in Meet Hopeful candidates for the varsity and freshman track teams at U.S.C. will get together this afternoon in an informal meet which Coach Dean Cromwell has arranged for a weeding-out process. None of the established varsity stars are to compete, but a number of not-so-well-known candidates, as well as all of the freshman cinder athletes, will gallop through their paces in an effort to land on their respective first-string squads.

UPLIFTER RIDERS IN DECIDING GAME

Uplifters' Club poloists will ride against the Santa Monica Blues tomorrow afternoon in the third and decisive game of their series at the Beverly Boulevard grounds. BEAR CREW COACH SHA UP CHAMPIONSHIP SQ

BERKELEY, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Up to his old psychological tricks again, Coach Ky Ebright of the University of California's rowing varsity today demoted four of his world championship veterans from the first boat to the second. The four men who were in the shell which brought California the international title in 1928 and who today were doing second-string duty include Hub Caldwell, Jim Workman, Bill Dally and Jack Brink. The truth of the matter is that these men are far and away the best material on hand, but Ky will play these psychological games.

MRS. PRESSLER ANNEXES TITLE

Willie Low, 7 and 5; Miss Helen Lawson, 5 and 4; Mrs. J. C. Woerner, 7 and 6; and yesterday Mrs. Lifur, rated America's sixth greatest woman golfer, 3 and 2, Mrs. Pressler could probably defeat any woman in the world.

Mrs. Lifur, that doughty, scrappy little golfer from the Santa Monica Canyon, was often down, but never out, throughout yesterday's match.

Putting spectacularly, Mrs. Lifur was 1 up at the end of nine holes, only to turn the halfway mark, 3 down. At the twenty-fourth hole, she was 6 down. Most golfers would have tossed away their clubs and called it quits—but not Mrs. Lifur!

Electrifying the gallery with a smashing series of five men's pars in a row, Mrs. Lifur accomplished the impossible by winning back those five holes, and found herself only 1 down going to the thirtieth hole.

But the strain was too great, and Mrs. Pressler flashed home, a well-deserving winner.

Always a fine putter, Mrs. Lifur featured the outgoing nine with six one-putt greens for a 38. Mrs. Pressler was out in 40, and reserved the procedure coming in to finish with 40-38—78, while Mrs. Lifur cracked to come in with 39-44—82.

Men's par: Out	554 344 353—36
Mrs. Pressler	555 354 373—40
Mrs. Lifur	644 354 354—38
Men's par: In	434 453 444—35—71
Mrs. Pressler	434 563 445—38—78
Mrs. Lifur	535 554 575—44—82

The nineteenth hole in the afternoon proved to be the turning point.

On the green in 4 against Mrs. Pressler's 3, Mrs. Lifur unleased one of her flashes of putting brilliance by canning a twenty-five foot putt for a 5. Mrs. Pressler had a difficult, downhill putt of fifteen feet, which she sunk to win with a 4. It was a drifting putt that just barely reached the hole, and then dropped in the side way.

That put Mrs. Pressler, 4 up.

Mrs. Lifur held Mrs. Pressler even for the next three holes, but dropped the fifth and sixth in a row to go 6 down.

Mrs. Lifur started her rally on the 235-yard seventh hole. Her spoon shot was twenty-five feet short, but Mrs. Pressler drove the trap, her out was over the green, and she picked up when Mrs. Lifur laid her approach stiff.

A missed brassie second cost Mrs. Pressler the long eighth hole. She was on in a 4, against Mrs. Lifur's 3, and both took two putts.

Another spoon shot, ten feet short of the pin, gave Mrs. Lifur the ninth hole, when Mrs. Pressler again drove a trap and took a 4 to get down.

On the tenth hole, 405 yards, Mrs. Pressler dubbed her second, while Mrs. Lifur was on the edge in two and down in two putts for a win.

Another sparkling spoon, pin high on the 220-yard eleventh hole, netted a three and five straight for Mrs. Lifur, as Mrs. Pressler was short and took three from the edge of the green.

MRS. LIFUR CRACKS

The energy required to stage that great spurt was too much, however, and Mrs. Pressler won the twelfth and fourteenth holes to be dormie 3 at fifteenth, which they halved with 3's. They then halved the sixteenth, the same hole where Mrs. Lifur lost to Miss Kathleen Wright in the finals a year ago, to give Mrs. Pressler the match.

Mrs. Pressler (out)	455 354 564—41
Mrs. Lifur	555 365 353—40
Mrs. Pressler (in)	544 563 5x
Mrs. Lifur	435 573 5x

This year's midwinter tournament, with an excellent field, was one of the outstanding women's tournaments staged in the Southland. Scoring was better than ever before, the entry was just short of a record, and the matches, for the most part, were closely contested.

Mrs. G. M. Midgley, president of women's auxiliary, deserves a great deal of credit for the excellent manner in which the tournament was conducted.

Results of other matches were as follows:

NONQUALIFIERS FLIGHT

Mrs. R. Howell defeated Mrs. F. S. Hardin, 4 and 2.

SECOND FLIGHT

THIRD FLIGHT

WELCOME TO OUR CITY!

That's how Gwynn Wilson, left, and Arnold Eddy, right, greeted Tom Lieb to Los Angeles, when he stepped off the Golden State limited yesterday morning. Lieb coached the Notre Dame team that defeated the Trojans, 13 to 12, in Chicago, and came here to look over the situation at Loyola, preparatory to accepting a job there as head coach. Wilson and Eddy, being graduate manager and assistant at U.S.C., were on hand to show that they hoped the cordial relations, which exist between the Trojans and the Irish, might be maintained with the new Lion mentor. LIEB APPROVES LION OUTLOOK yesterday's tour of the new campus, and an all-day conference with Victor Lawler, graduate manager of the school, Lieb announced that he was pleased with the outlook at Loyola, and that he would seriously consider signing the proffered three-year contract.

Officials of Loyola, a number of alumni and former Notre Dame students were on hand to greet the prospective mentor yesterday morning, as was, also, a delegation from the University of Southern California. Lawler, Walter T. Casey, a member of the Loyola Athletic Board, Father Acquistipace, Si Masters, John Costello, Joseph Scott, Gwynn Wilson and Arnold Eddy were among those present. The latter two represented the Trojan institution, and voiced their hope that Lieb would accept the Loyola bid. Lieb was in charge of the team that nosed out the Trojans 13-12 at Chicago last year.

ARGENTINE FOUR COPS POLO TILT

outrated the local players 24 goals to 14 as squads.

Howland Paddock, one of Midwick's most popular players, suffered an injury in the fourth chukker that may keep him on the shelf for some time. The thumb of his right hand was broken when a ball crashed into it. His place in the game was taken by Capt. Wesley White after the accident.

Juan Reynal and Capt. Andrada were outstanding for the invading team yesterday. Juan Reynal tallied five times. Andrada and Alfredo Harrington scored four apiece.

Lindsey Howard, playing with Midwick, was the best man wearing the Purple colors. Howard gave the Argentine riders a number of good rubs during the afternoon while pursuing the white pill around the greensward.

Before the championship game tomorrow the prize collection of Argentine ponies and their picturesque Gaucho grooms will parade for the fans. Some of the finest mounts in polo will go on exhibition for Southland sport followers before and during the contest.

The ball will be tossed in by Wesley White, Midwick's capable polo manager, at 2:30.

PERCH AND SAND DABS CAUGHT OFF OLYMPIC

HERMOSA BEACH, Feb. 7.—Perch and sand dabs are being caught in large numbers from the Olympic fishing barge anchored two miles offshore here, according to Capt. J. M. Andersen, skipper of the big pleasure fishing craft. Yesterday Bill Lamar of Los Angeles, led the catches with over a half a sack full of the scaly blue boys and the little flat fish to his credit.

The ever-present mackerel are also on hand, but visiting anglers have been going for perch and sand dabs mostly of late.

Compton Wins Over Inglewood

Coach Hershel Smith's Compton Junior College track and field team won a hard-fought dual meet from Coach Dick Arnett's Inglewood Sentinels yesterday afternoon at Inglewood, 60½ to 44½. Coach Jim Kelley has a starting line-up composed of six-footers and the boys have plenty of basketball class as well as height.

SELIGSON, HUNTER IN NET FINAL

Hard Drivers Meet Today for Indoor Championship of United States

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Frank Hunter and Julius Seligson, two of the hardest drivers in the game, reached the final round of the national indoor tennis tournament today. Tomorrow they will fight it out for the championship.

Hunter, the New Rochelle (N.Y.) veteran, who is ranked second only to Bill Tilden, is heavily favored to capture the title he held eight years ago. He and the Lehigh collegian have met four times in the past and Seligson never has won.

Youth is on Seligson's side, however, and he demonstrated in the semifinals today that he is close to his great form of 1928, when he won the intercollegiate championship and a ranking of ninth in the national.

Both players reached the final to the tune of straight-set victories. Arrayed against J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., former Canadian indoor champion, Seligson through powerful service and fierce driving, won by 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

Hunter was easily the master in his semifinal match with Perrine Rockafellow of New York, at 6-2, 6-1, 7-5.

KERN AND CASANOVA IN MAIN GO TONIGHT

Johnny Kern, blond St. Paul middleweight, will make a strong bid for local fame tonight at the Main-street Athletic Club, when he tackles Sandy Garrison Casanova, one of the chief ring prides of the local Mexican colony. Kern lost a close decision to Joe Peregrina in his first local start several weeks ago, but declares he is now in shape for the first time since he left Minnesota. Casanova has flattened most of his opponents.

Other bouts tonight include Louie Hernandez vs. Ernie Gross, 165 pounds; Rudy Mendez vs. Frankie Burnell, 148 pounds; Ignacio Galvin vs. George Rellman, 150 pounds; Joe Parra vs. Billy Murphy, 160 pounds, and Gus Oratowski vs. Cecil Myart, 200 pounds.

Canadian Rail to Split Stock Four for One

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (Exclusive) Canadian Pacific Railway Company will split its ordinary stock in the ratio of four to one, subject to the necessary legislation under the Canadian Railway Act, according to E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the railroad, who confirmed reports as to such action in Montreal today.

The new ordinary shares were admitted to the security department of the New York Produce Exchange today on a when-issued basis and the opening transaction was at 55 3-4. Strength in the stock which has been in evidence for many days was followed this morning by an advance of 14 points to 218 on the New York Stock Exchange on buying chiefly from Montreal. The stock is now at the highest price since last October.

It is understood that announcement will also be made shortly relative to a proposition to conduct a customers' ownership plan which would result in broader Canadian distribution.

FINANCE COMPANY'S BUSINESS SHOWS GAIN

Merchants' Finance Corporation during January showed a gross volume of business in Southern California of $505,000 as compared with $484,900 in the preceding month, an increase of more than 4 per cent, according to a statement issued yesterday by George Whiting, vice-president. Mr. Whiting said that in view of the seasonal decline normally experienced during the mid-winter months, the increase is indicative of a good upward trend of demand on the part of the buying public.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The cotton market declined sharply again today. Steadier foreign markets were reflected by a slight opening advance, but quotations soon broke under renewed liquidation combined with local and southern selling. Prices declined more than $1.50 per bale from yesterday's closing quotations, with May contracts selling off to 15.57. Offerings then tapered off somewhat and the midafternoon market was nervous but a trifle steadier at rallies of 5 or 6 points from the lowest.

PRICE CUT FEAR HITS OILS

Selling of Stocks Prompted by Bearish News, But Movement Checked by Resistance

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Oil shares naturally sold off yesterday to reflect the uncertainty over the continuation of curtailment in crude production. But the surprising development was the resistance offered to liquidation, even in face of bearish comment emanating from the headquarters of the Standard Oil Company of California.

Through unofficial channels the Standard company dropped the hint that the situation is "critical." It was further intimated that demoralization will follow unless producers in Southern California not only agree on curtailment schedules but decide to practice strict enforcement.

MAY CUT PRICE

What this means, of course, is that purchasing companies will slash crude-oil prices as drastically as they did last fall unless curtailment is made effective. The stock market, however, was evidently not greatly excited over this prospect, as yesterday's opposition to selling indicated. Either this attitude on the part of traders and investigators reflects confidence in early adjustment of troubles, or it is another manifestation of the axiom that the West "never sells the oils."

It is true that the gasoline market is straightening out, which may account for the unwillingness of oil holders to change their position. But if the purchasing companies cut crude oil, there is a strong likelihood that gasoline prices this time will tumble along with the crude material.

In the annual report of the Union Oil Company, released yesterday, a concise summary of the situation is presented by President W. L. Stewart. After observing that 1929 was marked by a great overproduction of crude oil in California and by an abnormal increase in stocks above ground, Mr. Stewart pointed out:

"The results for the year 1930 for all concerned in the oil business will be almost entirely dependent upon the effectiveness of the conservation efforts relating to crude-oil output, a reduction in the quantities of oil above ground and a decrease of oil run through the refineries, together with as faithful observance of sound business methods in the distribution of petroleum products. After so much strenuous and intelligent work by the leaders in the industry, we are hopeful of steadily improving conditions during the current year."

TREND UNCERTAIN

Progressive oil company managements are thoroughly alive to the urgent need for the introduction of business economics into the industry. There is a sufficient number of insurgents, however, to seriously interfere with constructive efforts for stabilization of the business, and nobody can forecast when and if the two groups will see eye to eye.

Even in the Midcontinent, where co-operative efforts have been the most successful, there is disagreement over the best course of actions to pursue. Not satisfied with the progress made the Standard of New Jersey group recently initiated a cut in crude oil with the intention of forcing producers to curtail. But other large companies declined to follow, maintaining that co-operation was succeeding and would continue to succeed.

Oil stockholders, who sit patiently on the sidelines watching this interminable contest between the constructionists and insurgents, have two options. They can either wait until the game is played to a finish, or forfeit their seats and pay another admission price when victory is assured for one or the other.

Gillette Razor Rumor Spiked

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—J. E. Aldred, chairman of the board of Gillette Safety Razor Company, mailed today a statement to shareholders of his company stating that the patent situation concerning the new razor blade which his company is about to put on the market as well as the situation regarding the manufacture and sales is being developed in a usual and orderly manner and that the Gillette company anticipates no delay or difficulty in producing and distributing the new product.

This statement is designed to offset rumors prevalent in stock-market circles regarding the new razor blade and intimating that the company has become involved in patent difficulties regarding the design and manufacture of the new blade. These rumors are said to have been responsible for the recent action of Gillette stock on the New York and Boston Stock exchanges.

Jantzen Plans Mill in London

Jantzen Knitting Mills plans the erection soon of a factory in London from which to supply European markets and has acquired a site of six and one-half acres for the purpose, Irwin S. Adams, assistant secretary, announced yesterday, officially confirming rumors of projected manufacture in Europe which have been heard for some time.

The site was purchased a few months ago and since then three acres have been sold to the Sperry Gyroscope Company, Ltd. Plans call for the erection of a factory having 22,500 square feet of floor space and it is intended to begin actual production late this year. Operations will begin on a small scale and will be extended as rapidly as workmen can be trained to turn out merchandise of the necessary standard, he said.

WESTERN PIPE TELLS INCOME

California Company Reports Year's Operations

Net of $919,980.98 More Than Double 1928 Total

Sales Gain in Period Given as $4,437,689.80

Net profits of the Western Pipe and Steel Company of California for 1929 more than doubled the earnings for 1928 and reached a total of $919,980.98, after all charges including Federal taxes, equivalent after preferred dividends, to $5.84 a share on 157,610 shares outstanding at the close of the year, James A. Talbot, president, announced yesterday.

The 157,610 shares outstanding does not include 13,141 shares issued in the last few days of December in the acquisition of the Western Pipe and Steel Company of Illinois, no part of the earnings of which have been taken into account.

INCOME LARGE

The profits of the California company compare with earnings of $399,291.99, after all charges, for 1928, and represent an increase for the year ended December 31, last, of $520,688.99, or about 130 per cent. The company was a closed corporation up to last August.

Unfilled orders at December 31, last, amounted to slightly more than $2,000,000, which is the highest for any similar period in the history of the company, Mr. Talbot stated.

Total sales for the year aggregated $11,537,888.27, an increase of $4,437,689.80, or more than 62 per cent over the sales for 1928. The income before charges for bond interest, depreciation and Federal income taxes amounted to $1,436,948.86, or $9.12 a common share, against $628,345.26, in 1928, an increase of $808,603.60, in nearly 130 per cent.

DEPRECIATION HEAVY

Depreciation charge-off amounted to $319,403.52, equivalent to $2.02 per share of stock outstanding. Bond interest and Federal income taxes amounted to $197,564.36.

Current assets as of December 31, last, were 2.22 times current liabilities and amounted to $4,494,896.27, against $3,053,459.28 at the close of 1928. Current liabilities amounted to $2,027,733.31, against $1,879,-013.85 at the end of 1928, when the current ratio was about 1.6 to 1.

While negotiations for the acquisition of the Western Pipe and Steel Company of Illinois were completed last December, no part of its earnings is included in this report. However, the company is on a substantial earning basis, Mr. Talbot said, and in addition to furnishing the California company a much wider outlet for its products, it will materially add to the net profits for the year of 1930.

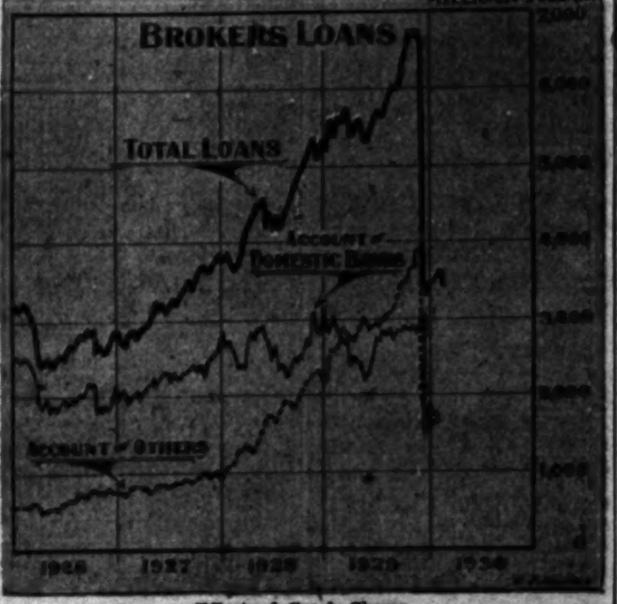
CURVE OF BROKER LOANS DIPS

Volume Drops Sharply to 1927 Level



Effect of Crash Shown

FROM the above chart it will be seen that the sharp reduction in brokers' loans since autumn has carried the volume of loans down to levels existing in 1927.

While the reduction has been general, member bank loans for the account of "others" have been reduced especially sharply.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 5

Recognizing that single persons, by reason of the care and support of others, are entitled to consideration, the law provides that the "head of a family" shall be allowed the same personal exemption granted a married person, $3500. The head of a family is defined by regulations relating to the income tax as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation."

Several factors are involved in determining whether a taxpayer is to be thus classified. In maintaining the home and providing for the dependent individual or individuals, the taxpayer's right to exercise family control must be based on some moral or legal obligation. The element of either legal or financial dependency must exist. A taxpayer who has minor children is legally liable for their support. If he supports and exercises family control over them, even though they have an income of their own sufficient for their support and maintenance, he is classified as the head of a family. If he does not support them, however, but does exercise family control, the common home being maintained, he cannot be classified as the head of a family.

If by reason of illness or absence on account of business the taxpayer and dependents are separated, the common home being maintained and the taxpayer furnishing the support, the exemption as head of a family is allowed. Moreover, if a taxpayer does not maintain a common home but the dependents are at school or supported with relatives, or in a boarding-house, while he lives elsewhere, the exemption is still allowed. If, however, without necessity, the dependent continuously makes his home elsewhere, his benefactor is not the head of a family.

For income-tax purposes, there can be only one head of a family. The exemption cannot be divided.

(This is the fifth in a series of thirty-five articles on Federal income tax procedure supplied by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.)

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The ease in money which accompanied the reduction in the Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate was a favorable factor in today's bond market and prices moved moderately higher in the busiest session of the year. Sales crossed the $12,000,000 mark, nearly half a million above yesterday's total.

Time funds were quoted at 4½ per cent for the short maturities and 4¼ flat for the longer dates. These figures represented declines of about ¼ per cent. In response to this trend in interest charges, United States government securities traded actively, but finished with some irregularity. The Fourth Liberty Loan sold off ⅛ on the day, while the Liberty 3½s and the Treasury 3⅜s of 1943-47 made tiny fractional advances.

First grade rails and the utilities had an upward trend, but the features of the domestic list were provided by some of the secondary carrier obligations. Seaboard Air Line issues gained 2 to 2½ points. Seaboard All Florida 6s, series B, shot up 8 points and the A's rose 3. Florida East Coast 5s climbed 3½ points.

Activity in the listed rails of investment caliber embraced Canadian National 5s, Burlington 4½s, Great Northern 7s, New Haven 4½s and Pennsylvania general 4½s, all of which held firm. Southern Railway general 4s rose a full point.

Several utilities moved briskly in extensive trading. American Telephone 5s of 1965 crossed 101 and the 1960 maturity rose ¾. Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s and Western Union gold 5s were other favorites, the latter turning over to the extent of $130,000, principal amount, and losing a shade on the day.

The industrials were rather neglected and ruled steady. Chile Copper 5s, Goodrich 6½s, Goodyear 5s, Lorillard 7s and Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s exhibited some vitality, but net changes proved inconsequential.

It was another busy day for the French Republic bonds. The 7½s rallied ½ a point, but were unable to hold the gain and had a small net loss. A $200,000 block of these bonds changed hands, swelling the day's volume to about $670,000, par value. The 7s lost ⅛. British 5½s lost ⅛. Sweden 5½s gained the same amount.

With attention turning to bonds of more seasoned types, the stock privilege division was quiet. The American Telephone 4½s moved in good volume, selling up a point and then turning downward to close ⅛ lower. Both of the Alleghany 5s advanced a point.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Prices turned irregular on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday. Claude Neon of Delaware and Gladding McBean were particularly active and while a large number of other issues were traded sales were principally for small amounts.

Neon of Delaware advanced from an opening at 41 5-8 to 42 1-4 but reacted at this level to close at 41½, off 1-8 net. Neon of New York sold down 1-4 to 12⅛ while Electrical Products of Washington advanced 5-8 to 14 5-8. Gladding McBean with a turnover of more than 2000 shares touched a high at 62 but dropped back to 60½, unchanged for the day.

Diamond Electric, a recent feature, sold off 1 1-4 points to 48½ on light sales. Pokker reacted 3-4 to 17⅛ while Chapman Ice Cream advanced a point to 26½. Oil shares dropped lower. Universal, off 2 1-8 to 13; Hancock, 1-4 to 15; Occidental 22½ cents to 1.37½ and Exeter, 20 cents to 1.80.

Central News cables yesterday stated that at a meeting of the British-Dutch liaison committee of rubber growers certain recommendations have been reached which will be submitted to their respective associations. Angeles, to consider new plans for curtailment.

Just what is expected of the operators in the principal producing fields will probably be known early next week. It was recently announced that in order to get the State's potential, that producing companies will be ordered to give their wells a six-day production test. That plan now is effective in the Elwood field and it was reported that the Santa Fe Springs field will be opened wide the middle of next week to establish its real possibilities.

its affiliate, Engineers Public Service, which mounted 6 and 4 points to new tops for the year, although most of these gains were lost before the close. American Can, American Bosch, American Tobacco B and Mack Truck were other shares to meet with strong buying. Gillette rallied sharply in short covering prompted by an optimistic statement from the management, contradicting disconcerting rumors which have been circulated of late.

Simmons continued under pressure, dropping about 5 points to a new low for the movement at 72. Allied Chemical, J. I. Case, Columbian Carbon, Du Pont, General Electric, Paramount and Western Union closed about 2 to 5 points lower. Industrial Rayon dropped 6 points to a new low for the year at 101. United States Steel closed a point lower.

Commodities were irregular, with cotton again dropping sharply; closing quotations were about $2 a bale lower, making a loss of $12 in the past three weeks. Wheat moved over a wide range, but closed fractionally higher, helped by a bullish farm board statement and smaller Argentine exports. Corn also closed firm.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to ease, but sterling cables held steady at $4.86½.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—A slow but generally steady market prevailed on all classes with a practical clearance made by the noon hour. The majority of receipts were she stock with only a load or two of steers suitable for killers. Feeder buyers, however, secured several lots of light steers.

About a load and a half of common to medium 755 to 827-pound intermountain steers went to killers at 11.00 with a part load of 934-pound weights at 10.50. Late Thursday two loads of 1121-pound steers brought 11.35. Two loads and several small lots of 472 to 800-pound steers went to feeders at 9.00@9.50.

A small lot of 855-pound intermountain heifers brought 10.25, with other small lots at 7.50@9.50. Odd head of medium cows reached 8.75, with bulk of plainer kinds including several loads going at 7.25@8.25. Low cutters and cutters ranged from 4.00@6.75, with a few strong weight cutters at 7.00. Odd head of bulls of good quality brought 8.00@8.35, with common down to 6.75.

CALVES—Receipts consisted mainly of southwestern calves. Sales were generally steady, with medium to good milk vealers selling at 13.00@15.00. Several loads of southwestern calves brought 10.25@12.25 and averaged 135 to 390 pounds, with a small lot of 365-pound kinds at 13.00. Plainer and thin fleshed calves made 8.50@10.00.

HOGS—Offerings of four loads of Nebraska butchers were quickly taken by a local killer at 15@25c higher rates. One load averaged 197 pounds and topped at 11.25. Two loads of 191 to 194-pound weights made 11.15, with a load of 177-pound averages at 11.10. Practically no pigs or packing sows were included.

MINING COMPANY SHOWS NET LOSS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Butte and Superior Mining Company for the quarter ended December 31, last, today reported a net loss of $43,870 after taxes but before depreciation and depletion as compared with a net income of $33,434 in the 1928 quarter. For the year ended December 31, last, the net loss was $5984, as against a net income of $81,453, or 27 cents a share in the preceding year.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Backing and filling movements characterized today's curb market, with closing prices irregular. The reduction in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate apparently had been discounted as it failed to arouse much bullish enthusiasm. Traders, who had built up profits earlier in the week, showed a disposition to convert them into cash, and little new buying was attracted by the easier credit situation.

American Gas and Electric showed consistent strength, touching a new high for the year at 136¾, and then easing a point to close with a net gain of 3¾. American Light and Traction, Commonwealth Edison and Duke Power jumped 4½ to 7½ points on small transactions, but American and Foreign Power, Electric Bond and Share and the Arkansas Natural Gas issues lost 1 to 2 points.

Humble Oil advanced 2 points and Gulf sagged about a point, with the other petroleum issues holding fairly steady. Airplane stocks were quiet with a gain of 1½ points in Dayton Airplane Engine and a smaller gain in Western Air Express. Newmont dropped 3½ points despite the improved demand for the metal shares on the "Big Board." Engineers Gold doubled in price, selling above $2 a share after having been down to 25 cents a few weeks ago.

Investment Trust shares displayed a firm undertone, Fourth National Investors, Lehman Corporation, Marine Midland, New York Investors and State Financial all advancing a point or so. Goldman Sachs closed unchanged at 39⅞, after having sold a point above that figure. Pennroad improved fractionally on a heavy turnover.

Aluminum Company of America jumped 9½ points on a few sales and A. and P. and United Chemical each advanced about 5 points.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

METAL MARKET

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says:

Bulk awards of railroad track material have been light lately with the regular requirements of the railroads already having been entered, but demand for miscellaneous material is in fair volume.

Large consumers of sheet steel in the East are showing more interest in their requirements and the mills in the district are operating above 60 per cent of capacity.

Structural steel demand at Philadelphia is improving. Specifications for strip steel at Pittsburgh continue to gain although the improvement in automotive requirements is spotty and tonnage is expanding slowly. Iron and steel scrap is stronger, reflecting improved steel works operations.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard, Wash. at Verm't.—"Behind the Make-up." Excellent characterizations by William Powell and Hal Skelly make a fair story interesting.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Devil May Care." The adventurous spirit of Napoleonic days is brought to light by Ramon Novarro in an acceptable musical drama of love and bravery.

Criterion, 642 South Grand.—"Anna Christie." Greta Garbo speaks the lines of Eugene O'Neill's heroine in fine style. Clarence Brown has done some of his best directing.

Figueroa, Fig. at Sta. Barbara.—"Sweetie." Song and dance in a prep school, done in a breezy manner. Presents Nancy Carroll, Jack Oakie and funny Stuart Erwin.

Filmarte, 1228 Vine—"The Loves of Jeanne Ney." Reviewed in today's Times.

Grauman's Chinese, 6925 Hollywood Blvd.—"Rogue Song." Lawrence Tibbett makes a powerful impression on screen fans in a vagabond romance of nearly great quality.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Blvd.—"Their Own Desire." The effects of parental divorce upon modern youth are shown in this pleasant and sophisticated drama starring Norma Shearer.

Loew's State, Bdwy. at 7th.—"The Cock-Eyed World." Many a situation is taken right out of the hands of the Marines in this comic series of their adventures. Exploited by Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen, El Brendel and Lily Damita.

Million Dollar, Bdwy. at 3rd.—"Half Way to Heaven." Acrobats made very human in a quietly realistic story telling of Charles Rogers's love for Jean Arthur.

Palace, Bdwy. bet. 6th & 7th.—"Romance of the Rio Grande." On the order of "Old Arizona." Well played by Warner Baxter, Mary Duncan and Mona Maris.

Paramount, Hill at 6th.—"The Love Parade." Delightful satire in operetta form about the effects of love on royalty. Lubitsch directed Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald.

Ritz, 5200 Wilshire—"Three Live Ghosts." A comedy drama about three soldiers reported more dead than alive. Featuring Robert Montgomery, Claud Allister and Beryl Mercer.

R.K.O., Hill at 8th.—"The Vagabond Lover." Rudy Vallee croons some of his well-known songs but makes just fair headway as a screen hero.

R.K.O., Orpheum, Bdwy. at 9th—"No, No, Nanette." If you like the music, you'll like the picture, something gay and colorful with Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray.

Uptown, Western at 10th.—"Oh Yeah?" James Gleason and Robert Armstrong are two brakemen whose romances with a couple of waitresses make frequent comedy.

United Artists, Bdwy. nr. 9th.—"The Locked Door." Murder and mystery, marriage and society, all made rather thrilling behind closed doors. Rod La Rocque is in it.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at 7th.—"Son of the Gods." An unusual picture of fine workmanship, relating fast moving drama on the continent. Barthelmess in a Chinese role.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Wedding Rings." Reviewed in today's Times.

Westlake, 638 Alvarado—"Romance of the Rio Grande." See above.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th.—"Journey's End." R. C. Sherriff's fine war play is produced splendidly by an English company with Basil Gill.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland. "Ladies of the Jury." The jury reveals itself as quite a humorous group in this farce comedy led by the capricious Mary Boland.

Hollywood Playhouse, 1735 Vine.—"It Pays to Advertise." A good comedy about how love can come from making soap. Robert McWade returns.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th.—"New Moon." The popular operetta is well put on, featuring the song hit, "Lover Come Back to Me." Perry Askam and Josephine Houston.

Mayan, Hill at 11th.—"Bambina." Some nice music though not much plot, describes this Venetian operetta. Nancy Welford's personality stands out, and there are Ernest Wood and Al St. John.

Mission Play, San Gabriel.—The beautiful annual pageant of the settling of California, up to its usual standard. With R. D. MacLean.

Music Box, 6126 Hollywood Blvd.—"And So To Bed." James B. Fagan's adventurous comedy of seventeenth century naughtiness, delightfully done by members of the new Civic Repertory Theater.

President, Bdwy. at 8th.—"Give and Take." Big business in a canning factory, with Kolb and Dill arguing a lot and the audience laughing just as much.

PRISONERS' BAD GLANDS DISCOVERED

Bay City Physician Tells of Findings in His Study of Men at San Quentin

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Men in San Quentin prison convicted of murder all have abnormal thyroid glands, Dr. Ralph Arthur Reynolds, San Francisco physician, announced today following two months' first hand study of the prison's inmates in co-operation with Dr. Leo L. Stanley, resident prison physician.

Dr. Reynolds said his study convinced him of three facts; that every murderer, potential and actual, exhibits oversecretion of the thyroid gland, that every forger exhibits undersecretion of the pituitary gland, and that every social misfit displays malsecretion of some gland.

The physician told of one youthful slayer who for no apparent reason attacked other prisoners with anything he could lay hands on, and as a consequence had spent 180 days in the dungeon. The youth had an abnormal thyroid gland, said Dr. Reynolds, on which "we operated and reduced to what we thought normality. Today that prisoner is entirely tractable." Results were surprising, he said, in sixty other cases personally treated.

Out-of-town calls arrest attention and get business

"GOOD MORNING, MR. BREWSTER. This is Mr. Bagley calling from Los Angeles. We are able to quote a new low price on less-than-carload lots of that merchandise. Shall I send you a shipment while the demand is brisk?"

The business man who uses the telephone has a definite advantage over rival salesmen.

DANGERS UNDER BOX BILL CITED

Warnings Voiced at Meeting of State Chamber Group

Committee Report Foretells Serious Labor Shortage

Array of Subjects Discussed by Regional Assembly

Vigorous opposition to the Box bill restricting immigration of Mexican labor, was voiced by Dr. T. C. Young of Glendale, chairman of the southern council of the California State Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of the regional body in the Alexandria yesterday.

Warnings sounded by Dr. Young as to the possible effect of such legislation were emphasized by A. C. Hardison of Santa Paula, chairman of the agricultural committee, in a report in which it was asserted that California faces a serious labor shortage because of the reduced supply of Mexican workers.

It was pointed out that as a result of strict enforcement of immigration requirements, along with the new deportation law that became effective July 1, last, entrants from Mexico have been reduced from almost 100,000 annually to approximately 16,000.

INVESTIGATION URGED

Incorporated in the report was a statement by F. J. Palomares, manager of the Agricultural Labor Bureau of the San Joaquin Valley, Inc., predicting a labor shortage and urging the necessity of an investigation by a fact-finding committee.

Other subjects upon which reports, and in many cases recommendations, were made include the fight against the Mediterranean fruit fly, quarantine problems raised by the airplane, assembling of written and pictorial libraries for the benefit of visitors expected here for the Olympic Games in 1932, growth of winter sports in Southern California, widening the foreign market for California products, development of the State's mineral industry, spread of a highway safety program and conservation of forests.

FRUIT FLY FIGHT

Hardison, of the agricultural committee, reported that the fight against the Mediterranean fruit fly has made marvelous progress technically but, he added, seems to be on the rocks politically.

"The committee contends," he said, "that large sums of money can be expended profitably to obtain a complete eradication and thereby avoid a possibility of a fruit-fly flare-up."

Discussing quarantine regulations, the agricultural committee chairman asserted that California is protecting agriculture better than any other State but that the enforcement of the quarantine has caused some personal inconvenience and has occasioned some criticism. He recommended that the board of directors request the College of Agriculture of the University of California to study and report on the economic effects of the natural and unrestricted spread of pests and the probable effect of quarantine thereon.

NEW DIFFICULTIES

"With the coming of the airplane," the committee chairman said, "new quarantine difficulties have arisen which jeopardize agriculture and we recommend that the council indorse the action of the interdepartmental committee on airports of entry in placing air transportation companies under the same quarantine rulings as other foreign transportation agencies in border inspection."

Approval of the bill before Congress and approved by the Federal Farm Board providing funds for expanding the foreign service of the United States Department of Agriculture was recommended.

Justus F. Cramer of Orange, chairman of the publicity committee, urged that the romance, historic beauty and recreational highlights of Southern California be assembled in a written and pictorial library that the advantages of California might be properly set forth before the visitors to the 1932 Olympic Games. Ed Thomas was named chairman of a committee to compile such data.

The publicity committee also favored a national air caravan to California.

A. E. Holloway, chairman of the industrial committee, told of plans to call together the chambers of commerce of Southern California

MAYOR WILL ACT ON BELL PLANT ISSUE

Porter Says He Will Not 'Pass Buck' on Ordinance; Area Again Inspected

Mayor Porter yesterday gave the impression to newspaper interviewers that he will not act before Monday on the ordinance granting Alphonzo Bell his permit to erect and maintain in the Santa Monica Mountains a quarry and rock-crushing plant. Monday is the last day. If he neither signs nor vetoes the ordinance, it will become law automatically. He said, however, that he will not "pass the buck."

The ordinance has been referred to Ellis Egan, his research secretary, for an opinion as to its legality. Meanwhile, the Mayor is hearing arguments for and against the ordinance.

Yesterday morning he made another trip to the quarry site, accompanied by Rev. Gustav Briegleb, George Pepperdine and Robert Sherman. Later he lunched with these men, members of the City Council and members of the Board of Public Works at the Hollywood Country Club. According to reports of the affair, no speeches were made and politics was not discussed.

Preservation of Desert's Beauty to be Discussed

Those who love the desert and are interested in its preservation will meet at the Pasadena Public Library this evening at 8 o'clock to hear members of the Joint Parks Commission, which comprises representatives of the Sierra Club, the Audubon Society, the Nature Club and many other associations of teachers and professional women.

"If you believe the State should set aside such areas as Red Rock Canyon in the Mojave Desert," said Mrs. Herbert Rooksby of the Desert Magazine, who has arranged the meeting, "or Painted Canyon in Riverside county, the Salton Sea region or the Devil's Garden in the Morongo Pass district, you can learn what progress is being made in the projects."

Among the speakers will be Dr. Alfred Cookman.

DIALOGUE CLASS OFFERED

A class in plot and dialogue for plays and scenarios is offered at Junior College, 855 North Vermont avenue, in Room 104 of the Library Building, Tuesday, 9 to 12 a.m. Children's plays will be studied first. Following this morning class, there is one from 1 to 2 p.m., where plays for adults will be criticised. The classes are under the public schools.

LAWYER LOANS WEDDING TOGS

Pierson Hall Saves Day for Bridegroom Lacking Coat and Tie

Even the hard and fast rules of court etiquette bend before the will of Dan Cupid, else Pierson M. Hall, Los Angeles attorney, yesterday would have been in contempt when he stood before Superior Judge Walton Wood without a coat or necktie.

Attorney Hall was appearing in behalf of Guillermo Perez, 22 years of age, who asserted that he wished to marry Miss Alicio Moreno, 20, of 3560 Whittier Boulevard.

Judge Wood declared that the youth had a right to wed the girl if they both agreed to the match, but insisted that the groom must wear a coat and necktie. These habiliments were supplied by Hall, the best man, who escaped punishment for violation of the court rule by reason of the urgency of the occasion.

COSTLY NEW FACTORY TO BE ERECTED

Grand Rapids Corporation to Make Store Equipment in Los Angeles Plant

Announcement of the construction of a $500,000 factory in Los Angeles for the Grand Rapids Store Equipment Corporation was made yesterday by President Tom Thoits.

Options have been obtained on three different tracts of from five to seven acres each and the exact location of the plant will be announced soon. Ground is to be broken April 1. The factory will employ not less than 200 persons and have an annual pay roll of approximately $300,000.

The organization manufactures special interior equipment for merchandising retail goods, such as showcases, shelving, drawers and cabinets. It operates eleven branch factories in the United States. Seven factories are in Michigan, one on Long Island, one in Baltimore and one in Portland, Or.

The corporation, according to Mr. Thoits, is affiliated with a banking group, including Lehman Brothers and E. H. Rollins & Son, both of New York City.

L. W. Welsh, one of the directors of the corporation, has been a resident of Pasadena for six years and he is declared to have been largely instrumental in obtaining the branch factory for Los Angeles.

Scherer Will Speak on Japan

With Dr. James A. B. Scherer, director of the Southwest Museum, among the speakers, the next of a series of monthly dinners sponsored by Swami Dhirananda in behalf of the Satsanga movement for international brotherhood will be held on the 23rd inst. in the Odd Fellows' Temple, 1828 Oak street, it was announced yesterday. Each banquet, which is followed by individual speaking and an open forum, is dedicated to the people, customs and culture of a foreign nation, with a view ultimately to cementing friendship throughout the world. This month's affair will be concerned with Japan.

Others announced to address the gathering are Ken Nakazawa, Dr. Hans Nordewin, Baron von Koeber, and Helena Whitford.

Mabel Normand Resting Quietly

Mabel Normand passed a very comfortable night on Thursday following a blood transfusion administered earlier in the day by Dr. Walter Brem at Pottenger's Sanatorium, where she has been a tuberculosis patient for the past ten months. This word was given out yesterday by her secretary, who said Miss Normand was resting quietly and appeared to be in a cheerful frame of mind.

It still is too soon to tell what the effects of the transfusion will be, according to Dr. F. M. Pottenger.

PROTESTS HEARING DELAYED

The hearing of protests on the improvement of Randolph avenue from a point near Edison street to Hillsdale avenue was continued yesterday by the City Council until April 7.

DEMPSEYS HAVE ANNIVERSARY

Arrive Home on Wooden Wedding Day

Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor

IT WAS celebration day yesterday for Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor. They celebrated for two reasons. First of all, because yesterday was their fifth wedding anniversary, and then because it marked their return home after an absence of some weeks in the East. They went to their Los Feliz Boulevard home after their arrival.

While Dempsey discussed the boxing situation with the sporting writers, Miss Taylor said she is all prepared for a talking picture.

"I have been taking singing lessons in the East and canceled a vaudeville tour because my teacher thought my theatrical appearance too much of a strain," she said. "I have had a number of good offers from talking-picture producers and am prepared again for picture work."

Dempsey and Miss Taylor were met yesterday by a large group of friends and received many congratulations on their anniversary. They celebrated the event quietly. Miss Taylor presented the ex-heavyweight champion with a cane, while Dempsey unloaded a lot of wooden presents on his wife.

Miss Taylor said a local theater chain has approached her for a personal-appearance tour, but that she will wait to see what develops in Hollywood. Dempsey plans on remaining here for at least two or three weeks before returning to his business in the East.

A dinner rally, attended by approximately 150 presidents representing every Jewish organization in Southern California, was held last night at Sinai Temple auditorium, in behalf of the $1,000,000 Cedars of Lebanon campaign.

Irving Lipsitch, executive secretary of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations; Rabbi Herman Lissauer of the Jewish Institute, Rabbi Ernest R. Trattner of Temple Emanu-El, Judge Hollzer, Judge Rosenkranz, Mrs. E. M. Lazard, chairman of the women's division; Benjamin J. Scheineman, president of the B'nai B'rith Lodge; Rabbi M. Bliss, president; E. R. Skelton, vice-president; R. B. Graham, treasurer, and John Wallette, secretary.

FINGERPRINT EXPERTS TO STUDY BODY

Effort Will Be Made to Identify Man's Remains Found in Mexico

Two fingerprint experts will be sent to Yuma, Ariz., in a special attempt to identify the body of a man recently found near Cuervos, Mex., Tom O'Brien, chief of Dist.-Atty. Fitts's bureau of investigation, announced yesterday.

This decision was made at the request of Mrs. W. Paul Loveland of Pasadena, whose architect husband has been missing for more than a month. Loveland's fingerprints on file in the War Department at Washington will be used in an effort to determine positively whether the unidentified man is the missing architect.

Leslie T. White, District Attorney's identification man, and Sergt. Barlow of the Los Angeles police department have been asked to make the investigation.

Lips Arraigned in Hit-Run Case

Walter Lips, former Los Angeles Fire Chief, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday on charges of hit-and-run driving. He was released on $1500 bail pending preliminary hearing, which the court set for the 20th inst.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Russell charges Lips with fleeing from the scene of an accident in which J. M. Fuelscher, 429 Central avenue, and his companion, Mrs. Helen French, were injured seriously.

RITZ-CARLTON PLANS UNFOLD

First Dinner of Hotel Here Attended by 200

Guests Eat in Open at Site on Hollywood Hills

McAneny, at New York, in Address Over Phone

The first Hollywood Ritz-Carlton dinner was served last night in the open under a large canvas top on the site where there will one day be one of the most sumptuous banquet halls in one of the premier hotels of the world. The guests numbered more than 200 men prominent in the business and civic affairs of the community. The occasion was the commemoration of the launching of the building project which will make Hollywood the home of what was referred to last night as the "gem of the Ritz-Carlton chain."

Before the diners, sitting at banquet tables set on one of the highest promontories of the Hollywood hills, spread the vast panorama of Los Angeles studded with its millions of lights. Above their heads twenty huge searchlights casting multicolored beams shot into the air what was described as one of the greatest single electrical displays in history. Otto K. Oleson, who donated the electrical equipment, said the lights totaled 5,325,000,000 candle power. Adding to the effect, the Goodyear blimp Volunteer cruised in and out among the shafts of light.

LONG-DISTANCE ADDRESS

The feature of the program was a fifteen-minute address delivered by George McAneny, president of the Ritz-Carlton chain, who sat in his office in the New York hotel and spoke across 3000 miles of telephone to the guests at the banquet. One loud speaker broadcast his words to the assemblage with remarkable clarity. At the conclusion of his address he exchanged telephonic greetings with John Mott, the toastmaster, and Gilbert Beesemyer, president of the Hollywood Ritz-Carlton, and Harry Chandler and S. H. Woodruff, directors.

McAneny predicted that the new hotel will be the pioneer of a new subsidiary chain of hotels on the Pacific Coast and including one in Mexico City. He felicitated Los Angeles for the public spirit displayed in the enterprise, reminding the diners that sixty of the leading citizens of the community are among its underwriters.

The Hollywood hotel, set in an eminence of great natural beauty high above the city, will be unique among all the hotels of the Ritz-Carlton chain, he said, in the loveliness of its surroundings. The executives of the chain are well satisfied, he said, that the local citizens who have given their support to the project offer an assurance in themselves that everything in connection with the hotel will be the best in its line.

The height of the site from which the new hotel will dominate the landscape was impressed on the diners last night not only by the view they enjoyed after they reached the top, but also by the steep and winding road they ascended to get to the site. Therefore, they were particularly interested in an announcement that one of the features of the project will be the construction of a broad, high-gear road, which will enable guests to reach the portals of the hotel from Hollywood Boulevard in less than three minutes.

McGROARTY SPEAKS

The first item on last night's program was a concert by Paul Whiteman's orchestra, which volunteered for the occasion. This was broadcast over KHJ, as was a talk by John Steven McGroarty, who described the beauty of the setting and the gorgeousness of what he termed the man-made aurora borealis created by the varicolored searchlights shooting their rays from the hilltop.

In opening the more formal portion of the program John Mott described the hotel project as one undertaken in a spirit of patriotism to Southern California. It was undertaken, he said, not so much in the hope of commercial aggrandizement as to extend to the four corners of the world the spirit of California traditions and hospitality.

In keeping with this purpose, he pointed out, both the architecture of the hotel and the atmosphere of its surroundings will be strictly in accordance with California traditions. This predominantly Spanish

ANOTHER nation has been completely wiped out with the death of an old Indian woman at San Juan Bautista—the last of the San Juan Indians.

It is doubtful if in all history there has been an instance of a more complete extermination of any people than in the wiping out of the California Indians.

The list of the tribes which have been completely erased is appalling. The only apparent causes are diseases brought to them by white men—especially smallpox, which destroyed them like wheat being mowed down.

In all probability, however, they were on the downgrade when the first white men came. In remote times they came here from Siberia and later suffered the disintegration that always comes to a people who relax in a mild climate after having struggled with the cold and the storm.

SAVE THE PINES

If there is any question of the safety of the Torrey pines it will be a crime to reroute the San Diego highway.

There are only a few of these trees in the world; at least one of the new highway plans will result in the destruction of many of them.

After all, there is no reason why the highways of this State should be like a billiard table. The mountain grades are—in no case—severe. If any driver is too timid to negotiate the curves of the Torrey Pines grade he has no business in the traffic, anyhow.

BOMBERS

The experiment of dropping gliders from dirigible airships promises much from a military standpoint.

At present gliders are probably too fragile to carry heavy bombs; but that difficulty can be overcome. The only way that a warship can be bombed from the air with any assurance of success is to send down an airplane to be destroyed—a sea bee which dies when it stings.

The idea that fleets of ordinary aircraft can sail over a battleship fleet and wreck it by dropping bombs is just hooey. Cannon, shooting from the ground at known ranges and with the aid of definite mathematical calculations make surprisingly few hits. An airship moving at terrific speed, dropping bombs from an indeterminate height at a rapidly moving target, has nothing to rely on except luck—and not much of that.

The sea bomber will have to kiss himself good-by and glide right down to the deck—knowing that he is to die—but with a chance of hitting his mark.

SACRIFICED

The death of a diver in Quebec—imprisoned at the bottom by a tangle in the mechanism for sixty hours—is one of the horrors that have come into our industrial life.

There has never been an age in which men were called upon to earn their living by contact with such unnatural elements—working in tunnels, deep mines, subways, in the air.

It is no use to say they don't mind it, because they do. If we do not develop race complexes it will be surprising.

SCHOOL PROTEST MADE

The Board of Education yesterday protested to the City Council against the proposal to include school buildings and auditoriums in the new theater ordinance, now under consideration. The Council referred the matter to the Fire and Police Committee, which has the ordinance in its files.

Thirty names, from which an attempt will be made to select nineteen persons to serve on the 1930 grand jury, were drawn from the grand jury wheel yesterday by Clerk Miller in Superior Judge Wood's court.

The complete list then was placed in the hands of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hammond in charge of grand jury matters, who will notify each person named to be present in Judge Wood's court at 10 a.m. on the 15th inst., when they will be given an opportunity to qualify for grand jury duty.

PEARL NECKLACE FINDER RECEIVES $2000 REWARD

The loss and recovery of a double-string pearl necklace valued at $35,000 was revealed yesterday in the payment of a $2000 reward to the woman who returned the ornament to its owner. The necklace is the property of Mrs. William Spiegelberg of New York, who was a guest at the Ambassador a week ago.

According to the police report of the loss, Mrs. Spiegelberg missed her necklace after she returned to the hotel from a drive to Beverly Hills. She told police she lost it on Sunday morning, January 26. The afternoon of the same day, Mrs. Minnie Garrett, 3958 Brighton avenue, visited the hotel in company with her husband to attend a lecture and saw what she thought was only a string of beads sparkling in the grass of the lawn.

Mrs. Garrett tucked the "beads" into her purse, thinking that if the owner valued them they would be advertised. After almost a week she found in The Times want-ad columns a reward offered for a double-strand pearl necklace.

In the offices of Toplis & Harding, Inc., insurance adjusters, the necklace was identified as that belonging to Mrs. Spiegelberg and Mrs. Garrett was astonished to learn that her find was valued at $35,000. Yesterday she received a check for $2000 and the thanks of both the owner and the insurance company.

FITTS ELECTION HELD VALID

Mattoon Also Passes on Status of Wright in Preparing for Supreme Court Test Case

Dist.-Atty Fitts and Supervisor Wright of the Fifth District are legally in office by virtue of their election at the primary in August, 1928, in spite of the fact that their names did not appear on the ballot at the following general election.

This was the opinion expressed yesterday by County Counsel Mattoon, who stated his office is preparing to appear in the Supreme Court in the test case launched a week ago by County Registrar of Voters Kerr.

ISSUE ON BOXES

Kerr filed a petition for an alternative writ of mandate to compel County Purchasing Agent Russell to provide an additional 500 ballot boxes for the primary next August, declaring the new boxes will be necessary to handle the large vote that can be expected if candidates for District Attorney and Supervisor from the Fifth District appear on the ballot.

In order to clarify his position and to obtain a ruling on the point at issue, Kerr necessarily assumed in his petition that the certificates of election issued Fitts and Wright following the primary in August, 1928, did not conform to the provisions of the County Charter. Under the terms of the charter, the petition states, Fitts and Wright should have appeared as candidates on the ballot at the general election, in spite of the large majorities they received at the primary.

Russell, in denying Kerr's request for an additional 500 ballot boxes, held to the view that Fitts and Wright are legally in office under the terms of the State constitution, which, according to Russell, does not require that the names of candidates receiving majorities at a primary also appear on the ballot at the following general election.

The question raised is strictly one of law on an asserted conflict between the election provisions of the State constitution and the county Charter, in the opinion of County Counsel Mattoon. For this reason, it was pointed out, the matter was taken directly into the Supreme Court for a final ruling that will

GLAB MURDER ARREST NEARS

Capt. Cato Declares Seizure of Suspects Imminent

Sheriff's Office and Police Join Hands in Case

Attempt to Conceal Crime Also May be Charged

Issuance of complaints charging one or more persons with murder and another or more with conspiracy to withhold murder information loomed as a possibility late yesterday following a joint conference between the police department and the Sheriff's office in the recently reopened investigation of the slaying of John R. Glab, wealthy ex-druggist who was found shot to death in the driveway of his Ventura-Boulevard home, June 18, 1928.

While those in attendance at the conference declined officially to say so, feeling was acute about the Hall of Justice yesterday that complaints will be prepared by the District Attorney's office and placed in the hands of police within the next few days.

The conference between Sheriff's and police forces is understood to have been held at the suggestion of Captain of Detectives Cato. It was attended by Cato, Capt. Bright, in charge of the Sheriff's homicide detail, Chief Assistant Deputy District Attorney Jordan and Detective Lieutenants Sanderson and Stevens. For two hours the five were closeted in Capt. Bright's office, where they are believed to have scrutinized painstakingly the police department's files of the case.

INFORMATION OBTAINED

Capt. Bright denied that the session had developed anything of a definite nature, but admitted that henceforth his office will work officially in co-operation with the police.

Prior to closeting himself with the Sheriff's officers, Capt. Cato gave out a statement in which he declared himself in possession of significant information as a result of the questioning of persons within the past few days.

"If the information I have obtained can be verified," he said, "I will have enough evidence on which to base a request for murder complaints against two persons."

The information, he said, came from a man and a woman last Thursday. He guarded their identities carefully, explaining they figure merely as informants and not as witnesses.

"I would not want to reveal who these people are," Cato said, "as they would never be called to testify. Nor can I even hint as to what the nature of the information they have given me is."

MORE FACTS

The captain of detectives also is declared to have obtained valuable information from a present member of the police department who is said to have known both Mrs. Hazel Glab, the widow, and W. R. McIntyre, ex-police officer, who were held in custody for many days during the preliminary investigation of the murder.

"Yes, I talked to this man," Cato said. "But he had no information which would aid in the solution of the case. I found that he merely was to have attended a party on the day of the murder at which Mrs. Glab and McIntyre were to have been present."

While the police are working with the aid of the Sheriff's office on the supposed information furnished by the two informants, Capt. Cato admitted that the solution of the mystery hinges on one definite thing. And that, he said, is the discovery of the weapon which fired the fatal shot into Glab's body as he was about to step into his sedan in the driveway of his residence.

GUN TRACED

Preliminary investigation showed that the ex-Chicago druggist was shot with a bullet from a .32-caliber revolver. Shortly after the murder Mrs. Glab and McIntyre were involved in a shooting in the ex-officer's Hollywood apartment, in which McIntyre suffered a flesh wound in the leg. The gun used in this case, according to Cato, was of .38 caliber. In Glab's home was found another gun, but this was of .45 caliber, according to the captain.

Reopening of the murder mystery grew out of the recent arrest of McIntyre and Miss Ruby Burroughs in connection with the hit-and-run death of Mrs. Margaret Towers on January 1, last. McIntyre is held on a charge of murder. Fred C. Simmons also is held by the Sheriff's office for having conspired with McIntyre to hide the automobile which struck down Mrs. Towers.

Shortly following the arrest it was learned that Miss Burroughs was acquainted with McIntyre at the time Mrs. Glab became involved in the shooting in the ex-officer's Hollywood apartment, according to police. She was questioned in regard to the murder investigation, and thus the eighteen-months-old mystery was reopened for a possible solution.

ELDERLY PILOT HERE TO MAKE SHORT VISIT

Charles Dickinson, said to be the oldest licensed pilot in the United States, arrived here last night on the transcontinental plane of Western Air Express from Chicago. He is here for a short visit. Although well advanced in years, Mr. Dickinson still is actively engaged in the aeronautical industry, being president of Northwest Airways, with headquarters in the Windy City.

On the same plane was Capt. C. A. Dassar, former Chief of Police of Kansas City and now a captain of police there. He rushed to the Coast on receipt of word of his mother's death here yesterday.

FIRST WIFE OF WITHERS LOSES POINT

Judge Holds Application for Alimony Increase Not Based Properly

Without appearing in court, Grant Withers, motion-picture actor, whose recent elopement and marriage to Loretta Young gained him considerable publicity, won a legal skirmish with his first wife, Mrs. Inez Withers, who went to Superior Judge Guerin's court yesterday, asking that her allowance of $60 a month for her son, Robert, 5 years of age, be increased.

Attorney Charles W. Cradick, representing Withers, argued that the payment of $60 to Mrs. Withers is not by court order, because Mrs. Withers No. 1 herself was the defendant in the annulment action that separated her from Withers, the actor's mother having instituted the suit. Withers was under age at the time of this marriage.

Judge Guerin acceded to this view of the situation, and advised Milton Golden, attorney for Mrs. Withers, to bring another suit, and ask for a separate order.

The first Mrs. Withers had asked $300 a month for her child, claiming that his care and education were daily becoming more expensive, and that Withers's salary has increased recently.

FITTS ELECTION DECLARED VALID

be given in time to allow Registrar Kerr to proceed with the preparation and printing of ballots for the primary next August.

If the Supreme Court holds that Fitts and Wright are legally in office, it probably will sustain Russell's position in denying Kerr's request for an additional 500-ballot boxes, as the offices now held by Fitts and Wright will not be voted on at the election.

MERELY TEST CASE

Kerr himself has stated that the boxes will not be needed unless the names of candidates for the offices appear on the ballots. The boxes have a nominal value of only $1500 and figure in the case as a vehicle for carrying the legal point at issue to the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court already has issued an alternative writ in Kerr's case, and hearing is scheduled for March 4, next, before the tribunal in this city.

County Counsel Mattoon said yesterday his office will be prepared to file a return to Kerr's petition immediately after service of the writ is made on Russell.

MATTOON AIDS RUSSELL

While both Kerr and Russell are county officers, the County Counsel's office will represent Russell at the hearing. Kerr will be represented by Attorney Frank Belcher, who filed his petition. It is expected there will be little oral argument on the case before the Supreme Court, as practically all the issues will be covered in briefs to be submitted by both sides.

Mattoon was confident yesterday that the high court will sustain the legality of the election of Fitts and Wright.

"Our position will be that the manifest intent of the election provisions of both the County Charter and the State constitution is in harmony with the provisions of the direct primary law," said Mattoon, "and we believe the Supreme Court will so construe it."

Deputy County Counsel McAllister will assist Mattoon in preparing Russell's case.

FITTS DENIES HE WILL QUIT GOVERNORSHIP RACE

Rumors that he might withdraw from the race for election as Governor of California were denied vigorously yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Fitts through an official statement given out by his secretary.

The statement was authorized by Fitts in a telephone call to his office, he being temporarily "out of town."

The reports, said to have originated in San Francisco, were branded by the District Attorney as political propaganda and of no real importance.

at Riverside in March to arouse interest in keeping information on mining properties up to date.

YEAR'S OBJECTIVES

The committee chairman outlined four objectives for 1930, namely: (1) mineral development; (2) development of markets for Southern California products, (3) application of simplified practice and elimination of waste among business and industrial groups, and (4) vocational educational and industrial exhibits for California schools.

Opposition was expressed to daylight-saving legislation.

J. L. Steinbarger, chairman of the safety committee, reported that every nationality is being educated to traffic consciousness and that interest in safety programs is rising rapidly.

C. E. Kesley, chairman of the conservation committee, reported that his committee favors the taking of steps to make it legal for the State motor traffic officers to co-operate with the State Division of Forestry in the enforcement of fire-prevention laws.

Passage of a forest insect patrol bill, initiated by the California State Chamber of Commerce and introduced in Congress, is vital for the protection of the forests and it has an excellent chance of passing, Chairman Kesley said.

A program of fire prevention for lands outside the national forests should follow in the path of the system provided for the national forests by the Englebright bill, it was said.

The committee will make further studies and present recommendations at the next meeting of the council.

It was recommended that gliders be inspected and licensed in the interests of safety.

Uniformity of enforcement and understanding of California's Air Navigation Act were held out as a goal. It was recommended that deputy sheriffs and others empowered to enforce the act meet with the committee to discuss the situation.

Zoning of areas contiguous to airports to protect the future of the airports was recommended.

'Don't Worry for Me,' Says Biddle Will

"Do not worry about me; I have lived a long life, if not a merry one. We must all obey the summons some time."

With these words, Arthur Biddle, who died January 22, last, at 69 years of age, ended a holographic codicil to his will devising a $70,000 estate to various heirs.

The bulk of the estate was left to a brother, George Biddle. Two sisters, Clara Broderick and Mary Evans, gets 500 each. The codicil names as heirs Arthur E. Dunn, Mrs. J. E. Dunn, and Mrs. Adella, Patricia, Samuel L. and Georgiana Walker, who are given $1000 each.

More than half the tickets for the dinner opening the Western States Conference on Birth Control and Population Problems were sold the first five days of the week, according to Mrs. Clark Milliken, chairman of the dinner committee. The event is scheduled for the 20th inst., at the Roosevelt Hotel. Mrs. Milliken, who is the daughter-in-law of the famous scientist, Robert Milliken of Pasadena, is completing arrangements for the banquet assisted by Mrs. Andrew Brown, Mrs. Margaret Morris and Mrs. Ernest Swift. Mrs. Margaret Sanger, founder of the birth-control movement in America, will be the principal speaker.

Brown, funeral director, will be in charge. Hewitt died Thursday from appendicitis, at 61 years of age. He had retired from active service. He was a member of the Eastgate Masonic Lodge, No. 209. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Eleanor F. Hewitt, 217 East Fairview avenue, Inglewood, a son, Eugene Hewitt, a daughter, Mrs. Eddie Hookstratton, and a sister, Mrs. Foreste E. Deuel of Los Angeles.

Scotty Pulls Down Shade on Stunts---Maybe

Death Valley Scotty, with his high white hat and red necktie, last night was reported preparing to return to his desert mansion of Moorish splendor after spending two days here talking about being "almost broke," admitting that his inferred gold mine in the burning sink below sea level is a hoax and that for a score of years he has been living on another man's money.

Now, it is said, he plans to go back to Death Valley and do some prospecting, but whatever Scotty's plans, it is quite clear that this probably is his last fling at "big publicity"—which he has loved so well, and his circus-like high white hat and red necktie, which he wore with picturesque effect, become just an old white hat and a red tie.

note, he said, will undoubtedly do much to attract to this city many visitors from the great republics of South and Central America, the portion of the world, he asserted, with which the destiny of the west coast is obviously linked. He said it is eventually the purpose of the Ritz-Carlton chain to build additional hotels not only on the west coast but also to erect four or five in the chief cities of South America.

Sid Grauman, in a short talk, said that the spirit of the occasion had caused him to determine as he sat at the banquet table to approach the hotel directorate with an offer to include a small theater among those establishments which will be subsidiary to the hotel. If such a theater is built, he promised, he will be glad to lease it and operate it.

Gilbert Beesemyer said he had been assured by many persons who have visited hotels all over the world that never in their travels have they found a hotel on a site presenting a more wonderful view than the location for the Hollywood Ritz-Carlton.

Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Railway, indorsed this assertion and added the prediction that every transcontinental railroad will be happy to co-operate in making the enterprise a success. He said the hotel is destined to aid in "converting all the world to be good Californians."

OTHER SPEAKERS

The man who had been responsible for arranging last night's banquet on a week's notice were thanked in an address by S. H. Woodruff, who said it had been conceived only last Sunday, as a group of those interested in the project stood on the site and marveled at the beauty of the panorama which lay before them.

Other speakers included A. Z. Taft, C. E. Toberman, Charles Christy, Harry Chandler, Victor Clark, D. W. Pontius and Maj. Fred Burnham. Mayor Porter and Gordon Kaufman, architect of the new structure, were introduced. Telegrams were read from many persons whom absence from the city prevented from attending the banquet. They included Mr. McAneny, Albert Keller, managing director of the New York Ritz-Carlton; Carl R. Gray, Henry M. Robinson, Douglas Fairbanks, Cecil B. De Mille, Arthur Brisbane, Herbert Fleishhacker and John G. Bullock.

The telegram from Mr. McAneny said in part: "In going into Los Angeles we have had in mind not only the marvelous growth of your city, calling as it does for hotel facilities equal to the best of those of other great cities here and abroad, but the rare charm and increasing popularity of Southern California itself. My sincere congratulations to all concerned on the start you are making tonight."

At the conclusion of Mr. McAneny's long-distance telephone address copies were passed out to the diners of a photograph of him taken as he spoke in New York and sent to the outdoor banquet scene by telephoto.

THREAT IN BANK WINS MAN CASH

Lone Bandit Gets $1690 from Vermont-Avenue Branch

Employees Terrorized With Purported Explosive

"There's Dynamite in This Tube," Says Note

Terrorizing employees with what police believe was a bottle of nitroglycerine, a lone bandit yesterday noon held up the Security-First National Bank branch at 601 South Vermont avenue and got away with $1690 in cash.

Just before the lunch hour the bandit walked quietly into the establishment and presented a note to John Eley, teller. The note read: "The insurance company is paid for taking chances. You are not. Don't try to be a hero. It will sure be settled. I have been an oil shooter for twenty years. I know my stuff. My life is worthless and I don't care. But I don't intend to leave pieces enough to be identified. If you happen to be a fool there's dynamite in this tube. Hand me the coin quietly."

Eley glanced down at the man and observed that he held a bottle in his right hand, he told police. At this moment L. G. Tyler, manager, and Raymond Pratt, bookkeeper, walked into the teller's cage.

As the bandit watched them suspiciously they read the note over the teller's shoulder. They glanced up. The bandit, raising the bottle menacingly, snarled out one crisp word:

"Quick."

All of the currency in sight was then shoved through the window by the teller. Without taking his eyes off his victims the bandit pocketed the money and then slowly backed toward the street door. As he reached it he whirled quickly and ran out. He is believed to have made his escape in an automobile parked some distance away.

Yellowstone Tourist Camp Founder Dies

William W. Wylie, known to hundreds of thousands of tourists for his Yellowstone Park camps, died last night in General Hospital following an operation for cancer. His home was on Emerson street, Pasadena, in which city he had lived for fifteen years. He also had a ranch in Imperial Valley.

Mr. Wylie was 82 years of age. He was born near Hopkinsville, Iowa, where, as a young man, he taught Latin in Lenox College. Moving to Montana, he became principal of the Presbyterian Academy of Bozeman. During the '90's he served several years as State Superintendent of Schools. At the opening of Yellowstone National Park he established the chain of Wylie camps which became famous, and which were reputed to have housed more tourists than the hotels. After selling out his interests he was active in having Zion Park, Utah, made a national park. He established camps there in conjunction with the Union Pacific system. He had extensive ranches in Montana and was an elder of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. T. H. McKee, and a son, Fred Wylie, both of Pasadena, as well as brothers and sisters in Montana.

New Charge of Embezzlement Against Amend

Harry Amend, former constable of Inglewood township, yesterday was charged with a second count of embezzlement of public funds in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hugh McIsaac.

The complaint accuses the former constable of accepting $150 from Elbert Johnson on December 30, last, as bail for his brother, William C. Johnson, who was accused of a traffic violation. The money never was turned into the county treasury, it is charged.

In another complaint issued a week ago, Amend is accused of a similar offense.

Elizabeth Prior, Teacher, Expires

Death of Mrs. Elizabeth Prior, 70 years of age, and principal of the Sawtelle Boulevard school, occurred at her home, 229 North Sichel street, yesterday morning following a short illness. Mrs. Prior was well known in public life, having been connected with the city schools for more than eighteen years.

She was born in Illinois and came here with her husband thirty-nine years ago. Her husband, Frank E. Prior, who preceded her in death a number of years, was formerly assistant superintendent of the Southern Pacific Railway. She was a member of the Congregational Church and of the Eastern Star.

She leaves three sons, Ford Prior, connected with the City National Bank, and Jack and Roger W. Prior. Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m., from Grace chapel at Inglewood Cemetery.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE TEAM WINS

Los Angeles High School's debaters last night won a two-to-one decision over the team representing Long Beach Polytechnic on the subject, "Resolved: That the increasing exercise of police power by government in the United States indicates a dangerous tendency." Los Angeles upheld the affirmative. Its debaters were Worth Bernard and Bob Schnacke. The Long Beach debaters were Eugene Nida and John Wright.

PUPILS DESERT TO SEE FLYER

Col. Lindbergh Causes Truancy Problem

Ace Marooned After Glide by Auto Mishap

May Test New Ship at City Port Today

BY TERREL DE LAPP
"Times" Staff Representative

LEBEC, Feb. 7. (Exclusive)—A scholastic problem arose here today in which the practical three R's of elementary instruction lost considerably to the more romantic appeal of aerial gliding as it is being done by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from rugged Tehachapi's knolls near this mountain town.

The flying colonel made but one short flight in discouraging winds, but Mrs. Rebecca Oates, the local school teacher, is almost in despair attempting to keep her little charges from slipping out of the schoolhouse and over the sunny hills to watch America's flying idol work with the gliders.

On Thursday there was wholesale desertion from the little schoolhouse when a towsy-haired little chap, late for classes, spied Col. Lindbergh in the near-by weather station, and rushed wildly into the classroom with the news. Excited and heedless to Mrs. Oates's pleas all the pupils dropped their books, scurried from the room and up to the weather station where they stood in wide-eyed worship.

FEVER GETS WORSE

The fluttering little boys and girls only were corraled again when Mrs. Oates explained to the colonel that the children had written their own invitations to come to see him. So he stepped out in their midst and chatted with them for a while.

Today the Lindbergh fever still was in the flock. Many a juvenile eye strayed from the dry three R's over the vale toward the flyer's camp. Mrs. Oates struggled valiantly with the day's course of instruction. Presently one of the boys who just couldn't stand it any longer slipped quietly from the room while Mrs. Oates worked over the lessons, thinking the group becalmed. Another succumbed to the lure, then another, and so on until Mrs. Oates looked up from the book to find the several seats vacant and their erstwhile occupants trudging up the road toward the flying camp. Three were lost but they were found after a quick search—all said they were going over to see Col. Lindbergh, report cards be hanged.

About the only solution for the problem, it appeared here tonight, is for the citizens of Lebec to appoint Lindbergh truant officer and seat him beside Mrs. Oates.

COLONEL GLIDES

Col. Lindbergh made one flight today, taking off at 3:30 p.m., soaring for about four minutes and landing on a knoll three miles distant at approximately 800 feet lesser altitude. He was marooned there temporarily due to an automobile accident.

Jack Barstow, one of the glider crew, driving the tow car and hastening to the colonel's assistance, ran into difficulty when the machine's brakes failed and it slipped over an arroyo brink. Assistance of photographers and newspapermen from the Lindbergh camp was summoned and four hours later the car was extricated from the sand.

Meanwhile Col. Lindbergh stood by his glider on the landing knoll, and in order to be more readily found as darkness closed down lighted a beacon fire on the mountain promontory. The glider was dismantled on final arrival of the tow car and taken back to the starting point.

Shifting and varying winds of only fifteen miles velocity tonight halted the flyer's proposed night flight, and an indefinite stay of further attempts is indicated. The colonel left for Los Angeles, and although he ordered the camp be not broken he said he would not return here until stronger winds prevail. Men with red lanterns were stationed over the terrain to warn Col. Lindbergh of high points if he tried the after-dark flight, but when the winds were found insufficient, the signal men were recalled.

MAY FLY HERE TODAY

Hawley Bowlus, the American glider champion, has taken his craft to San Diego for some repairs, but is expected back tomorrow or Sunday. Col. Lindbergh has been using the glider of Ross Peacock of the Bakersfield flying school.

Shortly after Col. Lindbergh arrived here today from Los Angeles where he spent the night a Lockheed Vega soared out of the southern sky, bearing Jerry Vultee, Lockheed's chief engineer; Wiley Post, pilot; T. J. Holoubek, engineering inspector of the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce, and J. K. Charis, a Los Angeles policeman detailed with Holoubek.

Holoubek came to inquire of Col. Lindbergh when he wished to make test flights at the United Airport near Los Angeles on the new Lindbergh Lockheed Sirius for an approved type certificate of the department. Col. Lindbergh said he may make the flights at the airport tomorrow.

Spear Inquest Dispensed With

To spare a 10-year-old boy from testifying how his father killed his mother and then committed suicide, Coroner Nance yesterday announced that there will be no inquest in the deaths of Roy Spear and Mrs. Spear of 2704 Hollywood Way, Burbank. Spear killed his wife in their home on Wednesday, and committed suicide Thursday after driving around for a day, keeping their son Robert with him to prevent his telling. The boy was sole witness of the double tragedy.

Coroner Nance said that inasmuch as the Spear case was a clear-cut one of murder and suicide, there is no need of an inquest.

Spear was not an operative of the Nick Harris Detective Agency, as stated in an original report. Nick Harris, founder of the agency, said yesterday.

ARGUMENTS ON GAS CURB ACT PUT OFF

They Will be Resumed in Court Tuesday by Lawyers for Oil Companies

Arguments attacking the validity of California's new Gas and Oil Conservation Act in the injunction suit brought by the State against oil operators in the Santa Fe Springs field to stop the wastage of natural gas will be resumed before Superior Judge Hazlett Tuesday by attorneys representing the oil companies.

A recess in the hearing, which has been going on for two weeks, was ordered by Judge Hazlett when he was informed that Attorney Walter Haas, who with Robert Murphy and Neil McCarthy, represents the smaller group of oil companies opposing the injunction, has been called from the city.

Attorneys for the oil company contend that the new act is unconstitutional on the grounds that its phraseology is too obscure to define what is a reasonable waste of gas, also that it delegates too much arbitrary power to the State gas and oil supervisor whose job it is, under the new law, to fix the gas-oil ratio in a field.

Negro Suspect Found in Jail

Charged with attacks on white women, George Gaines, negro, tomorrow will be brought back from Sacramento, where he was identified while serving a vagrancy sentence. The Sheriff's office will send deputies today to take Gaines in custody on charges of attack and robbery.

According to the Sheriff's office Gaines was one of a gang of four negroes who, in April and May, 1927, terrorized women in outlying districts. He is accused by the Sheriff of attacking a woman who was kidnaped from her husband's automobile at Western avenue and Jefferson street, after the man had been robbed.

Gaines was implicated by Frank Wallace and Howard R. Hart, two members of the gang who were sentenced in August, 1927, to serve life sentences in San Quentin for their part in the attacks. They were convicted on the testimony of two girls of Sawtelle. The fourth man has not been apprehended.

Finale Reached on Huge Estate

The million-dollar estate of John A. Forthmann, one of the founders of the Los Angeles Soap Company, who died in 1922, came to a final counting in Superior Judge Crail's court yesterday.

Three executors, Annie M. and Rosanna Forthmann and Charles A. Meyer, were in court. The first two executors were represented by Attorney Thomas Dockweiler, but Meyer had retained another firm of attorneys, Dunne, Dunne & Cook, of San Francisco. The court ordered a fee of $5250 paid to Dockweiler and $1500 to the other firm.

New Balm Suit Filed by Wife

Following dismissal of a $200,000 heart-balm suit against Mrs. Dorothy Lauth-Davis, when Superior Judge McComb sustained a demurrer to the complaint, Mrs. Mary Weiss has filed a new action, demanding $150,000 on the assertion that Mrs. Lauth-Davis had stolen the plaintiff's husband, John Weiss, artist and sculptor, after twenty years of wedded life.

Mrs. Weiss, in her new action, charges Mrs. Lauth-Davis, prominent in mucical circles, with making love to Weiss and destroying his love for his wife and home.

[illegible]BER STUDIES TAX ISSUE

[illegible] Raised of Joining Bay City in Court Move [illegible] Separate Income Returns for Wife

[illegible] it is advisable to join in a court action in an effort to es[illegible] income-tax returns by husband and wife in the case of [illegible] property is the subject of an inquiry launched yester[illegible] group of Los Angeles business men, who met at the Chamber [illegible]. Another meeting is to be called soon at which a larger [illegible] is expected and at which an advisory report will be [illegible] by the chamber's legal committee.

[illegible] legal action is [illegible] theory that such ad[illegible] establish definitely [illegible] return procedure [illegible] in California by [illegible] ruling and which [illegible] decrease in income [illegible].

[illegible] of the proposition [illegible] by the suggestion from [illegible] Chamber of Commerce [illegible] chamber follow [illegible] Bay City Chamber [illegible] business men in con[illegible] legal step. Presi[illegible] of the chamber pre[illegible] and explained that [illegible] is not one which the [illegible] handle. However, [illegible] good offices in any [illegible] arriving at a deter[illegible] question.

[illegible] point at issue in [illegible] procedure is whether [illegible] contingent should [illegible] San Francisco Cham[illegible] to obtain [illegible] Washington rela[illegible] pending before the [illegible] involving the com[illegible] law of the State [illegible]. The specific issue [illegible] is whether a hus[illegible] can make separate [illegible] community income under the laws of States, which have the community system of property.

Heretofore the Federal Supreme Court, in the specifically cited case of the United States versus Robbins, had held that under the community property law of California the husband personally must report all of the community income on his tax return. The California Legislature, however, in 1927 amended the community property law of this State by adding to the Civic Code a section which gives to the wife a fixed and vested interest in the community property. Since the Robbins decision held that her interest is merely an expectancy, the California Legislature through this amendment vested the interest in the wife to avoid the effect of the decision in the Robbins case thereby gaining for the marital community the benefit of separate returns.

The Supreme Court in the case pending from the State of Washington will be called on to decide what rights, if any, a wife possesses in the community income for income-tax purposes during marriage. It appears to be the general opinion that a favorable decision by the Supreme Court in this case, which is in the nature of a test action, will be applicable to all of the States having community property laws.

DOLLAR SHIP TREASURE CRAFT

Rare, Rich Wanamaker Exhibit Here

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. MacFarland

PRECIOUS pearls, rare tapestries, objects of art said to be worth millions of dollars, came around from New York on the Dollar liner President Monroe yesterday.

They are among the choicest items which the late John Wanamaker took many years to collect. One string of pearls making the passage in the ship's strong box is appraised around $165,000. Two tapestries are declared among the finest and oldest in American hands.

The exhibit will be on public display at 338 Green street, Pasadena, from the 10th to the 17th inst., under the auspices of the Junior League. Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. MacFarland of New York escorted the collection here.

BANK BANDIT DEFENDANT CONVICTED

Pete Marzec Found Guilty on Two Robbery and Burglary Charges

Pete Marzec, accused of robbing two Los Angeles banks of approximately $20,000 while disguised with fantastic masks, was found guilty last night on two first-degree robbery charges and the jury in addition brought in a guilty verdict on two first-degree burglary charges. Superior Judge McComb, before whom the case was tried, set next Thursday as the date for sentence.

At the conclusion of the State's case against Marzec yesterday, Jim Marsh, star defense witness, was arrested by District Attorney's operatives as he left the courtroom and held for investigation.

Marsh took the stand and testified that he was present in a pool room in Arkansas City, Kan., and saw Marzec there at the time he is accused of robbing a Los Angeles bank.

The indictment charges Marzec with robbing two branch banks of the Merchants' National Bank of approximately $20,000. The first count charges that Marzec robbed the Merchants' National Trust and Savings Bank branch at 2412 South Hoover street, of $8406. The second count accuses the defendant of robbing the Twenty-fifth-street and Central-avenue branch of the same bank of $12,600.

H. S. G. McCartney, prosecuting the case for the District Attorney, charged that Marzec is the eccentric bandit who entered the bank offices concealing his face behind a grotesque mask and carrying two guns—a German Luger and a .22 automatic.

Two guns of this description, masks and numerous other implements asserted to be used by burglars were found in Marzec's possession at the time he was arrested, according to officers.

Old Dress Sale to Aid Hospital For Children

An old or outgrown party frock might appear to be one of the world's most useless commodities but the assumption is wrong for the salvage department of the Children's Hospital has a definite use for such articles.

Beginning on Monday there will be a sale of party dresses at the Salvage Store, 712 Maple avenue, to continue for one week, and any donations will be welcomed there.

Funds from the sale will be turned over to the Children's Hospital Convalescent Home at Hermosa Beach, which is not a Community Chest agency.

In charge of the annual dress sale will be Mmes. William Albert Crutcher, Waller Taylor, Budd Frankenfield, T. P. Heflin, Edson Wolcott, S. M. Newmark, Pierre Mason and Harry Baldwin.

Theater Given Tip on Hold-up

A warning that the United Artists' Theater was to be robbed again was found last night, posted on a rear door of the cinema at 941 South Broadway. An employee found and turned in to Manager E. J. Long a penciled notice reading, "Beware. Your place is to be robbed again. S. & W."

Because the theater was robbed of $12,000 on August 19, 1929, Detective Lieutenants Katzenberger and Kleinfeldt were detailed to investigate. Edward Kavanaugh, former janitor, and his wife, Mary Kavanaugh, are serving sentences in San Quentin for the theater safe robbery.

Dry Goods Men Honor Palmer

The National Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association yesterday elected T. C. Palmer to the directorate at the annual convention in New York City.

Check Suspect Held for Trial

Benjamin Karpen, 32-year-old member of a wealthy Chicago manufacturing family, was ordered held for Superior Court trial on a charge of writing a check without sufficient funds to cover it, following his preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Turney yesterday. Judge Turney dismissed forgery charges against him. Bail of $2000 was set.

Louis Hentloff, 5606 South Broadway, declared that Karpen gave him a check for $350 on a nonexistent Chicago bank, signed by his brother, Nathan Karpen. The defendant maintained that he made the mistake of giving Hentloff a check which was inadvertently drawn on the wrong bank.

CHAMBER COMMITTEE MAKES AIRPORT TOUR

As the first of a series of tours to permit all members of the committee to become familiar with all phases of the aviation industry here, the aviation, military and naval affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday visited several of the airports in this section. The committee plans to visit all of the airplane-manufacturing plants next week and will make the tour by air. Headed by Harry Wetzel and A. G. Arnoll the party visited the municipal airport at Mines Field, the Aero Corporation of California, the Western College of Aeronautics, the proposed El Monte airport and the Western Air Express field.

DETECTIVE SAYS WIFE'S SNOOPERS TRAILED HIM

Marshall L. Moore, Santa Monica detective, couldn't properly follow his job because when he was out "detectiving," detectives hired by his wife were on his trail, thereby hampering him in his work, he recites in his cross-complaint filed as an answer to the separate maintenance suit brought against him by Mrs. Monnie Moore. The suit, containing many unusual charges, was continued until April when called for trial in Judge Hazlett's court yesterday.

The wife asserts that Moore boasted to her that another woman was crazy about him; that when the woman went to the police station looking for him she would say, "Where is that big handsome detective?"

Mrs. Moore also accused her husband of having her sent to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital.

Moore admits sending his wife to the hospital, justifying his action with the assertion that Mrs. Moore was in a nervous state bordering on insanity. He says she was continually nagging him with false accusations that he was associating with other women.

EARLE'S DENIAL READ IN COURT

Miss Salazar's Contentions Combated by Artist

Story of "Marriage" Said to be Preposterous

Defense Hints at Surprise in $30,000 Contest

Ferdinand Pinney (Affinity) Earle, artist, now living in Paris, who is being sued by Miss Dolores Salazar, Los Angeles Spanish girl, for $30,000 for asserted breach of prenuptial contracts, emphatically denies he ever went through a marriage ceremony with her in Mexico City, or that he ever promised to put money in the bank for her for her future maintenance.

The artist also denies that he ever promised to name Miss Salazar as one of the beneficiaries in his will, or that he drove her from him after she accompanied him to Paris.

The denials are made in depositions which were read yesterday by Attorneys William B. Ogden and Sam Steelman, to the jury in the court of Superior Judge Archbald where Miss Salazar and her attorneys, Roger Marchetti and I. Bear Newman, have been all week prosecuting the suit.

SURPRISE HINTED

A sort of intimation was made late yesterday, just before court adjourned, that several surprise witnesses may be used by the defense.

The reading of Earle's deposition occupied most of the day. It was taken several months ago in Paris, where the artist is living with a French girl he married, according to his statement, in June, 1928.

"I was deeply in love with Dolores," he recites in one place, "but I made no promise to place money in the bank for her."

The artist also declared that after living in Mexico City, where he did some painting in a Mexican church, as man and wife he and Miss Salazar sailed for Europe. He said they traveled as man and wife across the ocean and to Paris.

JUST HAD TO SMILE

"I never proposed to Dolores," Earle declared. "In fact, I never proposed to any woman, except the one I am now married to."

"At the first smile she (Miss Salazar) fell into my lap like a ripe peach. All I had to do was to smile at her," Earle declared.

"And you like peaches?" asked the attorney.

"Not such costly ones," Earle replied.

"Did you ever go through a mock marriage with Miss Salazar in Mexico City?" was one of the questions asked.

"I never did. Such a thing is preposterous and false," was the answer.

Earle also denies that he drove Miss Salazar from him after they arrived in Paris. He says she left him to go to live with an aunt. The artist admitted slapping Dolores on the cheek one evening after a scene he asserts she created in a cafeteria in Mexico City during an argument over her eating some rich sundaes.

"I never did that again, but went back to a treatment of courtesy, patience and diplomacy in dealing with her," Earle said.

DEPOSITION BY SON

One of the depositions read late in the day was one sworn to by Earle's son, Evand Earle, 13 years of age, who traveled with his father and Miss Salazar to Europe.

A letter written by Miss Salazar to the artist after her return to the United States, in which she told him he would never see her again; that she would never disturb him and hoped her people wouldn't, was read into the record; also one written by Earle to the girl, in which he described her as having an inconsiderate nature with a cruel vein in it, a nature revealing no pity.

"I cherish my beautiful memories of you," he wrote to her. In one place he declares:

"Do you not owe me the common courtesy to let me know if our child survived or not?"

Judge Archbald adjourned court until Monday at 10 a.m.

More testimony in rebuttal will be taken before the case is given to the jury.

Pilot Hunters Remain Silent

No word was received here yesterday by officials of the Western Air Express from Eureka, Utah, on the search by a ground party of territory thirty-five miles southwest of that point in an effort to find Maurice Graham, missing air-mail pilot who disappeared on January 11.

The party went afoot to a spot where miners said they had seen a blaze flame up on a mountain. The territory is exceedingly rough and Los Angeles officials of the air transportation company say they do not expect a report for another day at least.

TRAFFIC SURVEY SOUGHT

The Eighth Street Improvement Association yesterday asked the City Council to institute a survey of the anticipated traffic congestion which will arise in Eighth street, east of Figueroa street, after the completion of the widening and improving of Eighth street west of Figueroa. This was referred to the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee.

I am very anxious to make my columns of value to my readers. Now, naturally, I am so enthusiastic myself over personal results that I hope the following letter may interest those who read it and persuade them into taking advantage of the information, at once:

"Joannes Corporation, 800 Traction avenue, Los Angeles, Cal. Gentlemen:

It is with sincere gratitude that I write to you of my experience with your wonderfully healthful Ben-Hur Drip Coffee.

About two years ago both my husband and myself had to give up our dinner coffee. It burned our stomachs an hour or so after dinner so badly that we were made miserable. The repeating left no doubt that it was the coffee. My husband mentioned so often that down South where he had lived for several years before our marriage, they drank drip coffee as thick as syrup, yet no one seemed to be hurt by it.

I went to china stores seeking a drip coffee pot, but no one knew what I wanted, and I certainly did not. Then one lucky day I overheard a lady with a distinctly southern accent, talking to a customer of a local department store. I waited until she was free and then told her I was looking for a southern drip-coffee pot. She said she knew what I wanted, but that she had found something she considered far superior. She then told me of your splendid Ben-Hur Healthful Coffee Maker, and warned me that I would get the best results only by the use of your special Ben-Hur Drip Coffee. I found and purchased the coffee maker and coffee at my grocers, the same day.

We have used from three to five pounds of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee a month ever since, with no more coffee trouble. It has been my pleasure to give five of my friends each a Ben-Hur Healthful Coffee maker, all of whom are now exclusively Ben-Hur Coffee users.

Wishing you every success, I am
Sincerely yours,
MRS. ARTHUR O. LEATART,
1861 E. Foothill Boulevard,
Altadena, Cal.

Many Los Angeles women are making money now on home-made candies. Now the Liberty Candy Co. teaches candy making, chocolate dipping, cake icing, etc., at a nominal cost, so if you want to earn money in your spare time see them or write for an explanatory booklet to 400 Grant Bldg., 355 S. Broadway. TUcker 4156.

"The road to success is paved with the indulgences you refuse."

To bleach clothes—save the egg shells and on washday put them in a salt bag and place them in the boiler with the clothes; the lime in the shells is a splendid bleacher for white clothes.

Why is it that we all are prone to let photographs go unframed? Just think how hard on a portrait that is—Now why not preserve cherished likenesses by having them framed as soon as they are given us? Just the other day I stopped in Matthews Paint Company at 1345 South Hill, to take a picture and was delighted with the ready-made frames I found there—though the moldings quite intrigued me, too—They were all so good looking . . . and how they set off a photograph, making it much grander looking. Now, may I not urge you to take your unframed portraits, your etchings, prints or what ever type picture you have which is in need of framing to one of Matthews Paint Company's three stores, one of which is certain to be convenient to you. Remember, there is the one on South Hill I mentioned, then there is another at 1559 North Vine (Hollywood,) and a third at 740 East Green, Pasadena.

What an ideal gift for yourself or friends a box of "Udelco" stationery makes! Just think; you get 200 sheets of paper and 100 envelopes with your address printed in blue on both for $1. Write or phone for samples to the Udell Co., 5457 Virginia ave. (HOlly. 1155.)

For removing lint from laundry tubs, probe the outlets with a long handled buttonhook.

THE WIRE CLOTHESLINE

Frequently a strand in the wire clothesline snaps. If this happens fasten the ends together and bind well with a strip of white cloth. Tie securely. This precaution will prevent the ends of the wire from piercing some article of clothing.

There is always a need for as many fluff rugs as you can get, so get out your old carpets and have some made right away by the Hoffman Rug Works, 2914 W. Jefferson street. (EMpire 2048.) Their work is done remarkably well and the prices leave nothing to be desired. Yes, they also make rag rugs, too!

When covering the ironing board, tack the cloth on wet and dry it gradually; when it has dried it will be very smooth and tight. Woolen materials should never be used for ironing-board covers; they retain moisture and make it difficult to iron clothes dry.

An inch strip of white painted along the edge of the porch and also on the edge of each step is a great help to near-sighted persons or those with poor eyesight; white lines show plainly, and at night prevent danger of falling, besides giving the porch an attractive appearance.

The clothes you no longer have any further need for, the articles you no longer want should be gathered together and sent to the Children's Hospital Salvage Department for they minister to helpless little lads and lassies and are in this respect one of the worthiest charities I know of. 712 Maple avenue is their address; TUcker 1203 the phone number. Any size bundle is acceptable.

To remove odor of fresh paint from a room, place an open paper bag containing several pieces of charcoal in the room and close the room tightly. Another method is to add sulphuric acid to a basin of water and place it in the freshly painted room.

To test the heat of an iron, dip the finger in cold water and let a drop of the water touch it. If the iron stains it is at the right heat for woolen articles; for starched goods, the iron must be hot enough to fling off a drop of water without staining it.

Once you "discover" Guasti Sauce a la Bercy you will of course, wonder how you ever prepared fish dishes, especially, without its use. It is the finest sauce of the kind we have ever used and the way it improves the flavor of the food in which you put it is little short of astounding. Lent being practically upon us, I am giving you some fish recipes which you will find very helpful and by the same token they are utterly delicious!

Here's one which is called Filet of Deep Sea Turbot (Bonne Femme.) Be sure to cut this out and try it soon.

Place desired number of filets in well-buttered saute pan. Sprinkle chopped onions and sliced fresh mushrooms, add Guasti Sauce a la Bercy, a few pieces of butter and a little fish stock. Cover whole with oiled paper and cook in oven. When done take fish out of pan and let stock reduce. Add cream and let reduce again until consistency of sauce, finish out of fire with sweet butter tasse—pour over your filet and glaze under toaster. For appearance's sake, this combination can be served in a border of potato duchesse.

P. S.—This recipe you will find in "Treasured Flavors," the free cook book issued by the Italian Vineyard Company of 1248 Palmetto street, Los Angeles, who give us Guasti Sauce a la Bercy and many other very excellent products.

Do try to open an account right away in the women's department of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association at 7th and Olive streets. You see, aside from the convenience of the location there is a charm to the atmosphere of this department that is utterly delightful! Then Miss Grace S. Stoermer and her very able assistants are always willing to advise you on all financial matters, a service which you will find priceless!

Paint and varnish brushes, when used only occasionally, should be hung in a jar of kerosene; each brush should hang so that the bristles are entirely covered by the kerosene.

Any article of silver which you have that is broken or worn can be repaired and replated by the Peerless Platers of 239½ South Spring (upstairs,) so that when finished you cannot tell them from new . . . it's true and what is more, this concern is very reliable and their prices extremely modest. Knives, forks and tablespoons are done for $3.50 a dozen; teaspoons costing but $2.50 for the same amount.

To make a strong glue. Soak some ordinary glue in water till it is quite soft; then dissolve it over a slow fire in linseed oil until it becomes the thickness of jelly.

Children simply adore Mayflower Potato Chips! They really prefer them to sweets and in that way you are lucky for Mayflower Potato Chips are not at all harmful—indeed they are good for people of all ages and my, but they satisfy—always crisp as can be, fresh and of finest quality, too. You know of course that Mayflower Potato Chips are "sold at all better stores" so don't take another kind but insist upon this brand.

To clean brushes—For paint brushes use benzine, gasoline or turpentine. Clean varnish brushes with turpentine, also those used for enamel. For brushes used for shellac use denatured alcohol.

CUTTING FUR

When cutting fur to fit another garment, turn it with the back to you and cut along the penciled lines with a safety razor blade. Never use scissors on fur as that will cut away the fur at the same time you are cutting the hide.

Row Over Birth of Baby Figures in Divorce Suit

Ralph E. Downard, seeking a divorce from Mrs. Bertha Downard yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Keetch, testified that his wife gave him a big surprise by giving birth to a baby girl after they had been married twenty-one years. He was pleased. His joy, however, he said, was turned to sorrow when his wife flew at him and scratched his face.

Two other children of the couple, Harriet, 23 years of age and Barton, 22, testified in behalf of their father. The husband did not ask for the custody of their 3-year-old daughter, Ruth, but asked permission to visit her when he pleased.

Judge Keetch granted the husband a decree of divorce and approved a property settlement made between him and his wife on November 10, 1929.

Girl Confesses Forging Checks

Admitting that she passed forged checks to pay for her wedding trousseau, Dorothy Dellinger, 20 years of age, yesterday declared in Municipal Judge Ballard's court that she would plead guilty to the accusation in Superior Court. She was held for trial under $1500 bail.

The girl was arrested in her apartment at 7510 Norton avenue, following complaints of Hollywood merchants to whom she gave the checks in payment for clothing.

LAND FOR EXTENSION SOON WILL BE DEEDED

The City Engineer yesterday notified the City Council that the land necessary for the extension of Santa Barbara avenue as a ninety-foot street from Griffith avenue to McKinley avenue, will be deeded to the city within ninety days. He suggests that he be authorized to draw up the necessary plans and specifications for the improvement of this stretch with a paved seventy-foot roadway, curbs and sidewalks. The Council referred the matter to the Public Works Committee.

Couple Married Sixty-five Years Will Celebrate

Celebrating their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Over of 119 South Rampart Boulevard will receive a number of friends at dinner at 1 p.m. Their only relative living in this city, Charles H. Over, Jr., a grandson, will be among those who will congratulate the long-wed pair.

Mr. Over is 87 years of age, and Mrs. Over is 83. They have lived here for the past six years, having come here from New York, where they made their home after Mr. Over's retirement from business. THESE COMPOSITORS

Patron of local restaurant finds button in soup. "Typographical error, sir," explains waiter. "Should have been mutton."

SEMPER PARATUS

Putting bird-seed cups on New York trees and keeping them filled is part of the Boy Scouts' duties during cold weather.

THE MODERN IDEA

Even the hens have gone strong-minded, for 50 per cent of the chickens hatched in California have incubators for hot mammas instead of broody hens on nests.

AN INTELLIGENCE TEST?

An Oregon philosopher broadcasts the information that intelligence should be used in selecting a life mate. Now who outside of Oregon would have thought of that?

NATURE'S LONG TUNNEL

An explorer to Carlsban Cavern in New Mexico traveled down a constantly widening tunnel for six days, until his supplies gave out; scientists who are mapping this largest of all caverns are planning another jaunt.

RUNNING SWEETLY

"Business is in high," reports Auto-Maker Graham of Toledo, O., who is visiting the city. Yes, and it's getting twenty miles to the gallon and purring smoothly, without a knock on the grades.

NATURALIZING EXOTICS

If you stepped out on Field No. 13, in the 777-acre track of the experiment station near Riverside, where the University of California conducts tryouts of plants, you would doubtless be unable to identify many of the 200 varieties of vegetation growing there, as they are rare specimens from foreign countries.

WHICH THEATER?

When all is said and done the absent-minded professor is no worse in the way of mental abstraction than the much-preoccupied business man who tied a knot in his handkerchief to remind him to get tickets for the theater and meet his wife there, and then forgot which theater she wanted to attend.

YOUTHFUL SPEEDERS

Four boys, one 16 and three 17 years of age, were recently rounded up in one night for reckless driving. One was speeding sixty miles an hour; the others, fifty-five, fifty and forty-eight miles, respectively, in fifteen and twenty-mile zones.

Possibly next to drunk drivers these wild-eyed maniacs are the greatest menace to the highway. Most motorists agree that those who seem to take the greatest chances are boys. They have not had experience and have not learned the perils.

When one car careens around another in close traffic, jeopardizing both cars, a half-baked kid is usually at the helm. Girls may drive temperamentally; but the toes of boys itch to "step on it." When some one takes liberty with the signals after the block is on, a second look usually reveals a young sap.

It may not be fair to blame all boys. There are many self-contained youths who function perfectly on the road. But the fact remains that too large a contribution to the hospitals and morgue is made by young fellows who have nothing in particular to do upon arrival.

There are two ways to deal with the menace. A few lengths of birch in the home have marvelous curative qualities. Next to castor oil, this is useful to reduce hot blood. It saves many a heartache and tremendous expense later.

However, if the parents are not able to snatch these babies from the wheel, the police should be backed up by the courts with full penalties for infractions of law. It is about the only way to save the boys as well as the necks of other motorists and pedestrians.

Another exceedingly effective method is to de-license every youth caught speeding. He should be given a chance to grow up. Then raising the age of drivers would be useful as a last resort.

CHICAGO

The steady stream of death dealt out from the guns of racketeers in Chicago the past week has its lesson for Los Angeles. The Chicago situation is not, of course, due to any single cause, nor is it to be cured by any one remedy; but more than anything else it is the natural outgrowth of the theory that any line of business or any particular occupation, craft or trade is the rightful monopoly of a group and that group is justified in using any methods to retain its privileges. The principal practitioners of this theory are to be found in labor organizations, and the Chicago unions, if they did not invent racketeering, have aided tremendously in its development and are at the present time its backbone.

This is of particular interest here because organizers of the American Federation of Labor, seeking to unionize Los Angeles, have announced that "Chicago methods" of organizing are to be used here and that the goal is such a closely knit body of industrial workers as exists in Chicago, one of the most tightly "closed-shop" cities in the nation. In proof that these organizers meant literally what they said, it was discovered early in the winter that an organization of Chicago bomb throwers and manufacturers of bombs had arrived in town. Police, warned of their coming, arrested several and ran others out, but some are still here, awaiting a favorable opportunity to begin operations. The plot was carefully laid. One of its principal features was the campaign to oust Chief of Police Davis and replace him with a chief who would agree to keep hands off of labor disturbances; but this campaign has succeeded so far only in part. The plotters got out the man they did not want, but they have not yet dared or been able to put in the man they do want.

Chicago and Los Angeles are in many ways closely comparable. Both are cities of great and rapid growth, accompanied by tremendous industrial development, but the industrial development has proceeded along different lines. Los Angeles has always insisted upon industrial freedom, the essence of which is the denial of the right of monopoly. Los Angeles recognizes the right of men to organize, but it also recognizes the right of men not to organize, their right of free choice in the matter of occupation or business. Chicago employers have yielded, on the other hand, to the monopoly theory; they accede to the "closed shop;" and in a "closed-shop" town it is impossible to prevent racketeering and all the evils that follow in its train.

The strike, principal weapon of unionism, is in itself a form of extortion or group blackmail. It is occasionally justified as the last resort of men against intolerable conditions, as, for instance, in the southern cotton mills, just as revolution or revolt is occasionally justified; there have been just wars. Industrial warfare, like international warfare, is, however, unnecessary in the majority of cases. It is the second principal fault of the American Federation of Labor (the first being the insistence upon monopoly of the right to work) that it is organized for war and not for peace. Peace and co-operation between employer and employed are necessary for high productivity and it is high productivity that provides high wages, permits shorter hours and improves working conditions. There is never peace in a "closed shop;" at most there is a temporary truce.

The only kind of co-operation possible in a "closed shop" is co-operation to exploit the public, which becomes one of the forms of racketeering—employers and employees joining hands and sharing the plunder. The useful co-operation of the open shop is a joining of hands to better serve the public.

That Chicago has not beaten the racketeers, yet, is painfully evident from recent events. It has made a start by improving its prosecuting officer; it is on the way of ousting the Thompson political machine from control of the city affairs—a control that has brought on civic bankruptcy and a receivership; but it will never achieve final victory over the system that builds up racketeering until it revolutionizes its industrial relations. It must substitute the open shop for the closed shop.

Los Angeles, threatened with "Chicago methods," needs to look at the city by Lake Michigan for an example of the results of "Chicago methods." It can be prevented from becoming a second Chicago by the vigilance of its citizens, who alone can retain the industrial freedom won by forty years of hard fighting.

THE RITZ-CARLTON

The placing of a unit of the Ritz-Carlton chain of hotels in any city is a matter of more than ordinary news interest. But the structure that is to rise in the Hollywood hills is, according to announcement, to be the crowning glory of the chain, and if it does become this it will be something benefiting all Southern California.

The announcement was made last night at an open-air dinner on the site, a tract with a magnificent view north of Franklin avenue and lying between Beachwood Drive and Vine street, where twenty-two acres have been obtained for it. It is expected that construction will begin at once, inasmuch as the designs have been completed and ample capital has been provided for the project.

This construction work will give employment to hundreds and add much to local prosperity, while the hotel itself will make continuous contribution to Los Angeles business through the bringing here of a new stream of patrons. The Ritz-Carlton chain has a clientele of its own, and it is declared this will be sufficient to fill the hotel almost to capacity as soon as it is opened, without drawing at all upon the business of existing hotels.

Los Angeles welcomes such enterprises.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

EDUCATION has changed a lot. When we were a kid it was the ambition of every boy to play hookey. To get away from school for a day or two, and not be thrashed for it, was a triumph.

IT—YOUR SPINACH FRESH A-TOPSIE

But now the kids don't want to play hookey. They have so much more fun at school than they can have anywhere else that they feel aggrieved if you take them away from school for a day. That is, the younger children do.

Arithmetic Made Pleasant

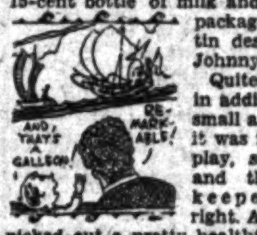
Puzzled by this mystery, we did what very few parents do. We went to school the other day.

We dropped in on the class in which Charles, our 7-year-old, is a pupil just as the arithmetic lesson was in progress. Now when we used to play hookey, arithmetic was the thing we hated most of all. But those kiddies were having the time of their lives. Because they weren't studying arithmetic as we used to. They were playing store.

"Johnny," said the teacher, "you have a dollar to spend. Go to the store and buy the best dinner you can for a dollar."

So Johnny took a little market basket—one he'd woven himself as part of the school work—and went to the "store."

"Gimme 30 cents worth of steak, 20 cents worth of carrots, a dime's worth of lettuce, a 10-cent loaf of bread, a 15-cent bottle of milk and a 15-cent package of gelatin dessert," said Johnny.



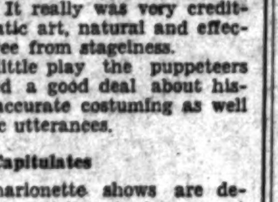
Quite a triumph in addition for so small a boy. But it was interesting play, so both he and the storekeeper got it right. And Johnny picked out a pretty healthful dinner, too. In that game children of 7 and 8 were learning addition, substraction and quite a bit about balanced rations.

Geography and History Made Painless

The next day, at the Annandale Boulevard school, we saw a frieze made up of pictures of ships—pictures drawn by children ranging from 9 to 11 years old. Miss Elizabeth Sands, the principal, told us it had started during an English lesson, but had developed into a surprising combination of art and geography and history lessons. Beginning with the first ships of the Phoenicians, the series of pictures fairly carried one through the history of the world, showing Greek and Roman galleys, Viking ships, Spanish galleons and ships famous in history, such as the Santa Maria and the Constitution. The pictures were proof that the youngsters had learned much more of history, geography and art than we ever learned in our school days—and yet it had all been fun.

Marionettes

At the same school we saw a marionette show which was a delight to all the children and a triumph for the little folks who had gotten it up. One of the pupils, Babette Copper, 10 years old, had wanted to learn to make and manipulate marionettes and Miss Sands had allowed her an hour each day to go over to the class of Miss Ellen Galpin, who teaches that sort of thing in the Burbank Junior High School. Imgaine any strict old-time principal allowing a thing like that! But with Miss Galpin's help, Babette had made all the marionettes and had taught her little classmates to operate them. The three-act playlet the children made the marionettes present would have been a credit to much older pupils and the lines the children spoke for the marionettes were strikingly free from the stiffness and self-consciousness which mark most child actors when they have to appear before an audience. It really was very creditable dramatic art, natural and effective and free from stageiness.



In that little play the puppeteers had learned a good deal about historic and accurate costuming as well as dramatic utterances.

Old Fogy Capitulates

These marionette shows are developing the artistic air in a great many Los Angeles children now. Not only in the junior high schools, but in the playground centers there are classes which make marionettes and give marionette shows. We had had a talk with Lawrence Tibbett a day or two before in which he said it was the encouragement his teachers gave to artistic impulses when he was a student in Manual Arts High School which really had started him on his career. And we couldn't help believing that these new ideas in education are better than the old ones even if the old ones did turn out such a lot of world beaters. Through the schools and the playgrounds, every child in Los Angeles is being given a chance to develop artistic impulses which may—and in many cases undoubtedly will—be the first steps toward great careers.

MUST REGISTER

It seems that all registrations of voters went out with the first of the year and all citizens must see that they get back on the roll again before the elections draw nigh. In some of the towns there are early spring primaries and in these the voters will have to see that their names are taken before the ides of March. But registration clerks will be popping up in public places shortly and will have authority to tally a resident of any precinct in their county. That makes it easy. Every citizen should at least take sufficient interest in his government to see that he is properly registered—in fact, he can't be a real citizen unless he does.

ALAS, POOR ROMANCE!

Apparently Death Valley Scotty's fabulous gold mine was located all the time in the business district of Chicago. At any rate this glamorful personality gave the world the kind of thrills that it is ever seeking and the hoax was a harmless one. His exploit in the realms of imagination helps to explain the everlasting lure of the mystery story for those who must live their lives in the kingdom of fact.

WALLIE AND BILLY

By James J. Montague

Wallie loves his studies—
He's a model child,
Hasn't any buddies
Who are rough or wild.
Knows his dictionary
Pretty much by heart;
Teacher says he's very Studious and smart.

Billy isn't "booky,"
Isn't mild or meek—
Licked for playing hookey
Almost every week.
Breaks or soils whatever
He may chance to touch;
Teacher says he never
Can amount to much.

Wallie has ambition,
Says he means to rise
To a high position
When he's old and wise.
Billy doesn't bother,
Lazy little shirk;
Says that he'd far rather
Go to jail than work.

I could wish that Wallie
Went to jail himself
And Bill, despite his folly,
Gained both place and pelf,
But, though I say so sadly,
It is my honest guess,
That Bill will turn out badly
And Wallie win success.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

DEADHEADS AND LETTERHEADS

[Boston Transcript]

Mrs. Frederick McLaughlin, the former Irene Castle, has resigned from the board of directors of the Chicago Anti-Cruelty Society. She said she objected to having deadheads on the society's letterheads. It was a touching scene. Mrs. McLaughlin was moved to tears. So were some of her sister members. But the deadheads were not ordered removed. There will be no extra bill for printing.

Here is an incident of interest. Probably in the Anti-Cruelty Society are women who take their job as directors seriously. They devote time and effort to it. There are others whose names are supposed to give the society such prestige that it does not matter whether or not these women do any work. Now and then somebody like Mrs. McLaughlin becomes restive under this system. Protest is made, but the system endures. For it often happens that the use of a name on the stationery of the society means the continuance of financial contributions of great value. Thus is the almighty dollar enlisted in the war on cruelty. And there as elsewhere the almighty dollar is needed. But it is easy to understand how Mrs. McLaughlin feels about the deadheads on the letterheads.

BROOKHART

[New York World]

The case of Smith W. Brookhart is, we suppose, a case of having to take the fleas with the dog. The principle of privileged speech in the Senate is so valuable that it is necessary to endure a man like Brookhart's abuse of that privilege.

We trust that we are not characterizing Senator Brookhart with too much restraint when we say that he is a Senator who attacks private citizens from a forum in which he cannot be called to account; when we say that he is a Senator who gives publicity to anonymous, unsupported charges; when we say that he is a Senator who accepts hospitality and betrays his host.

SENSITIVE MOSCOW

[Christian Science Monitor]

Moscow is exceedingly sensitive to any adverse criticism, either from within or without. Having such an attitude itself, it might be expected to recognize that other nations do not welcome alien attacks. Mere difference in form of government need not shut Russia off from friendly intercourse with the rest of the world. Bolshevism is not the barrier; unfriendly propaganda is. Edmund Burke said he did not know how to indict a whole people, but Moscow indicts the world. Even if it feels all other nations to be mistaken, its methods of conversion must by now appear a little less than sound. If Russia has discovered a good thing, it should demonstrate the fact; other peoples will be able to recognize it. Proof of progress is the best propaganda. When Moscow learns that, it will have taken a primary step toward better relations with its neighbors.

MARRIAGE, DIVORCE, SOCIALISM

[Buffalo Courier-Journal]

We do not know that Senator Capper is right when he says the incongruous marriage and divorce laws of the forty-eight States are paving the way for Socialism in the United States faster than are the activities of any radical element. While it is true that some schools of Socialism make rather light of the marriage tie yet we doubt that light consideration of family obligations necessarily makes for Socialism.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Under the Direction of Dean Rockwell Hunt

VI

COLLEGE OF MUSIC

BY DEAN WALTER F. SKEELE

The department of music was organized in 1884, four years after the founding of the university. All through the half-century of the university's history music has played an important role in its cultural life; yet never was it more prominent than in this jubilee year. In 1893 the college of music was organized, replacing the department. In 1895 F. A. Bacon, the vocal teacher of the school, was appointed dean. W. F. Skeele was called as head of the piano and organ departments. Courses were offered in volin, voice, piano, organ and harmony. The school was housed in the annex—the original university building—moving next year to the old Hodge Hall. During its career the school has had many places of abode. In 1898 Mr. Bacon resigned and Mr. Skeele was appointed dean, which position he has retained ever since.

In 1905 the college moved to the south wing of the old college. At that time there were three piano teachers and one each for voice, violin, organ and theoretical subjects. The total enrollment was about 100. The attendance increased in the larger quarters till nearly 200 were enrolled. In 1912 the college moved to Blanchard Hall, a downtown studio building, in order to give more room for the liberal arts department on the campus. Another move to the Mason Operahouse was made in 1915. In 1916 the old Marble Homestead at Thirty-second and Figueroa streets was taken and this continued as the home of the school until 1924, when a move was made to the present home at Grand avenue and Adams street. Two years ago (1927) it was found necessary to enlarge the accommodations and a second house was rented in the neighborhood, where the library and several studios and practice rooms are situated. It is now evident to the authorities that ideal housing conditions cannot be fully realized until there shall be erected on the university campus a beautiful and commanding Hall of Music.

A department of public school music was organized in 1915. This met with little success until Miss Lillian Cummings was engaged to conduct it in 1918. State recognition was then obtained and the college was enabled to offer the State certificate. Dr. Arnold H. Wagner succeeded Miss Cummings in 1920, and under his leadership the department has become one of the strongest in the school. Miss Olga Steeb, the famous pianist, became head of the piano department in the summer of 1920. Mr. Davol Sanders of New York was engaged as head of the violin department in 1919. Normal training in applied subjects has become an important part of the school work.

The theoretical department has been broadened and enlarged until now it comprises courses in harmony, ear training, history, counterpoint, form and analysis, composition and other theoretical subjects that equal or surpass similar courses in many of the leading institutions of the country. The subjects of harmony and ear training have been especially stressed as the foundation for true musicianship. Former teachers of these subjects included Miss Carolyn Alchin, deceased, whose text-books are still in use and have since been adopted by many of the most progressive institutions. Following Miss Alchin came Mr. Vincent Jones, now head of the theory department of the University of New York, and Miss Julia Howell and Mrs. Betty Perkins, whose untimely death in 1928 was felt as a great loss by the school. Mr. A. M. Perry became business manager in 1916, assuming much of the business responsibility, and his sagacity and sound judgment have been invaluable to the institution. In 1922 he was made assistant dean. Mr. Max L. Swarthout, for nine years dean of the Milliken Conservatory of Music, was called to become head of the piano department in 1923, which position he still holds.

In 1925 the college of music of the University of Southern California was recognized by the National Association of Schools of Music and became one of the twenty members of that strong and conservative organization. It was also granted a chapter of Pi Kappa Lambda, the Phi Beta Kappa of music, in the early days of that organization, when there were only seven schools in the country to be so honored. It has chapters of Mu Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Iota, Phi Beta and other undergraduate societies, all having scholarship requirements for membership.

The degree, bachelor of music, was offered for the first time in 1917, and has since been given to forty-eight students. This degree, requiring one full year in letters, arts and science, is the only form of full graduation offered and has brought about a closer affiliation between the co-operating colleges and given a broader cultural background for the music graduates. Various diplomas and certificates were also given on the completion of the respective requirements. During the year 1928-29 music received a still more liberal recognition and it is now possible to obtain the A.B. degree through the college of arts, letters and sciences with a major in music. Beginning with the fall of 1928, work leading to the graduate degree of master of music was offered, with the full approval of the Council on Graduate Study and Research. For this new degree the bachelor of music must satisfactorily complete at least one academic year's graduate work, including an original composition or thesis, with the additional requirement that two years in the study or practice of music must elapse between the granting of the bachelor's and the master's degrees. Four candidates were awarded the master of music degree in June, 1929.

In 1926 Miss Alchin at her death left a bequest of $70,000 to establish a chair of advanced composition and negotiations are now going forward to inaugurate this department.

The present heads of departments are: Julia Howell, department of harmony and ear training; C. E. Pemberton, department of theory and composition; Horatio Cogswell, vocal department; Max L. Swarthout, piano department; W. F. Skeele, organ department; A. H. Wagner, public school music department; Mrs. A. T. Perry, normal training department; Davol Sanders, violin department; Miss Pearl Maclockey, registrar.

In spite of inadequate quarters and insufficient equipment, the school has shown a gratifying growth. It has developed and maintained the best of standards and has won an enviable place as a serious institution for higher musical education.

The men's and women's glee clubs, under the direction of Arthur Lewis, have attained wide reputations for their excellence. The college orchestra, directed by Alexander Stewart, has met with much success. In recent years the Southern California Trojan Band has been the object of much pride; under the direction of Harold W. Roberts, head of the department of musical organizations, it has won an enviable reputation throughout the country.

As an affiliated institution the college of music was for years under the jurisdiction of the university trustees, but the dean had complete control of the curriculum, the employing of instructors and defining requirements for all degrees and certificates. By action of the board of trustees, taken June 6, 1922, however, steps were taken which resulted in making the college an integral part of the university with the opening of classes in September of that year. Thus was added another element of unity and solidarity to the many-sided activities of the university. The present high standing of the college and its prospects for still greater expansion in the near future afford much cause for gratification.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Gem Mounting?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Collectors may take precious stones to the free class at Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard, and learn to set them in costume jewelry or in household ornaments. There is no charge of any kind for instruction and the price of the materials used is about a third of what a retailed product would cost. Visitors to Los Angeles are just as welcome as any to the services of this class and people of all ages are welcome.

The class meets on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 in room 244 of the Science Building, which is at the rear of the main building on Twentieth street.

FEBRUARY IN CALIFORNIA

In February, when the snow still laid
Upon the mountain peaks, I saw a tree
From every vestige of a leaf blown free
Tossing its bright pink blossoms unafraid.
Spring of its blooms an early herald made,
And wrote a promise of the things to be Upon a barren bough that all might see
With what perfection every plan is weighed.

A meadow lark had read it rightly, too,
And braved the chill disfavor of the hour
With joy-felt song that held a theme of praise,
Beneath a sky that was remotely blue;
A theme of swelling sap and budding flower
That ever must the conscious mind amaze.

MABEL W. PHILLIPS.

THE GOOD LISTENER

At a fashionable dinner party when the book of the hour was mentioned conversation flourished brilliantly for five minutes while everyone exchanged bright remarks gathered from the leading book-reviewing periodical, about the book, "Where Do We Go From Here?" That is, everybody except the bright-looking young man who never got around to reading the latest book. When exchange of ready-made opinion languished because of repetitious sameness, the bright young man remarked: "I haven't had time to read the book. What is it all about?"

Instantly the bait was swallowed by the entire company who took turns in informing the young man on the contents of the book. Before the evening was over, the good listening guest had received eight invitations to dine. F. H. H.

Death Inquiry Ordered After Autopsy Discloses Trace of Arsenic

An investigation into the death of Arturo Calderon, 7-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Calderon, 315 San Fernando Road, who died at the General Hospital January 22, last, was ordered yesterday by Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's office homicide detail.

The investigation was requested by Coroner Nance when he reported that an autopsy showed a trace of arsenic in the stomach of the infant. Stomach contents were turned over to County Chemist Abernathy for analysis.

The infant became ill and was administered medicine by its parents early in the morning of the day of its death. Deputy sheriffs said their investigation disclosed. Becoming alarmed, the parents took him to the General Hospital, where he died late in the afternoon.

Coroner Nance stated that the autopsy was performed at the General Hospital with the consent of the parents and that the findings were not completed until yesterday. While the investigation may disclose nothing out of the ordinary, only a small trace of the drug being found, the Coroner said the inquiry is considered necessary to clear up any doubt as to the cause of death.

TAX RECOVERY TRIAL CLOSES

Partial Victory Assured for Title Companies

Government Witnesses Admit Some Items Wrong

Decision in Case Expected Within Three Months

Upon the completion of testimony and oral argument, trial of the suit of four Southern California title insurance companies against the United States for the refund of more than $500,000 paid in income taxes was ended yesterday in Federal Court. The case was submitted on briefs and probably will be decided within the next three months.

Government witnesses, including the revenue agent who checked the incomes of the companies, admitted that some items had been mistakenly included in the income taxes. Marc F. Mitchell, attorney for the plaintiffs, brought out by testimony that, due to this evidence, about $100,000 will be refunded to the companies. Should the title insurance companies win on other legal points, the victory will mean a refund to them of more than $500,000, and that similar refunds, totaling about $2,000,000, may be made to other such companies.

It is contended by the companies that they are insurance concerns and not subject to the tax, whereas the government asserts they are trust companies and are subject to the tax.

It is also contended by Mr. Mitchell and his associate, George G. Witter, that the plaintiffs have proved they are insurance companies.

The plaintiff companies are the Title Insurance and Trust Company, the Title Guaranty and Trust Company, the California Title Insurance Company and the Union Title Insurance Company, the latter of San Diego.

Venice to Get Glass-Inclosed Pier Structure

Construction of a building to house a refectory on the outer portion of Sunset Pier, Venice, where a new bathhouse is nearing completion, yesterday was refered to the playground superintendent to include provision for it in the next budget by the playground and Recreation Commission.

The plans call for a glass-inclosed structure, provision for a lunch counter, picnic tables and other conveniences and extension of the beach publicadress system to the pier, the whole at an estimated cost of $17,500, in adition to the cost of the new bathhouse.

The commission appropriated $1048.40 for a new car for lifeguard work on the south beach.

The bid of the Western Knitting Mills on 640 dozen swimming suits as new bathhouse equipment, at $6714.75, was accepted.

Supervisor of Construction Hoyt reported that the new community building being constructed at Stonehurst Playground and the new building to be used to house costumes for the dramatics department at Pasadena avenue and Avenue 18 each are about 80 per cent complete.

The commission accepted the bid of $4997 by A. O. Nelson for the construction of fieldhouses at the Wabash and Lincoln Heights playgrounds.

Woman Given Fifty-Day Term in Liquor Case

Mrs. Vina Wilson, found guilty of sale and possession of liquor in spite of the intervention of Police Commissioners Drake, Thorpe and Wehn, was sent to jail for fifty days and fined $300 by Municipal Judge Wood yesterday. Declaring she is unable to pay the fine, she will have to serve an additional twenty days in jail.

Judge Wood held that, although the officers entered Mrs. Wilson's home without a search warrant, they were justified in doing so because they believed she was violating the law. He also declared that, in ordinary cases, he is opposed to police searching homes of citizens without obtaining a warant to do so.

DEBUTANTE BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED

Miss Elsy Jane Myrick to Wed William A. Black of San Francisco

Of more than usual interest to society of the Southland is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel W. Myrick of West Twenty-eighth street of the engagement of their young debutante daughter, Miss Elsy Jane Myrick, to William Alan Black, son of Mrs. James A. Black of San Francisco. No date is set as yet for the wedding.

Miss Myrick, who made her debut at a beautifully appointed tea given by her mother last winter, is one of the most popular members of the younger set, being active in the Junior League, Assistance League and also a member of the Spinsters, from which she will be automatically dropped on her marriage.

She was graduated from Marlborough School, and belongs to one of the most prominent families in Los Angeles, being the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Fairchild.

Mr. Black claims the University of Nevada as his alma mater, having majored in engineering.

The announcement was made at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Myrick at their home Thursday evening, guests being members of the two families only, Mr. and Mrs. Myrick, Miss Myrick, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Mott, Miss Barbara Mott, Nathaniel Myrick, Jr., Mrs. James A. Black and William Alan Black.

Laurel Canyon Road Project Pushed Ahead

The City Council yesterday adopted the final ordinance for the paving of a two-and-one-half-mile stretch of Laurel Canyon Road from Lookout Mountain Road to Pacoima avenue, the last link in providing an artery from Santa Monica Boulevard to the city of San Fernando through the western part of the valley.

The roadway will be paved to a width of thirty-six feet. The city has allocated $81,000 to the project.

The Council also passed the ordinance of intention for the installation of the sewer in the Towne avenue and One Hundred and Eleventh Place District, as well as resolutions of intention for the establishment of setback lines in Forty-ninth street from Western avenue to Gramercy Place, in Fifty-first street from Long Beach to Compton avenues, and in Lanewood avenue from Orange Drive to La Brea avenue.

ANGELIC CHORDS UNHEARD

Sect Follower Describes Heavenly Composition Dictated to Priestess, But Does Not Play It

Music from heaven was described yesterday in Superior Judge Fricke's court at the trial of May Otis Blackburn, religious leader, charged with grand theft. Mrs. Winifred Banks, secretary and follower of Mrs. Blackburn, testified about the heavenly symphonies.

"The music was dictated by the angels," said the witness. "Mrs. Blackburn sat at a piano for three days and when the angels would give her a note she would play it on the piano and I would record it on the scale."

COURT NOT FAVORED

Up to the time court adjourned last night the music had not been produced for the edification of the jury. However, Mrs. Banks asserted that it was "wonderful music and gave an impression of great power."

Mrs. Banks, whose religious nom de plume in the Blackburn organization was "The Circling of the Minor Scale in the Harmony of Music," had a few visions.

Once, she asserted, she had a vision wherein she came to a river and the waters opened and she walked across the river bed and the waters then closed in behind her. At another time she saw a city made entirely of gold.

HEARSAY VISIONS

Mrs. Orabella Scates was another defense witness called by Attorney Cochran. She described a vision recited by another member of the Blackburn flock, who asserted that he saw the lower half of a thick one-piece front door open and close. The same man, she said, also reported seeing angels at different times.

While the testimony was going on in Judge Fricke's court, Clifford R. Dabney, complaining witness, who several days ago told the jury that he gave Mrs. Blackburn $45,000 on her promise that she would "reveal the secrets of the universe to him," appeared before Referee Mulville in Municipal Court and declared that his assets now amounted to 15 cents.

DABNEY'S PROSPECTS

Dabney appeared in the debtors' court for examination following judgment for $191.07 obtained two years ago by the Franklin Motors Company for repairs to his automobile, asserted due the company since July 31, 1927.

Dabney told Mulville that all his money had gone to Mrs. Blackburn but that he expected to be able to pay the judgment out of the proceeds of a civil action he has filed against Mrs. Blackburn.

M.-G.-M. SIGNS NEW YORK STAR

Universal Picks Noted Cast for "Czar of Broadway;" Edward Everett Horton in "Mlle. Modiste;" Carroll Nye at United Artists

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

That the proud and haughty New York stage, with all its traditions of leadership, is fast giving way to the talking screen and its artists drawn to Hollywood has become an old story.

DOROTHY McNULTY

One more bit of crowing which Hollywood may do is over luring Dorothy McNulty away from the stage.

Miss McNulty, said to be an all-round spellbinder, whose latest triumph was in the leading role in the New York production of "Follow Thru," has just been signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, we learn, on a long-term contract. She has just come West, and her first assignment will be to a specialty number or two in the new M.-G.-M. revue, "The March of Time," in which so many famous names and faces appear, and which Charles Reisner is directing.

The young actress' first work was in "Sky High," with a couple of other successes following.

JOHN WRAY PLAYING UNIVERSAL LEAD

When "The Czar of Broadway" goes into production at Universal City under direction of William Craft, it will have in the leading roles some highly distinguished actors.

Johnny Harron has the juvenile lead, which will furnish a very excellent acting opportunity for him, we hear.

John Wray will play the title role. Wray not only is a well-known actor, but he is also distinguished as the author of "Alibi," which he adapted for the screen from a magazine story, and which was produced by United Artists.

The cast boasts other well-known male players, including Wilbur Mack, formerly noted in vaudeville, and King Baggott, who began his career on the stage, but who went into pictures and afterward became one of the best-known directors of the screen.

Craft has been uniformly successful as a director of comedies, his pictures all being money makers, and now Universal is giving him a chance to show what he can do in directing melodrama.

Edward Everett Horton Signs

While there's nothing official about the word we received, we understand that Edward Everett Horton may sign a long-term contract with First National.

EDWARD EVERETT HORTON.

In the meantime he has just signed for an excellent role with that organization. It is nothing less than one of the leading parts in "Mlle. Modiste." To this role Horton will bring his well-known comedy talents as well as his dramatic gifts. William Seiter is directing.

Bernice Claire, as will be remembered, is to play the title role.

Jack Benny With Tiffany

Phil Goldstone has had an awfully hard time finding just the right actor to play the name part in "The Medicine Man," a story which he has prepared and had all ready to make for Tiffany during the past month or so.

Then Jack Benny, one of vaudeville's charmers, loomed up on the horizon, and Goldstone felt that his troubles were at an end.

The actor was under contract to M.-G.-M., but, being used to doing three shows a day, he couldn't sit down and wait six months for just the right role to be handed him. Two other important roles in "The Medicine Man" have been given to Georgie Stone and James Dugan.

Virginia Lee Corbin Departs

Shaking from her dainty feet the dust of Hollywood, Virginia Lee Corbin, who began her career here as a child actress with Fox, is leaving for England within a day or two, accompanied by her broker husband, whom she married recently in Greenwich, Ct.

VIRGINIA LEE CORBIN

Miss Corbin is going both on business and pleasure. She has been signed by British International Films to star in two talking pictures.

Following this engagement, Miss Corbin and her husband will go to Rome and other points of interest in Italy, and of course they will touch at Paris and Berlin.

Carroll Nye At Artists

Joining an impressive array of acting talent, Carroll Nye, the young actor who has been making his way in fine style ever since he played a juvenile lead in a Corinne Griffith picture, has been signed for the juvenile part in Arthur Hammerstein's production for United Artists, "Bride 66."

CARROLL NYE

Jeanette MacDonald plays the feminine lead, and others in important roles are Joe Brown and Zasu Pitts.

Paul L. Stein is to direct, and the picture is expected to be under way within a few days.

MOTHER HUNTS ACTOR SON

Aid in locating her son, James M. M. Kimberlin, whose stage name was Jake Sullock, was requested yesterday by Mrs. W. H. Kimberlin of 608 Jefferson street, Natchez, Miss. She stated that her son was in Los Angeles two years ago at which time his parents were in Bismarck, N. D. He is 23 years of age, Mrs. Kimberlin says.

MATRIMONY UNDER FIRE AT WARNER

'Wedding Rings,' Adapted from Pascal Novel, is New Vitaphone Offering

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Those little gold bands that are slipped on the finger so easily—and once there, how they chafe sometimes, to be sure!—are responsible for the story of "Wedding Rings," now at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater. In this instance their irritating properties are not limited to the screen alone, but seem to extend out into the audience. "Wedding Rings" is mostly dull.

Judging by results, there was little in Ernest Pascal's novel, "The Dark Swan," to suggest that it would make an exciting Vitaphone picture. As developed by Director William Beaudine, it emerges as a series of close-ups of the four principals, much in the manner of the earliest dialogue films. While it may just possibly have been made into a character study of a selfish and willful girl who "got what she wanted"—though certainly this is not good movie material in the first place—it is, as it stands, an unsympathetic depiction of various weaknesses in human make-up which have not even psychological soundness to render them convincing.

Consider the four.

Cornelia Quinn is a young lady of culture and refinement who allows her sister Eve to take from her, thanks to superior physical blandishments, each of the men she meets. Eve, on her part, apparently finds each conquest sufficient unto itself—until Lewis Dike comes along. Dike, a man of culture and refinement, is on the verge of proposing marriage to Cornelia—when he sees Eve. Two or three scenes later, he is at the altar with Eve. The very vital changes which obviously must have been worked in the character of such a man in his contacts with a girl as brazenly "modern" as he is conservative, are passed up completely—just a few words by the disconsolate Cornelia to her mother explaining to the audience what has happened.

After the marriage, Eve continues at the old game; once again she successfully "acquires" a companion of Cornelia's—this time a very ordinary dilettante whose name is Wilfred Meadows.

At this, the husband, waking suddenly to the fact that his feeling for Eve was only "infatuation" after all, begins paying surreptitious visits to Cornelia, whom he now magnanimously realizes, he loves. Meanwhile, Eve and Meadows are meeting regularly in an apartment they have taken together. When the landlord calls on them for back rent, Eve presents Meadows with her jewelry; but the money borrowed on it is not enough, and Meadows betakes himself to Cornelia and blackmails her!

A pleasant quartet, this. As played on the screen, they assume the personalities of H. B. Warner (in the role of Lewis Dike,) Lois Wilson and Olive Borden (the sisters,) and Hal Cooley (the other man.) Mr. Warner's splendid histrionic talents actually rise above the situation, and command attention if not always respect for the character. Miss Borden makes of Eve a Lilith, alluring enough but never believable, and Miss Wilson is gentle and much less spectacular.

The best of the short subjects at Warner's is that offering Jack McLallan, late of the Orpheum circuit, in his familiar nonsense with "Sarah."

ALEXANDER CONDUCTS SYMPHONY

Woman's Orchestra Gives Successful Program at Auditorium

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Arthur Alexander led the Woman's Symphony Orchestra to success in its first concert under his direction last night. The reorganized company of feminine musicians has gained in tone, intonation and, most valuable of all, in color. The program, including the second Beethoven symphony, the Bach concerto in E major with Arthur Hartmann, the impressive overture to Lalo's "Le Roi d'Ys," two charming and well-played string numbers, "Last Spring" by Grieg and "Minuet" by Bolzoni, was concluded with two numbers from the Algerian Suite of Saint-Saens.

A large audience gathered to hear this concert and the excellence of the performance was gratifying. The string sections have gained in power and contrary to usual custom the winds needed but two additions from the ranks of the male players—to complete the ensemble.

The Beethoven was carefully done and had been faithfully studied. What it lacked in color and precision will be made up another time. At this time it is enough that the Woman's Symphony was able to play so exacting a great work with dignity and a real sense of accomplishment. The Lalo overture demanded much of the wind and tympani players. This performance was the outstanding one on the program. The dainty Grieg and Bolzoni numbers were delightful.

Arthur Hartman's reappearance in Los Angeles, where he is now recuperating from a severe illness, was anticipated with eager interest. The Bach concerto and a group of his own arrangements of several Russian writers composed his program within a program. He gave a musicianly performance and his interpretations were authoritative as always. His violin tone was not large but carried well and the audience was warm in its appreciation. Mr. Hartman's accompaniments in the transcriptions were excellently played by Elizabeth Alexander, a popular pianist of San Francisco.

The program as a whole was too long, a usual fault of organizations which give but a few concerts in a season. An improvement could easily be made in the appearance of the orchestra if one color could be used for gowns, if the costumes could all be long and if the otherwise perfect stage deportment was not occasionally marred by moving feet and crossed knees.

The Woman's Symphony Orchestra has long occupied a unique position in the music life of Los Angeles and it is evident that it will forge to the front line under the able and gifted direction of Arthur Alexander. A second concert is planned for April 23.

UPHEAVAL OF EUROPE DEPICTED

"Loves of Jeanne Ney" Tells Forceful Story in Direct Fashion

BY ELEANA BOLAND

So clear and lifelike that one felt an intruder into "The Loves of Jeanne Ney" is the U.F.A. production now at the Filmarte. This is a story, not a spectacle. It follows the criterion for a story, a strong plot told through swift, direct action and made human by striking characterization.

This story is one of the disordered chaos into which Europe found itself plunged directly after the Russian revolution. It carries into the main theme, which centers about the love of Jeanne Ney and Andreas, a series of side influences which can be called minor plots. There are several, but so neatly interlocked that they do not weaken but add to the interest and animation of the whole.

In bare outline the tale is simple enough, and similar to many others. It has been so treated by G. W. Pabst in his direction that suspense is seldom lost. Essentially, it is an action film, starting in the upheaval between the Red army and the White, then shifting to Paris where a search for the stolen crown jewels, a few murders and spies develop the intrigue. These parts were filmed in Paris.

One of this picture's admirable qualities is that, though every detail naturally was carefully thought out, nearly every circumstance happens as it should—suddenly, unexpectedly and logically. The finest of touches often contribute much to the power of suggestion. Although this is a silent film, subtitles are seldom necessary. They are used sparsely and at long intervals.

Whatever is laking in evenness is compensated by the actors' power. Foreigners run straight to type, yet manage to remain individuals as well. Not one of them could step a pace inside that circle of society vaguely, referred to as high. All of them are trapped by poverty and crime. Edith Jehanne plays the title heroine, who loves one and is loved by many. In an indefinite way she reminds one of Lillian Gish. She is sturdier, her work more vital, but the two have wistfulness in common, and also that appearance of always being ready to take flight.

Uno Henning portrays Andreas, Jeanne Mey's one and only love. His technique is quick and fairly finished, though being a continual prey to romance hampers his scope.

A smooth and thorough phase of villainy is pictured by Fritz Rasp. He is one of the best and most abhorrent villains I have ever seen.

A. E. Liche does a grand piece of work as a gold-crazed miser. His blind daughter is made tragic by Brigitte Helm.

A wild scramble back in Sennett days unearths "Whose Baby?" Gloria Swanson is the playful and kittenish star, who takes a college course in love. It is too long to be absolutely funny.

A short art subject, "Footprints," fills out the program. In it an old shoe speaks and lays bare its soul.

ACTRESS FINISHES ROLE WITH R.-K.-O.

Virginia Sale has completed her role in the latest R.-K.-O. starring vehicle of Richard Dix, directed by Melville Brown. Her first day of leisure gave her the opportunity to accompany her brother, Charles "Chic" Sale, to the train, after having had almost no time to spend with him during his short stay in Southern California. The popular impersonator of rural types is returning to New York to fulfill professional engagements.

BARTH PLAYS NEW AMERICAN PIANO

Instrument of Quarter-Tones Capable of New Harmonic Development

BY I. M. J.

The exhibition of the quarter-tone piano by Hans Barth at the Friday Morning Club yesterday is significant of the newest development in music. The piano proved to be two grand pianos tuned a quarter-tone apart and one superimposed upon the other, making a two-manual piano. If the idea is popular with pianists and the public, the manufacturers will incorporate the extra keyboard into one instrument of considerable more grace than the present makeshift. Mr. Barth will demonstrate it again this morning in Baldwin Hall.

In three short compositions by himself, the pianist gave an interesting exposition of the possibilities of this latest refinement of pitch. In words, it might best be described by calling the harmony bell-like, when several notes are struck. The effect is more primitive and natural and at the same time more sophisticated and subtle. I believe that Debussy was hunting for this effect and that the composers of the future will find their work greatly simplified by such an instrument. The Orientals hear our half-tones as a wide stretch of intervals and quarter-tone thinking is customary to them. So it would be to us if our ears had not been trained by years of listening to the piano.

This reversion in tone, for such I think it is, is made immediately apparent while listening to the harpsichord. Mr. Barth cleverly arranged his program to begin with harpsichord numbers. The far-away, small tone of the harpsichord governed crudely by six pedals, gave something of the same effect as the quarter-tone piano in extreme miniature. The harpsichord merely suggests and the imaginative ear does the rest. The quarter-tone piano actualizes the overtones which have heretofore been a mental image. The possibilities of development along this line are fabulous. The Germans and Czechs are also developing new pianos of quarter-tones.

Comedian Will Head Late Show

Sammy Cohen, screen and stage comic, will be master of ceremonies at the Loew's State midnight matinee tonight, which, in addition to the regular program of screen and Fanchon and Marco stage entertainment, will include the first local appearance of the thirty New York City beauty contest winners. The girls were recently engaged by Fanchon and Marco for a national tour.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

OUT from New York over the "road" to Los Angeles this spring will travel some of the most glamorous members of the theater as it exists today. According to news received yesterday.

William Gillette, making his farewell to the American stage, will bring his "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," recently revived with extraordinary good success in New York.

Ben Greet will be seen here in a week, perhaps two weeks of Shakespearean plays. Otis Skinner is bringing "Don Juan," which he did this season in the East.

Charles Wagner's production of "The Perfect Alibi" with Madge Kennedy should arrive sometime in April, and will probably be followed by two more Wagner offerings.

Then of course, as mentioned before, there will be George M. Cohan, his own play, "Gambling," and the D'Oyly Carte company in Gilbert and Sullivan grand opera, the same troupe which was so well received at the Mason last season.

"Street Scene," William A. Brady's Pulitzer prize drama, which, after a full year of success, is still running in New York, and "The Criminal Code," Martin Flavin's serious drama mentioned for this year's prize, have already been announced for Coast production.

All in all, things in the drama way should be brisk and lively within a month or so.

New Burgess Play

Dorothy Burgess in a new tropical drama by Arthur Gregor may go into the Mayan the latter part of this month, according to rumor.

Gregor's play is called "Decency" and has to do with the fortunes of a white girl in the tropics. Pat O'Malley and Brandon Hurst are mentioned as other possible characters, with Robert Milton directing.

Robinson in Guild Drama

From New York comes word that Edward Robinson, seen here in "The Racket" and drafted thereafter for pictures, is going to do a play for the Theater Guild before he returns to Los Angeles.

Robinson is due back here within the next six weeks, so it is judged that the Theater Guild production will be done immediately—between picture engagements, as it were.

Hammerstein to Australia

Oscar Hammerstein II, with Warner Brothers, and working on an original, "Viennese Nights," will go to Australia this spring to direct an Antipodes company of "New Moon."

Pollock for "Broken Dishes"

Percy Pollock, eminent character actor, chosen by Frank Bacon to follow him in "Lightnin'," has been engaged by Henry Duffy for "Broken Dishes," the Martin Flavin comedy, opening in Oakland shortly and coming to Los Angeles within the next six weeks or so.

"Your Uncle Dudley" Liked

Speaking of Henry Duffy activities, "Your Uncle Dudley," the rollicking Howard Lindsay-Bertrand Robinson comedy, is a great hit in San Francisco, where Taylor Holmes is filling the name role. From the north comes word that Holmes has never seemed more likable, and that Florence Roberts, as Grandma Dixon, is making the hit of her career.

Leah Winslow, Russell Cushing, Kenneth Gamet, Emily Lowry, Charlotte Treadway and Ben Taggart are others in the cast.

'Hot for Paris' Next on Screen at Fox Palace

"Hot for Paris," comedy of two sailors, will follow "Romance of the Rio Grande" at the Fox Palace Theater Thursday.

The cast is headed by Victor McLaglen, who, in the part of John Duke, wins $1,000,000 on a horse race. Not aware of his good fortune, he imagines that those pursuing him, really to deliver the money, want to arrest him; and the chase furnishes many humorous moments, it is said.

El Brendel plays McLaglen's pal; and vivacious Fifi Dorsay is seen as a provocative entertainer of unsophisticated tourists. Polly Moran also has an important role.

If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

SOFT-SOLED SHOES HINDER THE CHILD LEARNING TO WALK

Shoes are an artificial covering for the feet. Their use undoubtedly began when our ancestors found that skin coverings saved the soles of their feet from injury and protected them from cold. Other than this shoes have no real use. They are not needed to support the ankle, as can be testified by millions of small savages who never wore a shoe. There are strong coverings of muscle surrounding the ankle joint which give all the necessary support.

The small baby needs the full and free use of his whole foot to successfully overcome the perils of walking. If we board up his feet in high, stiff-soled shoes, he slips and tumbles easily because he has no way in which to achieve a flexible support. This may be all that is wanting when a child acts too timid to walk alone. Having tried it, he knows the floor is filled with pitfalls which his stiff shod feet cannot negotiate.

And despite this, each day brings me a query as to when baby should wear stiff shoes. Mrs. B. R. writes: "My neighbor says the baby needs to have the ankles supported. Shall I put stiff shoes on the baby when she begins to walk? She is now 9 months old, weighed six pounds at birth and twenty-four pounds now. Is this the correct development?"

Your baby is probably just struggling to her feet, hanging onto the sides of her pen, or crib, and making more or less successful efforts to walk. The nicest type of shoe for this early period is the very soft, moccasin-type foot covering. It protects the sole of the foot and gives baby perfect use of each small toe.

BE SURE SHOE FITS WELL

Later one may choose a thin-soled, high-laced shoe—high and laced so that no matter what size ankle the child has it can be fitted to it. Soft-soled so that the foot bends easily and thin soles so that the feet are not like two heavy clods for baby to lift.

If, when the shoe is taken off at night, there are any purple marks or creases on the baby's foot it is possible that the shoes are too tight, or the stocking too large. Think how miserable you would be under similar circumstances.

I'm afraid I think the baby has gained more pounds than would be indicated by wise feeding. Nineteen pounds in nine months is more than two pounds a month; one and one-half pounds is a good monthly average the first six months and one pound a month the second six. If mothers weren't so proud of big, fat babies they would be more ready to change the diet when the gain is excessive. Usually only the mother of the thin baby worries about gain.

Excessive feeding that results in huge gains in weight is as undesirable as underfeeding. The baby is either getting far more milk than she needs, or too much sugar or too much fat in the diet. Would you like our feeding leaflet to help in checking your present diet? You may have it if you will inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

FRESH AIR IS ALL RIGHT
IN ITS PLACE...
—but it's really unnecessary to pay for it, especially when you buy soap. A big airy package of soap flakes full of soap bubbles may look all very well, but don't let it make you think that it contains more soap than White King's compact cartons.
The White King is nothing but the purest vegetable-oil soap made, granulated for convenience. It packs like powdered sugar, so you can be sure you're buying a condensed soap, free from air and unnecessary moisture. And White King is so fine in quality that it's safe for the sheerest lingerie, effective for the hardest laundering.
The economy of White King Granulated Soap is surprising; a teaspoonful for the wash basin or dish-pan, a cupful for the washing machine. Sold by your grocer.

Health and Diet Advice

USE HEAT FOR PLEURISY

A sharp stitch in the side which hurts when you take a deep breath, or cough, is usually the first indication of pleurisy. Since pain is a warning, one might say that in this case "a stitch in time saves nine," for the patient who has pursued the right treatment and recovered from it under capable direction is less likely to develop chronic pleurisy than one who does not have correct treatment during an acute attack.

Pleurisy is a serious disorder, although the majority of cases recover, due to the power of the body to absorb the exudation which is thrown out during the disease. To understand what is meant by this exudation, it is well to remember that the lungs are inclosed in a lubricating casing called the pleura. This membrane is made up of two layers. One is next to the outer walls of the chest and one next to the lungs. In this way the lungs are free to move about in breathing instead of being attached to the rib walls. Between the two layers is the lubricating secretion. When the pleura becomes inflamed, an unusual amount of secretion is thrown out containing irritating fluids, and the pleura may thereby become roughened or attached together or to its surrounding tissues.

The pain comes when the two inflamed layers rub against each other causing a sharp stabbing sensation as though a knife were cutting through. In order to lessen the pain, patient tries to keep the affected side as still as possible, doing most of his breathing with the other lung.

There are two forms of pleurisy. The first, called dry pleurisy, has an inflammation accompanied by a thick exudation. The pain is almost constant, and when the affected area is pressed with the finger it is usually sensitive and the breathing is shallow. Many cases do not progress far, as the inflammation subsides, the tissues absorbing the exudate and repairs begin.

The second form is called pleurisy with effusion. After the pleura becomes inflamed and covered with the exudation of fibrin, a collection of serum ensues. At first this fluid is clear and later contains many white and red blood cells. There is some pain as the two membranes rub together, but when the fluids begin to accumulate, the patient complains of weakness and indigestion, which are caused by the accumulation of the fluid in the chest. In some cases the pain is referred to the abdomen or to the shoulders.

After the absorption period there is often the danger of adhesions forming, and the two layers grow together and are held in this bonded condition by scar tissues, causing great pain in breathing. This is called chronic pleurisy.

The correct treatment for acute pleurisy is to put the patient to bed and strap up the affected side with adhesive tape which keeps it still so as to avoid as much pain as possible. The absorption of the fluid can best be assisted by applying heat especially from a deep therapy lamp. An electrical treatment called diathermy is the best way of all for applying deep heat to the pleura. This is best given in a doctor's office or by a portable apparatus which can be used in the patient's home. If you do not have this treatment available, apply moist heat from hot towels or hot water bottles. The heat assists the lymphatics to carry away the excessive fluids. After the pain has gone, try deep breathing as much as possible to prevent the formation of permanent adhesions.

Since over 80 per cent of the cases of pleurisy are due to tubercular infections, every method should be used to build up the body and avoid the development of tuberculosis in the future.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

CHATTERER JUMPS TO A CONCLUSION

Who to conclusions blindly jumps
—Old Mother Nature.

To jump to a conclusion is to make up your mind in regard to something without really knowing the facts. It is to think that a thing is thus or so. Chatterer the Red Squirrel saw a black feather floating down from high up in a tree in which was the old nest of Blacky the Crow. Then Chatterer saw more than that black feather. By looking very sharply he made out a dark form well hidden by the green branches of the hemlock tree from which the feather had fallen. Instantly Chatterer knew that he was looking at Hooty the Owl. A moment later his attention was caught by a slight movement just back of the nest.

"Mrs. Hooty!" exclaimed Chatterer under his breath. "This is no place for me." He looked down. He saw more black feathers on the ground at the foot of that tree. They were feathers of a crow. There was no question about that. Chatterer turned and, taking care to make no sound, he stole back until he had the trunk of the tree between him and Hooty and Mrs. Hooty. Then he ran down the trunk of the tree to the ground and scampered as fast as he could to another big tree. By this time he was sure he hadn't been seen; so then he started for home through the treetops as fast as he could go.

It was when Chatterer reached home and felt wholly safe that he began to think things over and so jumped to a conclusion. "Blacky the crow is dead," said Chatterer to himself very solemnly. "Those feathers I saw were Blacky's feathers. That was Blacky's nest over there and Hooty the Owl or Mrs. Hooty caught and killed Blacky. Of course, it might be Mrs. Blacky, but somehow I feel sure it was Blacky. My, my, how we shall miss him in the Green Forest! I never did like him very well, but I'll miss him just the same. It was when Hooty caught Blacky that all those others left in such a hurry. This will be a piece of news. Blacky must have been very careless. Yes, sir. Blacky must have been very careless. He has had experience enough with Hooty the

"Mrs. Hooty!" exclaimed Chatterer under his breath

Owl to know how to keep out of Hooty's claws. I wouldn't have believed it."

Now, without thinking, Chatterer had been talking to himself aloud. "What is it you wouldn't have believed?" asked Sammy Jay, who had come up just in time to hear Chatterer's last words.

It was on the tip of Chatterer's tongue to tell Sammy that it was none of his business, but this was big news and it was too good to keep. Besides, Blacky was a cousin of Sammy's. "Your cousin, Blacky the Crow, is no more," said Chatterer.

"What's that?" demanded Sammy sharply.

"I said your cousin, Blacky the Crow, is no more," repeated Chatterer.

"What do you mean by 'no more?'" inquired Sammy.

"I mean," replied Chatterer, "that you'll never see him again."

"Why won't I ever see him again?" persisted Sammy.

"Because," replied Chatterer," he is inside Hooty the Owl. He was caught and eaten by Hooty."

Sammy stared long and hard at Chatterer. "Who told you all this?" he demanded. "I don't believe a word of it. Who told you all this?"

"Nobody," replied Chatterer. "If you want to see Blacky's feathers I can tell you where you can find them."

RESCUE CRAFT HAS RADIO SET

Lifeboat for English Channel Boasts Special Outfit

Equipment Part of Service for Air Line Travelers

KHJ to Feature Aztecs in All-Mexican Musicale

The Times Forum, KHJ, 10:30 a.m., will present Peggy Hamilton, fashion authority; John George Collins, Irish tenor, and Ethel Jenks, soprano.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

What is declared to be the fastest lifeboat in the world, powered with two 375-horsepower engines, especially designed for the rescue of passengers of airplanes which may fall into the sea, has been stationed at Dover, Eng. Included in its equipment is a special type of Marconi radiotelephone set for communicating with aircraft, airdromes, ships and coastal radio stations.

The radio set is wholly inclosed and is designed for use under the roughest conditions which may be encountered during the course of a rescue expedition. It will operate on a wavelength of 900 meters, with a transmitting power of 100 watts.

REQUIRED DUE TO HAZARD

Establishment of the service was decided upon as a result of the large number of airlines running from England to continental Europe and even as far as India. The first "jump" the planes must make, regardless of destination, is across the channel.

Creation of a similar service in the United States may be anticipated in the not distant future. There are a number of air lines between this country and South America, operating across the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea, and it is probable that increased traffic will bring a demand for a protective service for aircraft which may get into trouble off our coasts.

DIAL POINTS

KHJ at 1 o'clock this afternoon will present the Aztecs, under the baton of Luis Zamudio, in an all-Mexican musicale. Luis Zamudio, baritone, and his Mexican Aztecs are descendants of that mighty race. Their program will include mandolin, guitar, and vocal solos. "Aires Andaluces," "Por fin Cuando?" and "Ventanita Morada" will be among the compositions heard. At 4, Ben Alley, tenor, will be soloist for the Bernhard Levitow concert. The balance of the program will include renditions of well-known selections by Lacome, Herbert, Rachmaninoff, Dvorak and others, played from the Hotel Commodore, New York City.

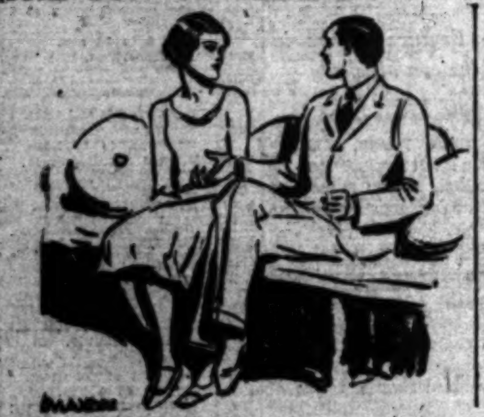
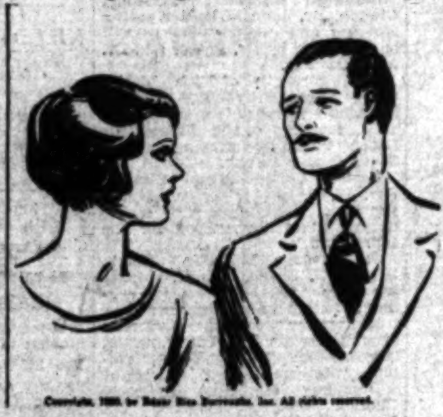
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

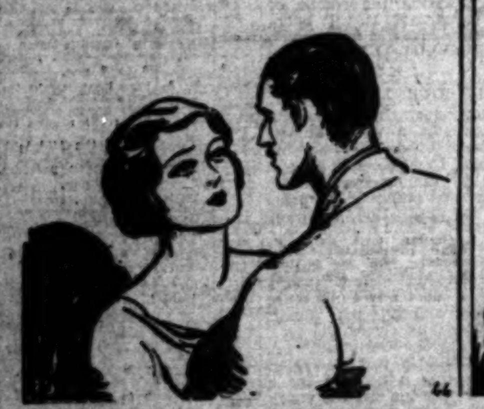


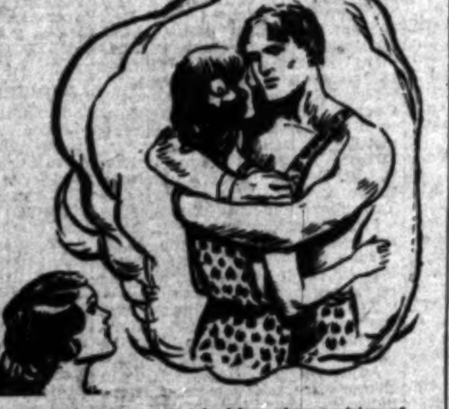


Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Several evenings before the house party disbanded, the young Englishman again referred to Meriem's story of her life in the jungle. There was one thing he wanted definitely answered before he committed himself to the plan he was considering. "Who was Korak?" he asked. Meriem laughed: "I used to think he was an ape—but now I know he is a MAN," she answered, with emphasis on the last word. "A white man?" persisted Baynes. "Was he your——er——?"

The girl's clear, beautiful eyes looked straight into his. She was far too unsophisticated to guess what he was driving at. She laughed merrily: "No, he was not my brother. Korak—was just Korak!" and again she broke into a gay laugh as she realized that never before had she attempted to analyze the relationship that existed between herself and Korak. The Hon. Morison said no more. But he thought of a certain luxurious apartment he owned in London.





The last evening they were to be together Meriem sat out a dance with Baynes under the tropical moon bathing the veranda. She had been listening entranced to his stories of London and Paris, all like fairy tales to her fascinated ears. After a short silence he drew closer and bent his lips close to her face. He put his arm about her and she did not draw away. "I love you?" he whispered. She did not reply. "Tell me," he said, "that you return my love."

His lips had almost touched her when a vision of Korak sprang like a miracle before her eyes. She saw Korak's face, she felt his lips hot against hers and then for the first time she guessed what love meant. She drew gently away from Baynes. "Let us wait," she said. "I am too young to marry." The Hon. Morison was perfectly sure he had not mentioned marriage. "Good night," she said, and left him. Baynes lighted a cigarette, blew the smoke toward the moon, and smiled.

SURPRISE SUIT DENIED BY CITY

Power Company Warned Before, Attorneys Argue

Injunction Fight on Use of Street Drags On

Corporation Says Municipal Action Too Late

Efforts to prove that there has been litigation before and that the present action is not a surprise one are being made by the city of Los Angeles in the prosecution of its suit to enjoin the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Corporation from furnishing power, other than for light, in the city on the grounds that the company's franchise expired in 1916.

With the introduction of scores of exhibits during the trial, which has been under way for more than a month, the company contends the city is estopped from bringing a suit by permitting the corporation to proceed in its operation and make $40,000,000 worth of improvements after the franchise expired. In other words the company asserts the city slept on its rights. The city, on the other hand, contends that this is not the first time an attempt has been made to compel the company to obtain a franchise for selling electric power in Los Angeles.

Scores of letters and other data have been introduced by the company in its defense of the suit to show that pole agreements existed between the company and the city and that the latter required that the company furnish various departments of the city with electric power.

The suit has been divided into two phases for trial, one seeking an injunction and the other for damages, that is a request that the company be compelled to pay a certain percentage of its earnings each year for the privilege of using the streets for its power equipment. The injunction phase is being tried first. If successful in obtaining a restraining order the city will then proceed with its petition for damages.

Fugitives From Mexico Held on Murder Charge

Accused of murder in a complaint issued at Tia Juana, Mex., Ray Howard Radcliffe and Pacifico Garcia were arraigned yesterday upon a fugitive complaint before United States Commissioner Head.

The pair were arrested at San Diego shortly after the slaying, which was said to have arisen over an argument on a charge of 50 cents for parking the car of the defendants. The two are charged with the slaying of Jack Guzman, keeper of a picnic grounds near Tia Juana, about a month ago.

The hearing was continued pending the preparation of extradition papers by Mexico.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

Assessments were confirmed by the City Council yesterday for the improvement of La Cienega Boulevard from Beverly Boulevard to Third street, the improvement of Riverside Drive from Vineland avenue to Sarah street, the lighting of La Cienega Boulevard, the improvement of Fountain avenue from Hyperion avenue to Sunset Boulevard and the sewer installation in Caledonia Way from Palmer Drive to Shasta Circle North.

MARIA CONESA BREEZES IN

Actress Exiled by Mexico Will Give Series of Performances in Los Angeles

Once the toast of Mexico, queen of its musical comedy stage and powerful figure in its political life until her recent exile, Maria Conesa, still vivacious and still beautiful, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday over the Southern Pacific for an extended visit here.

Her visit to Los Angeles is the second in her lifetime but the first on which she intends to make public appearances. She has agreed to display the art that won Mexico in a series of ten performances to be given at the California Theater starting Thursday. She expects, also, to do some motion-picture work.

"Los Angeles is beautiful and next to my wonderful Mexico City I love it best," said Maria Conesa, through the medium of an interpreter, when she descended from her train. "I hope my visit will be a happy one; I had such a hard time getting here."

TROUBLE GETTING IN

Stopped by immigration authorities when she attempted to enter the United States from Cuba via New Orleans, the actress was detained several days until her attorneys took the matter before a Federal judge through the medium of a writ of habeas corpus and her right to enter the country as a Mexican citizen was established.

While in Los Angeles, she will be a guest at the Ritz Hotel.

Maria Conesa was born in Spain and went to Mexico in 1907. She began her career as a dancer in Mexico City and her reign as a national favorite when her personality and dancing attracted the attention of former President Porfirio Diaz. She became the sensation of Mexico City. For nearly twenty years her name has been woven through the theatrical and political life of Mexico.

At the climax of her popularity she married Senor Saenz, a member of one of Mexico City's wealthiest families. But domestic life apparently had no lasting attraction for the Conesa temperament and she separated from her husband to become once more a public figure.

MANY ROMANCES

Though revolution and counter-revolution marked the history of Mexico during Conesa's reign, her position remained secure. As one party lost power and another gained ascendency, it was to find the actress firmly ensconced with those in power. She does not deny many romances that connected her name with men high in military and governmental life.

Maria Conesa became affectionately known as "The Little White Cat." She boasted that she liked everyone but loved no one. Her friends were legion from ranks of the peon to the highest social strata in Mexico.

And then she fell in love with Gen. Jose Alvarez, chief-of-staff under the late President Calles, and disaster went with what she maintained was the one real romance of her life. Alvarez and Conesa were arrested and charged with being involved in a plot to smuggle hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of silk into Mexico. Alvarez went to prison and Maria Conesa was exiled.

"But I still love Mexico and perhaps some day I can go back," she said yesterday.

Pilot Mendell Seeks Divorce

Loren Mendell, former aviation endurance record holder, yesterday filed suit for divorce from his wife, Mrs. Emma Gladys Mendell, charging desertion. The complaint filed in Superior Court says that the couple were married in December, 1918, and that Mrs. Mendell deserted her husband in 1926. Attorney George A. Glover prepared the suit for the aviator.

Mendell achieved fame last July when he and R. B. (Pete) Reinhart established a then world's refuelling endurance flight of 246 hours. Following the successful completion of the flight the two aviators were presented with a new Buhl airplane and Mendell later purchased Reinhart's interest in the ship. Since the flight Mendell has been using the plane for charter trips and for special work.

ROBBERY TO BE SIFTED

The Sheriff's office yesterday was asked to investigate a burglary of the home of Paul Stein, 1311 Havenhurst Drive. The theft, according to a report, occurred some time last Tuesday or Wednesday, following a party at the house Tuesday night. The stolen articles were enumerated as a lady's platinum and diamond watch valued at $400 and two other watches and a jewelry box valued at $235. A number of valuable articles of jewelry and $100 in cash in a dresser drawer were not molested, it was reported.

KILGEN FLIES EAST

George J. Kilgen, vice-president and western representative of George Kilgen & Sons, St. Louis, with local offices in the Wiley B. Allen Building, yesterday left for New York city on a T. A. T.-Maddux plane to be present at the dedication Tuesday of the $250,000 organ just installed in St. Patrick's Cathedral. The dedication is to be presided over by Cardinal Hayes, and the ceremony broadcast through a national radio hook-up.

PAY OF TEACHER UNATTACHABLE

Court So Holds in Mandamus Action Directed Against County Auditor

School-teachers' salaries are not attachable under the law that makes it possible to attach the pay of other county employees, Superior Judge Gates held yesterday in denying a mandamus action directed against County Auditor Payne.

The county official was defended by County Counsel Mattoon and S. V. O. Prichard, deputy County Counsel, who argued that it is not the duty of the auditor to pay out school-teachers' salaries on garnishment proceedings, and that the fund from which school-teachers are paid is not subject to garnishment.

The contested suit was brought by William J. Weiser against Cecelia Schaffer on a claim of $47.50.

Suspected Auto Thief Killed by Police Bullet

Shot while trying to escape arrest last night, a man recorded as Albert Rives, 27 years of age, died before he could be rushed to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. His death dramatically climaxed three clashes within a few hours with officers seeking to arrest him as an automobile thief. He had been living at downtown hotels.

Detective Belknapp of an insurance agency yesterday sighted at Tenth and Figueroa streets an automobile reported stolen from Portland, Or. When Rives entered the car to drive off, Belknapp tried to stop him. He fired a shot which hit Belknapp's shoe heel, and drove away. Later in the afternoon the car was sighted by Detective-Lieutenants Coppage and Paige who tried vainly to overtake it.

Detective-Lieutenants C. R. Jains and E. R. Burdick of the auto theft squad last night located the car near the Georgia-street police station. They waited. Rives drove up in a taxicab, jumped into the stolen car and drove off. The detectives pursued, shooting at him. At Oak and Twenty-third streets they forced him so hotly that Rives wrecked the car against a tree and fled. Jains dropped him with a bullet.

LABORITE'S SON TELLS PARTY AIM

Alister MacDonald Speaks to Socialists Here on New Regime in British Isles

"Socialism with us in England is a religious rather than a political movement. We want joy and we want life—if not for ourselves—then for our children. We have come to realize that in the self-sacrifice called for we have lifted ourselves above the material and have made the work one of our hearts and souls," declared Alister MacDonald, son of Ramsey MacDonald, Prime Minister of England, in an address given last night at Labor Temple before members of the Los Angeles Socialist party.

"People have come to see that the competition in respectability—one man having his wife as well dressed as his neighbor and having as fine clothes as his associates, does, in fact, not constitute the vital things of life. In England peace suddenly has become popular and men and women are turning from the trivial things to the greater ones that so involve their well being," he said.

"It might be well to state at this time that Communism and Socialism in England do not mix. The Communist and the Socialist have nothing in common. England has recognized Russia, it is true, but recognition does not imply that one approves of conditions—or that one disapproves, for all of that. We recognized Russia for one purpose and that purpose is trade.

"When my father became Prime Minister of England his first thought was concord with the United States. Instead of writing a letter or calling him up over the telephone my father took his hat and went over to see Mr. Hoover personally. In England we all wonder why it had not been done before.

"You ask how the conference is going? It is going fine. It does not matter what they arrive at in particular. It does not matter if we are limited to pea shooters and sling shots—but it does matter—that representatives of the great nations of the world have gotten together to talk things over.

"I want you to understand that we feel that all this idealism in politics is practical. We believe that common sense and honesty are the greatest factors in the world for peace and happiness and we propose to use them to the full limit of our ability."
